Dissolution rumors are still current but a compromise is looked for. Hon. Robert Rogers of Winnipeg is in the city and premier Roblin has been wired for to consult with the opposition leader. The first minister has expressed a desire to meet Manitoba's premier.

In the senate today on the consideration of the bill to amend the meat and canned goods act, senator Lougheed criticized the provision permitting a wholesaler of the firm first handling the goods place their name on a package in place of the canner, as tending to weaken the protection of the public.

Senators Baird, Cloran and Powers supported the measure.
Senator Ferguson explained that this course facilitated trade. The large wholesalers were often more responsible wholesalers were often more responsive than the packers.

Senators Bostock, Sullivan, Jaffray and Hon. R. W. Scott spoke in support of the bill, which was reported and read the third time without amendment. The $10,000 vote for public buildings in Humboldt caused protests from Drs. Schaffner and Roche, who were against paying $3000 for a site. midnight was $654,000. Hon. W. S. was discussed and referred to commit Fielding stated that he presumed the debate on the election bill would be resumed on Monday.

Ottawa, May 15-The house of con mons spent today mostly in committee of supply and there was no trace of the eonflict which is raging over the elec-tion bill. It is understood that there is a tentative arrangement between the premier and the leader of the opposi-tion by which there will be a radical pruning of the obnoxious clauses. At the liberal caucus this morning which was the largest and best attended of the cession, it is understood that while the sentiment was in favor of standing by the bill to the last, some of the eastern mem-bers announced their disapproval of the bill. It is likewise stated that Mr. Borin possession of the terms sir Wilfrid is to concede. What these are if they are in existence, will not be known until Monday, when the Aylesworth bill will come up again. It is possible that the bill will not come up even then, but the minor government bills of the government which had already een voted their full estimates for the year, were paid in full today, but the justice, militia, printing, interior, rail-bor departments only got half their uildings in the west, the opposition contenting itself with pointing out that the constituencies in which these buildings were to be erected were represented by into supply again. If the opposition continues the fight against the election bill as promised, then failing the government's withdrawal of the first clause. the bill will come up the fight will continue.

The bill to amend the exchequer cour act has been read a second time and considered in committee. It provides for a substitute for the judge through illness or by any leave of absence, or if the other judicial duties of the judge pro-tract or delay the hearing of cases.

W. D. mors are afloat today as to the future course of the government in case the opposition refuse to vote supply. Both parties have discussed the situation in caucus and neither will yield. It was stated this evening that if some settlement of the Aylesworth election bill and the question of supply is not reached early next week the government will immediately dissolve parliament and the elections will be held on Saturday, June 20. The unexpected refurn of the governor general today to Ottawa, lends color to this latest statement.

(Special to The Dally News.) exports of domestic products on the other hand show a slight increase. SEVERAL MILES OF ROADBED ARE UNDER WATER

LA TUQUE, Que., May 15.—The unusual height of the St. Mary's river this spring has apparently shown up a bad engineering mistake in the construction of the National Transcontinental rail way in this district which may necessitate a complete redrafting of the plans At the present moment several miles of roadbed of the new railroad are sev-eral feet under water in fact, one of the contractors came into La Tuque and re ported that he had paddled in a cano for two miles over the tracks of the railway, there being two or more feet of water over the tracks during the

LAPORTE. May 15-The identification of the jaw bone as a portion of Mrs. Guiness' skull, bears out most conclusively the contentions of the state regarding the identity of the bodies found in the cellar. It is the clinching bit of evidence which should set at rest the rumors that Mrs. Guiness had escaped.

This statement was made by Ralph Smith, prosecuting attorney today. It followed a report from Dr. C. P. Norton the dentist, who found that the piece of charred bone presented characteristics which he had observed while working on her teeth. Only two natural teeth, a cuspid one each side of the lower jaw, had remained in the woman's mouth, and the piece of bone found yesterday shows that all the teeth except the cuspids had been extracted from the jaw of the skull to which it belonged. The first of the Guiness victims to be buried with Christian rites was buried by lantern light tonight in a cemetery on the outskirts of Laporte. The corps was that of Andrew Helglien of Mans-field, N.D., the last man to meet his death in the trap which Mrs. Guiness

THOUSANDS MISSING FROM THE THE WINNIPEG OFFICE

AUTHORITIES UNABLE TO FIND THE DARING THIEF

POSTOFFICE ROBBERIES

WINNIPEG. May 15 .- A series of rob beries extending over several months has been going on in the Winnipeg post office and the sum total aggregates a very large amount. It is believed not less than $12,000. The officials, of course, absolutely refuse to discuss the matter and consequently it is impossible to ascertain the correct figures, but the sum cannot be less than stated. A sum cannot be less than stated. A number of packages containing from $800 to $2000 have disappeared as mysteriously within the building as though they had sunk into the ground, indicating that the thief is some person cating that the thief is some person who has the handling of the money entrusted to him, and that he is clever and systematic in his operations. Suspic on at first rested upon the clerk at the registly window who received and checked off the money and then passed it on to the entry clerk. If was thought by officials that sufficient circumstantial evidence had been obtained to connect this clerk with the disappearance of a package containing $800, mailed by the Merchants bank, although it was impossible to convict him. He was trusted to him, and that he is cleve by the Merchants bank, although it was impossible to convict him. He was promp ly discharged, however, and his father was compelled to reimburse the post office department to the extent of $1200. The discharged clerk left the country shortly afterwards but the peculations still continued, large sums disappearing as before, a fact that plainly indicated that the wrong party had been discaarged. The gentleman who was indicated that the wrong party had been discaarged. The gentleman who was required to pay the $1200 his son was supposed to have stolen preposes now to take action asking to have the amount returned to him as he is convinced of his son's innocence. GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE

STRONG SPEECH BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ON THE GIVING OF PERPETUAL PRIVILEGES TO CORPORATIONS - FEDERAL AND STATE RIGHTS.

WASHINGTON, May 11 - The first conference of the governors of the dif-erent states of the American union concluded today. Like many of the impor-tant events in history time is needed to reveal the epoch which the president reveal the epoch which the president and the governors have started. The accomplishments of the conference which has been in progress at the White House for three days, cannot be set forth with mathematical precision. That its immediate results are more than ample, is the expression of opinion of president Roosevelt, who brought it about and of the governors who participated in it. The printed record of the conference which will later be available to every American home, will be a compilation of facts, startling in their meaning and convincing in their universal conclusion, that the states must act and the nation must co-operate to the end that to the must co-operate to the end that to the whole people of the nation may accrue the lasting benefit of its natural re-

Besides the compilation of facts by the experts and the freely expressed opinion of the governors, the conference leaves as its permanent record a thou-sand worded "declaration," not a declaration of independence, but a declara-tion of co-operation. Perhaps of greater importance than anything else was the determination of the governors of the states to perfect a permanent organization whereby a heretofore unknown intimacy may develop among the executive of the 46 sovereign states made strong by the common purpose and made potent by pronouncements which may not be lightly disregarded.

Of the last day the story is one of many features. The day's program was swept aside. The president presided throughout. He interfected remarks and speeches. He brought to the platform men who made plain the prevailing feeling that thought and care must be exercised for the future. The prepared papers were not presented but will be printed in the permanent record. Their place was taken by the declaration which was adopted after a discussion which brought to light no objection to its affirmation.

W. J. Bryan was presented by the president. He touched the same chords which had produced the vibration of harmony and co-operation.

A governor's discussion brought many

A governor's discussion brought many state executives to the platform, but the product was all in harmony and the sentiments expressed were applauded on both sides.

President Roosevelt himself answering the criticism of governor Folk of Missouri to the declaration, aroused the conference to its warmest demonstration of applause. He swert aside the academic applause. He swept aside the academic question of where the line of authority should be drawn between the states and the nation. He wanted action and what

STATEMENT OF TRADE

The said received endorsement at each period. It was this just award of what had been called the twilight land, between the powers of the federal governments.

"My primary aim in the legislation I have advocated for the regulation of the great corporations has been to provide some appropriate legislation for each corporation. I do not wish to keep 'twilight land' one of large and vague boundary by judicial decision, that in an average case the state cannot act, and then a few years later by other decisions that in practically similar cases the nathat in practically similar cases the na-tion cannot act either. I am trying to find where one or the other can act, so there shall always be some sovereign power that on behalf of the people, can bold every big corporation, every big individual to an accountability, that it shall be beneficial to the people as a whole. In matters that relate only to the people within the state, of course, the state is to be the sovereign and it. the state is to be the sovereign and i shall have the power to act. If the mat shall have the power to act. If the mat-ter is such that the state itself cannot act, then I wish on behalf of all the fixed period, so that when the condi-tions have changed, as in all probability they will change, that our children, the nation of the future, shall have the right nation of the future, shall have the right to determine te conditions on which that privilege shall be enjoyed. In these cases the state has not acted, nor canno act. Therefore, I hold the nation should act. Where the policy advocated can be arranged by the state let it be carried out by the state, where it can be carried out best by the individual government, let it be carried out by the nation. The concern is not with the government, let it be carried out by the nation. The concern is not with the economics of the question. I deal with the matter practically from the standpoint of true popular interest and therefore my desire is to employ indifferently either the principle of state rights or the principle of national integrity which will best conserve the needs of the people."

Afternoon and evening trains from Washington took many of the distinguished guests from the city and the guished guests from the city and the first conference of the nation on the conservation of its natural resources passed into history.

AMERICAN PAPER INDUSTRY

ASHINGTON, May 15—The house special committee which is conducting the investigation into the paper trust sat until a late hour tonight in an effort to complete the hearings and report its findings to congress before the session closes.

From the view of the newspaper publishers the most significant move of the day's session was the introduction of a telegram from the J. R. Booth Lumber company of Ottawa, stating that the company pays some of its skilled laborers higher wages than are reported paid in the United States. The publishers say that this information goes far to bear out their claim that the statement of the wood pulp men that an increase in the price of paper was caused chiefly by concessions to labor, is not in accord with the facts.
