D. McLachlan & Co., Cha ham,

The growth of this institution during the last two years has been wonderful. The attendance has been doubled on account of the thorough course of training which we give. One of our young men is now drawing a salary of $1,800 a year; anoth er $900; others from $400 to $800. Within the last month two of our students have gone direct from the College to positions paying $500 a year. WE QUALIFY OUR STUyear. WE QUALIFY OUR DENTS TO FILL THE BEST POSI-

Young people are foolish to spend the best part of their lives learning Latin, French and the dead languages, when a few months spent in our Commercial or Shorthand Department will fit them to earn salaries like the above.

Eighty-seven per cent. of all our students who have written on the examinations of the Business Educators' Association of been successful.

Labor-Saving but Oath-Fro- ONE IN FOUR

PEAKING of the introduction Eastern telephone exchang-of the "line-busy" phonograp attachments, the "Argonaut" marks that in the effete East these innovations may possibly be tamely re-ceived, but they had a short life in San Francisco. When some bright telephone clerk conceived the plan of saving another clerk's wages by putting on a phonograph to say, "Line is busy." it was received with rejoicing by the telephone stockholders in San Francisco. But the te'ephone subscribers did not like it at all, and did not hesi tate to say so. On the first day of the innovation the startled telephone sub-scribers listened in wonder to the mechanical moaning, squeaking and buzz-ing of the phonograph droning out: We -will-call-you-line-is-busy line—is—busy— we — will —call—you." The machine, naturally, was deaf to expostulation or enquiry. To polite dissent and to flery oaths it returned the same monotonous groan: "Wewill-call-you-line-is-busy." Goaded by this automatic barking, the most mild-mannered men became tempor-arily maddened. On that famous first day the telephone scenes in the various clubs were peculiar. From the tele-phone closets there would come at intervals wild bursts of oaths and sometimes maniac laughter. The attendant would hasten to the telephone temple, and assist forth congested millionaires, purple-faced, pop-eyed, apoplectic. They were speechless—all they could do was to shake their fists at the telephone. When a mining millionaire from Mexico, newly arrived that day, suddenly burst out of the telephone closet clamoring for an axe with which to attack the instrument, the club manager grew apprehensive: When, later in the day, an alcoholic millionaire could not Mayor Morse, of Emporia, Kan., asked the editors of Emporia papers recently to refrain from publishing de-tails of suicides. He said that the publication of such details had caused an epidemic of suicides in that community in the last two years. He had con-sulted with the Board of Health, and thought that if the papers would not comply with his request he had a right to stop summarily the publication of suicide details under a law providing for the suppression of epidemics. "If the paper." he said, "on which these local papers are printed had been kept in a place infected with smallpox I could demand that the papers quit using that paper or stop publication. If they spread another contasuicide, I believe the liberty of the press is not to be considered before the public welfare, and that the courts prevent the publication of papers containing matter clearly deleterious to ublic health.

"However, no rich steps need be taken. Mr. White, of the Gazette;" Mr. Strong, of the 'Republican,' and Mr. Yearout, of the 'Times,' are in sympathy with me in this movement and will suppress the details of suicides until the epidemic subsides."

Where There Is No Degeneracy.

A delightful article by Mr. Frank Beddard, of the London Zoological Gardens, in the "Pall Mall Magazine," makes one suspect that the only spot in civilization where degeneracy has not begun is the "Zoo." Mr. Beddard takes us through the great menagerie which is under his supervision, and shows us many distinguished inmates at dinner. The hippopotamus is an enviable gourmet. He has been thirtyseven years at the "Zoo," and has had only one attack of indigestion. that grave occasion he was cured with forty (or eighty) drops of croton oil, administered in a bun. Happy beast! No visits to specialists at a guinea a visit! No anxious trials of patent medicines, advertised in the evening papers with portraits of the cures! Down went the bun, and Hippo was himself again! The Australian cassowary consumes everything (except the missionary and his hymn-book), and never knows what indigestion means. Excellent living (Mr. Beddard's statistics of the food are staggering) and leisured ease make astonishing longevity at the "Zoo." There was a Mada-gascar parrot who flourished in captivity for fifty-four years, and good-ness knows how old he was when he retired to Regent's Park. Possibly he became a centenarian. The official records apparently neglect to state his views of life.

Incident at Pekin.

Probably the most amusing incident of the siege of Pekin, says Henry Sav-age Landor, occurred on July 22, 1900, when the Dowager-Empress sent s age Landor, occurred on July 22, 1900, when the Dowager-Empress sent a hundred melons, some cucumbers and egg-plant as a present to the Chinese given inwardly, then rub the little coldiers at the barriage. The servants who brought them misunder-stood the order, and handed over the whole lot to the foreign soldiers, also at their barricade. The vegetables were hauled in with due haste, as soon as the guards got over their first as-tonishment at the handsome gift; but no doubt the person most astonished of all was the messenger on his return to the Dowager-Empress. It is not improbable that the misplaced meions

HAS PILES The Most Torturing Disease That Man Has Ever Known-lhe Safest and Most Certain Cure is

Dr. Chase's Ointment. Of the grown-up persons you meet from day to day one in four suffers more or less from itching, bleeding or protruding piles. Mock modesty leads many to suffer in silence, others dread the surgeon's knife, and, believing an operation to be the only cure, neglect to be treated. Some have found out by actual trial that piles can be promptly relieved and thoroughly cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Oint-

If you are a sufferer from this exasperating ailment and will once make a test of Dr. Chase's Ointment you will be grateful to the end of your life for having read this advertisement. It will certainly cure you, no matter what forms of piles you have, so long as you give it an honest trial.

It has been frequently remarked by persons who have used this prepara-tion that it has probably relieved more suffering from itching skin disease than any remedy that the world has known. While remarkably effective, as a cure for eczema and salt rheum, Dr. Chase's Ointment is unique as the only actual and proven cure for each and every form of piles.

Mr. George Thompson, a leading merchant of Blenheim, Ont., states: "I was troubled with itching piles for fifteen years, and at times they were so bad I could scarcely walk. I tried a great many remedies, but never found anything like Dr. Chase's Oint-

"After the third application I obtained relief, and was completely cured by using one box."

Mr. F. G. Harding, retired farmer, living at Nilestown, Middlesex County,

Ont., writes as follows: "I have been troubled with bleeding and itching piles for four or five years, and suffered intense agony at times. I had tried almost everything, but could get nothing that would give relief. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment I procured a box, and it only required part of it to completely cure me. I am recommending it to all afflicted as I was." If you have not met with some one who has been cured of piles by Dr. Chase's Ointment, ask your neighbors about it. It is impossible to publish testimonials of persons that all readers know, but by asking your friends you are sure to hear good words for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is standard the world over and is guaranteed to oure any case of piles, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Anecdotal.

Some years ago when Bishop Potter, of New York, was traveling in Minne-sota, a man approached him on the railway platform and scanned features closely. Here is a new story of Paderewski. He recently lost his only son, and the effect on him has been to soften down the little eccentricities used to charm his less artistic followers. He went to Dresden for the first performance of his own opera. Amid the enthusiastic demonstrations which greeted its success, he observed in Russian to a friend, "All this might be dust if I could have one smile from my

At a seaside hotel the other day new arrival, having made terms with the proprietor, proceeded to write his name in the hotel book. While he was so engaged a rather large flea hopped across the open page before him. "Well," he remarked, throwing down the pen, "I have been in hotels where there were fleas, but never before have I been in an hotel where the fleas search the register for the number of their rooms."

When the Transvaal war was at its height, Paul Kruger sent a commis-sioner to England to find out if there were any more men left there. The commissioner wired from London to say that there were four million men and women "knocking about the town," that there was no excitement, and that men were begging to be sent to fight the Boers. Kruger wired back, "Go north." The commissioner found himself in Newcastle eventually and wired to Kruger: "For God's sake, stop that war! England is bringing up men from hell, eight at a time, in cages!" He had seen a coal mine.

A quotable story is told of a mission ary who was spending a short holiday Texas. After he had been at his hotel for some days he met with a very fierce-looking man of the cowboy type, who, he noticed, had anything but a sweet temper. "Do you know," he said to him one day, "that you should love your enemies?" "That's a thing I can't do, sir." "What! I am sure a man like you could do anything if you tried." "Anything but that, parit's impossible." said the missionary, surprised and hurt. "How?" "I ain't got one to love. I shot the last this morning."

Julian Corbett may be said to have established himself as an authority on the history of the British navy. A while ago Mr. Corbett wrote to the admiralty to suggest that a new firstclass battleship then building be christened "Drake." A formal intimation that his letter had been received and should have due attention was followed, after a decent interval, by a dignified reply from my lords, in which they expressed their regret at not being able to carry out Mr. Cor-bett's suggestion, and explained that it would be contrary to precedent to name a first-class battleship after a bird.

There was a pause for a few moments, when one little girl arose, and in a solemn voice said: Whatsoever God has joined together let no man put asunder."

Sir Harry Poland, a British magistrate noted for his brilliancy, is careless in his dress. Once his family persuaded him to go to Poole and order a fashionably cut suit. To the chagrin of the household, Sir Harry looked more outlandish in the new clothes than in his old ones. His brother-inlaw went to see Poole about it. "It is not my fault, sir," the tailor assured him. "Every care was taken, but how could we fit a gentleman who would insist upon being measured sitting land himself later on was the dry comment: "Well, it's my business, and not yours. A Philadelphia paper tells of bride and bridegroom who recently went to housekeeping and are blessed with a maid of all work who is fresh from the Emerald Isle. This is her drst "place," and her ignorance of domestic affairs is only equalled by her adaptability and her cheerful willingness to learn. At first she didn't know the names of the ordinary household utensils, even mistaking on one occasion, when there was company at dinner, the ice pick for the carving steel. One day last week the bride had been doing some shopping, and among other things she bought an umbrella stand for the vestibule. It was late when she reached home. "Did any when she reached home. A certain Scotch minister was very anxious that an old couple in his parish should become teetotalers, an anxiety they in no wise shared. After much pressing, however, they con-sented, laying down as a condition that they should be allowed to keep a bottle of "Auld Kirk" for medicinal pur-poses. About a fortnight after, John began to feel his resolution weakening; but he was determined not to be the first to give way. In another week, however, he collapsed entirely. It is a characteristic of American enterprise and thoroughness that an advertising pamphlet, issued by the passenger department of a railroad, treating of a country on the other ide of the world should be strictly up to date as regards geographic, histori-cal and political facts. No. 28 of the New York Central's "Four Track Seres," treats of the Chinese Empire as it exists to-day. The large colored map is a new one corrected by information secured from the allied powers.
