> Rev. F. E. Malott, B. A., of Chatham, preached at both services in Dundas Center Church yesterday, to good congregations. The theme of the morning sermon was "Transformed Faces" (Luke, ix., 29). The face is an almost sure index to character, he said. A life of sin stamps itself upon the features. Selfishness hardens the face. A pure, noble, unselfish life gives the face a charm that no amount of surface gives three prescriptions for transformng the face. It teaches that mental culture refines the features; that a transformed life means a ransformed face, but the most potent influence is more can it give a radiance to our faces. The evening theme was "Things Secret and Things Revealed." The line of thought was that man may know something about all things; but thereare limitations to all knowledge. Men do not reject scientific knowledge, because it is limited, but they often reject Christ and God's revelation of his saving purpose in Christ because they cannot understand all the mysteries of the God, and spend their time in speculation about them, instead of accepting the things that are revealed and reducing them to practice.

$600 DAMAGES AWARDED IN THE SUIT AGAINST PERE MARQUETTE

The case of Burris vs. the Pere Marquette Railway Company, was concluded at the assizes Saturday night, after a large amount of evidence had been taken for both sides. Finally, at 9 o'clock, the jury gave a verdict for plaintiff for $600. Burris had claimed $2,000. E. Meredith, K.C., and P. H. Bartlett for the plaintiff; Coburn for the defense; R. M. C. Toothe was solicitor on record.

When the case was continued on Saturday afternoon, plaintiff himself was
