

The Same... Old Sarsaparilla.

That's Ayer's. The same old sarsaparilla as it was made and sold by Dr. J. C. Ayer 50 years ago. In the laboratory it is different. There modern appliances lend speed to skill and experience. But the sarsaparilla is the same old sarsaparilla that made the record—50 years of cures. Why don't we better it? Well, we're much in the condition of the Bishop and the raspberry: "Doubtless," he said, "God might have made a better berry. But doubtless, also, He never did." Why don't we better the sarsaparilla? We can't. We are using the same old plant that cured the Indians and the Spaniards. It has not been bettered. And since we make sarsaparilla compound out of sarsaparilla plant, we see no way of improvement. Of course, if we were making some secret chemical compound we might... But we're not. We're making the same old sarsaparilla to cure the same old diseases. You can tell it's the same old sarsaparilla because it works the same old cures. It's the sovereign blood purifier, and—It's Ayer's.

HEROINE, AGED FIVE.

Eva Mayzy Gray Her Life to Save
One of Her Playmates From Drowning.

A little five-year-old girl lost her life here last week in bravely saving a companion from drowning. The heroine was Eva Mayzy Gray, says a dispatch from Williams, Arizona, to the New York World.

Three tiny maidens—Mazy Gray, Jennie O'Brien and Maggie Brady, near neighbors and constant playmates—were romping on the banks of Cataract Creek, a stream that runs through the town of Williams. It is usually only a narrow, dry arroyo. But for the past week or more the warm weather has melted the snow on the mountains near Williams and the creek is now a raging little torrent, swollen quite out of its natural channel, and is dangerous for even a strong man to attempt to breast it.

Across the stream, but a few yards from Jennie's house, is a small foot bridge. It was from this narrow plank that Maggie Brady, the eldest of the trio, lost her balance and plunged headlong into the stream. She was throwing that stick into the water, trying to skim them up the stream against the current.

Jennie was several yards further up the stream, collecting an apronful of stones, to bring down to her playmates, who were more skilful in climbing than she.

Mazy was only a few feet from Maggie when the latter fell. Without an instant's hesitation, brave little Mazy plunged into the icy water and swam out to Maggie. Ever ready to help, she at this critical moment will never be known in detail, for the only eyewitnesses to the scene were the small maidens, and the coolest head of these is now silenced forever.

"Mazy helped me reach the bridge," is what Maggie Brady told her mother half an hour later, when Mazy Gray's brave little body had been taken out of the water half a mile further down stream.

Jennie saw the whole thing, but she was only a few yards from the bridge, excited to remember just what she saw. "Mazy helped Maggie reach the bridge, but Mazy could not catch hold. Her hands slipped and she went under the bridge." That is all the detail that Jennie could give.

However, if some of the details are missing, the main facts are clear enough. Of the three girls only Mazy could swim. She was the youngest, the coolest in danger, the bravest. It was her body that fished out of the stream, stark and silent.

The little heroine was a strong, hardy baby, wonderfully precocious. Her eyes and a wealth of silken tresses. She was tall and stout of limb for her age, and had lovely, white teeth. She was 4 years old. Almost the entire population of the vicinity turned out to attend the funeral, which was held in that part of Arizona.

WHY SUFFER WITH PILES?

Dr. Chase's Ointment Will Cure Them at a Cost of But 60 Cents.

Piles, scrofula, eczematous eruptions, bald head, acid rheum and all other annoying and painful skin diseases can be easily cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"I had hemorrhoidal piles for ten years," writes H. H. Sutherland, commercial traveler, of Truro, N. S., "tried many remedies and had doctors operate. It was no use. Was completely laid up four times. Chase's Ointment was recommended to me by Mr. Brennan, of the Summerside, P. E. I. Journal. I tried it, and one box completely cured me."

Mr. Flatta, the editor of the Streetsville, Ont. Review, writes this unsolicited testimonial under date of Nov. 8, 1905: "Had a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured my hemorrhoidal piles. That was six months ago, and there has since been no reappearance of the disease."

T. Wallace, blacksmith, of Iroquois, Ont., was troubled with blind itching piles for 20 years. "I tried every remedy that came out in vain," he writes, "until I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was a godsend. One box cured me."

All dealers, and Edmondson, Bates & Co., manufacturers, Toronto. Price, 60 cents.

Lined and turpentine are every man's household remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung affections. Dr. Chase has disguised the taste and made the remedy pleasant to take. Large bottle, only 25 cents.

BASBALL.

GUELPH VS. LONDON.

The Londoners went to Guelph today to open the championship season there. Kron, of Buffalo, is expected to meet the team at Guelph, and he in the game, but if he fails Sipp will play the second base. Gunther will cover first and Seifert will be in the right field. The teams are expected to line up as follows:

London—Johnston, Seifert, pitcher; Snider, catcher; Sipp, first base; Kron, second base; Conn, short stop; Connelly, third base; Short, left field; Hynd, center; Kershaw, right field.

IT WAS HAMILTON'S GAME.

Toronto, May 15.—Rain spoiled the attendance at the opening of the Canadian League season here yesterday afternoon, and less than 1,000 enthusiasts went over to Don to see Toronto and Hamilton play. It was an even contest for five innings, after which the visitors bunched his with Toronto's. The locals were deplorably weak at the bat, and only hit successfully both by Pitcher Hardy. The Hamiltons were more successful with the stick, especially towards the close of the game, though they failed to earn a run.

"A second baseman can't do himself justice unless he has a good short stop to help him," said Bierbauer. "Cross hasn't been covering any ground this year at all."

One of the hardest plays for me to make and one that I think bothers every pitcher, is crossing to first to receive an assist from the base man," said Charley Nichols. "Casual observers do not realize how hard this play is for me. I don't know how it is considered. The pitcher has to watch the base, and he has also to watch to the bench because he has to be ready to throw from the first baseman. It is very difficult to look for the base and the bench at the same time, not to say anything about the batter, with whom you are sure to make a head finish at the bag. This is the hardest part of the game for me. I don't know how it strikes other pitchers. I'm telling of my own experience."

Fierce Fight Between the Forces of Greece and Turkey.

Both Sides Sustained Very Heavy Losses.

The Turks Lost at First but Subsequently the Greeks Retreated.

Peace Negotiations Hampered by the Hostilities in Thrace Summary of the Situation.

Athens, May 15.—A brief dispatch received here late yesterday afternoon from Arta says that a bloody engagement has been in progress since early in the morning near Griboro, between the Greek and Turkish forces. Both sides sustained heavy losses. Griboro is on the road to Filiplada.

Two brigades of Greeks, with many guns, two companies of sappers and a squadron of cavalry attacked the Turks, who are a similar without artillery. The Greeks forced the first Turkish line of defense, but were repulsed in the neighborhood of Filiplada. Since the attack, the fighting has been continued. The battle continues as of this date.
