

The Gerhard Heintzman Player Piano

critical musicians, as there is no change in the quality of its tone when you pass from one note to another.

Fitted to an instrument so perfect in every particular as the

"GERHARD HEINTZMAN"

it possesses points of superiority over other Player Pianos sold but not made in Canada.

Plays all the notes on the piano; perfect transposing keyboard; pneumatic fingers jointed like the human wrist; automatic re-wind; absolute control of the tempo.

Mechanism is made as part of the instrument, and does not in any way interfere with the playing of the piano by hand.

Your old instrument taken in part payment. Write for particulars.

THE SPICE OF LIFE.

Customer.—What sort of a chicken do you call this?

Waiter.—That, sir, is, I believe, a Plymouth Rock.

Customer.—Ah, I'm glad it has some historic interest. I thought it was just an ordinary cobblestone.

A minister, having given out his "notices," was about to read his hymn, when he was reminded of one he had forgotten. Stopping, he made this announcement, apologizing for his forgetfulness. Then, much to the amusement of his audience, he began to read out the hymn as follows: "Lord, what a thoughtless wretch am I!"

The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to play the man, help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces, let cheerfulness abound with industry. Give us to go blithely on our business all this day, bring us to our resting beds weary and content and undishonored, and grant us in the end the gift of sleep.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Colorado is about to astonish the world with a glass bridge. Across the gorge of the wonderful Grand canyon of the Arkansas River, near Canyon City, a suspension bridge has been built more than 2,600 feet above the surface of the river. Its floor is of plate glass so that tourists may look into the wonderful gorge, the deepest in the Rockies. The floor of the bridge is about a mile and a half above sea level. An electric railway from Canyon City will carry travellers to the edge of the gorge.

One morning a Sunday school was about to be dismissed, and the youngsters were already in anticipation of relaxing their cramped little limbs after the hours of confinement of straight-backed chairs and benches, when the superintendent arose, and, instead of the usual dismissal, announced: "And now, children, let me introduce Mr. Smith, who will give us a short talk."

Mr. Smith smilingly arose, and after gazing impressively around the classroom, began with: "I hardly know what to say," when the whole school was convulsed to hear a small, thin voice in the rear lip:

"Thay amen and thit down!"

In a small church in one of the mining towns of Pennsylvania was a pulpit both antique and unique. It was about the size and shape of a flour barrel, was elevated from the floor about four feet, and was fastened to the wall. The ascent was by narrow winding steps.

A minister from a neighboring town, a man of great vigor and vehemence, preached there on Sunday. While preaching he bent forward and shouted out with great force the words of his text: "The righteous shall stand, but the wicked shall fall."

Just as these words escaped from his lips, the pulpit broke from its fastening and he fell out and rolled over on the floor before the congregation. In an instant he was on his feet again, and said: "Brethren, I am not hurt, and I don't mind the fall much, but I do hate the connection."

AN HONEST DOCTOR.

Two or three generations ago Dr. Samuel Reed was one of the prominent physicians of Boston. His large practice included many patients outside of the city limits, and these he visited in his buggy.

One day he bought a new horse, with which he was much pleased until he discovered that the animal had an insurmountable objection to bridges of all kinds and could not be made to cross one.

As, at this period, it was necessary to cross some bridges in order to reach any one of the surrounding towns, the doctor decided to sell the horse. He did not think it necessary to mention the animal's peculiarity, but was much too honest to misrepresent him, and, after some thought, produced the following advertisement, which he inserted in a local paper:

For Sale. A bay horse, warranted sound and kind. The only reason for selling is because the owner is obliged to leave Boston.
