MRS. ELIZA DAKIN, OF DIGBY NECK.

Died, May 2, 1869, at Digby Neck, Sister Eliza Dakin, relict of the late Thomas Dakin. The deceased was a native of Portland, Maine, and removed to this province about forty years ago. She experienced the renewing grace of God when about fifteen yeass of age, under the agency of a minister of the Free Baptist Church of her native place, and united herself to that church membership. But not finding on her arrival here any society of that denomination, she joined herself in church fellowship with the Weslevan Methodists, and continued a worthy and consistent member of the Methodist society until her removal to the family of the redeemed in heaven. Her christian walk, by God's grace. was such as to procure for her the esteem and love of a large circle of christian friends of different sections of the Redeemer's church. She
