Odds and Ends.

-Mr. Cobb married Miss Webb; he knew that they were intended for each other as soon as he spider. -Some one who believes that "brevity is the soul of wit" writes:
"Don't eat cucumbers. They'll W up."

—"Why did you marry such an jugly, disagreeable man?" asked a pretty bather of another at the sands of Boulogne. "Why, did you see, my dear," replied the young wife, "in marrying the monster I was sure not to lose my admirers."

-" What's your occupation?" asked a Judge of a "drunkard" that came up for inspection in the morning. "I am a calker, sir," was the reply. "A calker!" exctaimed the Judge; "what an inspittude of language; I should say you were an uncorker. Give him sixty days." That's a 'corker,' surely," was the

-On the sands at Boulogne. The breakfast bell sounds. "Come, countess," says one of the guests in a sepulchural voice as he offered his arm to the lady, "let us eat some dead fish." "Oh, the horrid things!" dead fish." "Oh, the horrid things!" she exclaims. "How, madame! Are you in the habit of eating fish alive?" is the naïwe response.

Now occupied by him. The Store is large with a commodious Back Store and a good Cellar. This is a rare chance for any one desirous of purchasing a good rusiness. Terms liberal.

-In a certain Arkansas dance house and salon there is a reversible motto hanging against the wall.
At the opening of the festivities the notto reads: "God Bless Our But as the evening wanes, and knives and pistols flourish in the air, the proprietor flops the motto over, and it reads: "What will the harvest be?"-Texas Siftings

-Hooray for Matthew Arnold, the poet with a pension! Don't let it make you idle, Mr. Matthew! Don't lie on your back and repeat yourself, singing, "I'll spend the goodly treasures I have got." Don't Don't with a pension be a pen-shunner. Remember that though we have just now an only general, yet the laureate is not our only poet.—Punch.

-Even in the making of a will, these little peculiarities will occasionally present themselves: "1 give and bequest to my beloved wife Bridget the whole of my property without reserve; and to my eldest son, Patrick, one-half of the remainder: and to Dennis, my youngest son, the rest. If anything is left it may go, together with the old cart without wheels, to my sin-cere and affectionate friend, Terence McCarthy, in sweet Ireland."

-"You want something to eat, of Stop Cabinet Organ, do you?" inquired a man of a lame tramp at the back door of his residonce. "Ave you plase, sor."
"What made you lame?" "It wus the earthquake, sor." "An earthquake!" "Yis, sor. Ye see, I'm Sheet Music, Music Books and an Italian from the island of Ischia, an' whin the earthquake shuk up C. FLOOD & SONS, the surface av the planet it sprung me knee, an' I'm unable to wurk, which the same I'd be placed to do if I was able." When the bulldog made a rapid exit through the gate he was preceded by the Italian earth-quake sufferer.—Texas Siftings.
