W.C.T.U. CORNER.

(CONDUCTED BY A MEMBER.)

It will surely be a help to all temperance thinking people to know that the Empress of Germany is very much interested in total abstinence.

The Sunday School Times has a most interesting piece printed about the temperance conference at Bremen. One of Emperor William's favorite officers is trying the effects of total abstinence on his men. The soldier who abstains is altogether the best man he can, accomplish more can march better and is a better soldier, for it is noted that strong drink tires and only increases thirst. The minister of education thinks all pupils should have a part in the overcoming this pernicious evil of drunkenness. The Imperial health officer at Berlin is sending out literature showing the sad consequence of spending your money for drink which ruins your life.

There is also a most noted effort on all railroads to have every man strictly temperance if people would only acknowledge they ought to sincerely thank the officials for such strict rules. For men who have their minds clear and bodies in good health are capable of the very best work and it is certainly a good effort on the men's part for it takes pluck and courage to keep temperance with all the temptation the men meet on every hand.

Mrs. J. A. McDonald will not receive on this first Thursday.
