Titles

Re Party funds:

Lloyd George raised $15,000,000 for party funds.

Under Mr. Lloyd George, who employed mass production methods, titles instead of becoming less sought after, became even more sought after by the money-making classes. (Viscount Castlerosse)

In those days there was a tariff of goodness and wickedness.

Party funds in every country are a present day necessity, and it is better for men in power to raise money for political purposes by selling titles than by selling something which is more valuable to the state. (Viscount Castlerosse)
