culties. Mark was not in, however when he got there; only Caroline.

Mrs. Gray was in the large drawing-room. She and the tea-table, at which she sat waiting for Mark, looked quite lost in its space. The thought struck Oswald as he entered. It had been the home of his early childhood, the scene of his occasional visits since that period, but he always thought that room larger and larger every time he entered it.

It was at its window that he, a baby in arms, had been held by the side of his mother, when the grand people from Thorn-dike, in their carriage and four, her father and mother would drive past and cast up their faces of stone. He had been too young to know anything then, but afterwards, when he could begin to understand, these stories of the passing of Sir Oswald were impressed upon him by his nurse. They remained amidst his most vivid recollections. But that he knew it was impossible to have done so—for his mother had died when he was too young, and there was no more standing there after her death looking for Sir Oswald—he could have affirmed now that he remembered those times in all their full detail; the steady pace of the fine horses, the bedizened carriage—in those days it was the fashion to have carriages bedizened—the servants in their claret liveries, the impressive faces of Sir Oswald and his lady.

The fact was, it had all been described so often and minutely to the young child Oswald, that it remained on his memory as a thing seen, not heard.

Mrs. Gray, gay in attire, wearing in countenance, was quite alone. She wore a low evening dress of blue silk, with lace and fringes and trimmings, and blue ribbons in her hair. Rather more dress than is necessary for a quiet evening at home; but she was young and pretty, and a bride, and—very fond of finery in any shape. Her weary face lighted up with smiles as she saw Oswald and rose to greet him; very, very pretty did she look then.

"I am so glad to see you! I had grown tired waiting for Mark. He went out the moment he had swallowed his dinner—before he had swallowed it, I think—and he is not in yet. Shall I tell you a secret, Oswald?"

"Yes, if you please."

"I am quite disappointed. I shan't at all like being a doctor's wife."

Her dark blue eyes were dancing with smiles as she spoke. Oswald smiled to, at the joke.

"It is true, Mr. Oswald Gray. I don't speak against my own dear Mark. I don't part with him; but I do wish he was not a doctor. You don't know how little I see of him. He is in just at meals, and not always to them."

Oswald smiled still. "You have lived in a doctor's house, Mrs. Gray, and know the routine of it."

"My uncle's house was not like this. Who can compare the great Dr. Davenant, at the top of the tree, waiting at home for his patients to come to him, to poor Mark Gray at the bottom, just beginning to climb it. Things are different with them, Mr. Oswald. Mark has to be out here, there and everywhere. At the infirmary during attendance on interminable rows of beds one hour; in some obscure corner of the town another, getting somebody's leg, or watching a case of fever. Mark says it won't go on quite as bad as it has begun. This has been an unusually busy week with him, owing to the doctor's absence. He left home on Sunday night, and was not back until Wednesday. A great portion of the Sunday he had also passed at Thorn-dike."

Women are wonderfully made! Such beauty, grace, delicacy and purity are alone to be found in them. So has she weaknesses, irregularities, functional derangements, peculiar only to herself. To correct these and restore to health, her wonderful organism requires a restorative especially adapted to that purpose. Such an one is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—possessing curative and regulating properties to a remarkable degree. Made for this purpose alone—recommended for no other! Continually growing in favor, and numbering as its staunch friends thousands of the most intelligent and refined ladies of the land. A positive guarantee accompanies each bottle to your druggists. Sold on trial!

Rolls. "Tell me, pa, is there any difference between common salt and chloride of sodium?" Mr. Holliday: "Yes, Rolle, great difference. Salt is two cents a pound at the grocery's, while chloride of sodium is fifty cents a teaspoonful at the druggist's."

At Death's Door.—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph. GENTLEMEN.—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 210 to 110 pounds. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this great medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. J. H. Just a Society Lion.—Mrs. Pomposus: "The gentleman over by the piano is a notable literary man." Mrs. Smythe: "Does he write books?" Mrs. Pomposus: "Heaven's sakes! Nothing so common. He's just a literary man."

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

"My friend," began the solemn man with the red nose, "we are all dust—"

"Gow-an!" replied the more policeman, "or I'll ask you, an' then your name will be mud, see?"

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Expeller is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

John Friend, People's Confectioner.—Remodeled store and lunch rooms; business on more extensive scale. Everything best quality. Cooked hams always on hand, 117 Dundas street.

WESTERN ONTARIO.

Marriage Bells in Windsor—Sudden Death in West Luther—News of the West Tensely Told.

BRANT.

Paris Presbyterians have begun the erection of a handsome new church to cost over $30,000, including price of the lot. It is modeled after Rev. Stephen Brooks' church in Boston, a style of architecture which is unique.

Franklin Ott, an old resident of Brantford, is dead. He was born in Bavaria, Germany, in 1827. In Brantford he was in the mercantile business with his brother and was successful.

Dr. John C. Stinson, of Brantford, son of Mr. C. Stinson, has passed at the head of the list as the assistant at the Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, New York city. This is only another instance of how Canadians come to the front among our friends over the line.

ESSEX.

The marriage bells will ring quite busily in Windsor next month. A society reporter thus unobscure himself: Mr. J. E. D'Avignon, druggist, and Miss Nellie, daughter of Mr. D. G. Revell, will be married on the 31st; Mr. W. W. Kendall, of Connelly & Kendall, and Miss Winifred, will be married on the 7th; Mr. C. S. Randall, Grand Trunk Railroad ticket agent, and Miss Bertha, daughter of Mr. A. A. Dines, on the 20th; Mr. A. J. Pepin and Miss Maggie, daughter of Mr. A. Craig, on the 31st; Mr. E. Bartlett to Miss Maggie, daughter of Wm. McGregor, M.P.; Mr. J. Freeman to Miss Treble.

HURON.

It is said that the members of the Wingham Presbyterian Church will raise the annual ministerial stipend to $2,000, and will endeavor to get the best man obtainable for that amount of money.

KENT.

Two young ladies will enter the Ursuline Sisterhood, Chatham, on May 31. Bishop O'Connor, of London, will be present to officiate.

OXFORD.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review: It takes 32 hours for a letter to come from Ingersoll to Woodstock—a distance of nine miles.

The Bank of British North America have decided to close their branch in Woodstock.

WATERLOO.

Miss Kirkpatrick, of Toronto, daughter of the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Miss Campbell, of Toronto; Miss McInnis, of Hamilton; Colin Campbell and Flora Darling, both of Toronto, went from Elora to Paris last week by canal.

The jail at Berlin is without a prisoner.

WELLINGTON.

A vote upon local option will take place in West Garafraxa on the 30th of this month.

On Thursday Mr. Samuel McDonald, of West Luther, returned from a trip to Ireland, and when he retired to bed complained of not feeling well. It was thought to be the effects of a long voyage, and was not considered serious. Not rising at the usual time on Friday morning, one of the family entered his room, when to their horror they found that he had passed to the great unknown.

HOOD'S CURES.

In saying that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, its proprietors make no idle or extravagant claim. Statements from thousands of reliable people of whom we have received, have conclusively proved the fact—HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES.

Hood's Pills act especially upon the liver, rousing it from torpidity to its natural duties, cure constipation and assist digestion.

People speak of the face of a note when it is really the figure that interests them.

Piles: Itching Piles.

Symptoms: Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

"Now, supposing I borrowed $5 from you; that would represent capital, wouldn't it?" "Yes." "But, supposing, after awhile, you wanted to get it back—" "That would represent labor."

How to Cure All Skin Diseases.

Simply apply SWAYNE'S OINTMENT. No internal medicine required. Cures: Itching, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for SWAYNE'S OINTMENT. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

"It must cost you a student a lot of money living at Yale." "Well, it does take some money at first, but afterwards we can get along all right on credit."

A man's wife should always be the same especially for her husband; but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her feel like a different person. At least so they all say, and their husbands say so too.

A drawing man will grasp at a straw. So will a thirsty one.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confused with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills as they are extremely unlike them. In every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

Mrs. Snags—"The paper says that the Crown Prince of Denmark is six feet three inches tall." Mr. Snags—"The Prince of Wales comes higher than that to the British taxpayers."

Among the pains and aches endured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is carache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are especially subject.

Schoolmistress (just beginning a nice improving lesson upon minerals to the juniors): "Now, what are the principal things we get out of the earth?" Youthful angler (aged 4, confidentially):—"Worms."

You Have Learned

that it is unhealthy to use biscuits of pastry made with the low grade, impure baking powders which are so largely sold all over Canada, and that cream of tartar and soda are the best and most healthful ingredients which can be used in the manufacture of baking powders. Pure Gold Baking Powder stands higher than any other in the absolute purity of the ingredients which are used in it.

In a Chicago Hotel.—Clerk—"How long will you be here, sir?" Guest—"What are your rates?" Clerk—"Fifteen dollars a day." Guest—"About five minutes."

Indigestion, Dizziness, Take BEECHAM'S PILLS.

TOOK OUT THEIR TEETH.

A Windsor Teacher's Substitute Practices Dental Surgery on the Scholar.

WINDSOR, May 22.—During the past two weeks Miss O'Connor, one of the teachers at the fourth ward separate school in Windsor, has been sick, and her place was filled by Adolph Girardot, of Sandwich. Girardot is about 22 years old and a student of the Detroit College of Medicine. His father is inspector of schools for Essex county and his brother is mayor of Sandwich.

Girardot noticed that two or three of the children had the toothache, and examining their mouths he found, or claimed to find, decayed teeth. This put a brilliant idea in his head. He would relieve the scholars of their bad teeth and at the same time get the benefit of the clinical experience. In order to carry out this scheme he put a pair of forceps in his pocket and told the scholars that he would pull their teeth free of charge.

All but two or three of the 50 little boys allowed him to examine their mouths and pull their teeth which he thought needed pulling. One child only 6 years old had eight teeth extracted. Others contributed two or three, and some only one tooth.

While this was going on the teacher in the other room was asked if some of her pupils might have their teeth pulled, and as she made no objection 24 little girls got excited long enough to visit Girardot's room and add to his collection of teeth.

When Girardot dismissed school for the day and went home he carried 125 teeth, rolled up in a newspaper, and exhibited them to his friends.

Friday morning Miss O'Connor was well enough to take her school, and Girardot's services were not required. Many of the pupils were kept at home by their parents, however, for fear of losing what teeth they had left, and Miss O'Connor had to hunt them up and promise to leave their molars alone.

One little boy's father has complained to the trustees, but the latter apparently do not think anything can be done about it.

"August Flower"

For Dyspepsia.

A. Bellanger, Propr., Stove Foundry, Montigny, Quebec, writes: "I have used August Flower for Dyspepsia. It gave me great relief. I recommend it to all Dyspeptics as a very good remedy."

Ed. Bergeron, General Dealer, Lauzon, Levis, Quebec, writes: "I have used August Flower with the best possible results for Dyspepsia."

C. A. Barrington, Engineer and General Smith, Sydney, Australia, writes: "August Flower has effected a complete cure in my case. It acted like a miracle."

Geo. Gates, Corinth, Miss., writes: "I consider your August Flower the best remedy in the world for Dyspepsia. I was almost dead with that disease, but used several bottles of August Flower, and now consider myself a well man. I sincerely recommend this medicine to suffering humanity the world over."
