SUFFRAGETTES WANT TO INTERVIEW KING

Lively Times Expected on Thursday, But No Militancy Threatened.

[Canadian Press.] New York, May 19 .- A cable to the Tribune from London says: Lively scenes are promised when the suffragettes makes an attempt to see the King on Thursday.
At yesterday's meeting of the Women's Social and Political Union Mrs. Mansell said that it was going to be the biggest thing they had ever had there was going to be any militancy it would be 37 the part of the other side, and would be at their peril.

Mrs. Mansell added that Mrs. Pankhurst would be safe, because, like Sir Edward District Residents Outlying Want Better Fire Protection.

ASK FOR MORE

Say That With Present Staff Proper Protection Is Not Afforded Property.

Residents of the outlying districts of e city are protesting against the board f control's action in ignoring the fire hief's demands for additional firemen me of the sections, it is said, petions will be started asking for a recon-deration of the chief's requests. If the rayer of these petitions is not granted it is declared that notice will be served on the controllers that the city will be held liable for any fire losses that may occur in uninsured houses. The protestants are basing their claim on the fact that insufficient and inadequate fire protection is accorded the out lying districts with the limited number of men now in the employ of the fire department. Downtown Not Alone. "It is all very well for the people downtown to complain about there being too few men to handle the apparatus in the event of a large fire," said a South Londoner to The Advertiser, "but what about our situation?

"There are only four men on duty at No. 3 (South London) station. With one nan off and another away at his meal hours that leaves only two men on duty. In case of a fire in South London, where would they be at? Two men to put out a fire! It certainly is time that the controllers did something and provided more nen for the department.

"Why, with only two men, who is going c attend to the fire? One of the firemen has to wait at the hydrant to turn the water on, and the other has to drive the horses. Even with three men on duty what are they going to do? The third man, if he had to drag the line across a lawn or upstairs would be unable to do anything and would have to wait till he was reinforced by the second man, after the latter had tied his horses.

Need of Six Men in Stations. "What we ought to have is at least six ien over there, so there could be at least our men on duty all the time instead of ierely two. Under present conditions it means that we are hardly getting any protection for our property at all. It's time that the controllers woke up to the facts and did something. "Talk about putting call men on-what good would they do? We want the permanent men and we want them right away.' The same conditions of only two men on duty in the stations is true of all the other outside stations of the London fire department with the exception of the Rectory street station, where five men are kept. Every day there is a man off in stations 3, 4 and 5, it leaves only two or duty at the noon hour.

LORD ALGY.

Two-Reel Lubin Feature Film That Will Be Shown at the Majestic Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

THE CAST. Lord Algy Pat, his valet Arthur V. Johnso Howard Mitchell Mrs. Climer Clara Lambert

Miss Climer Jeanette Hackett Lottie Lottie Briscoe Lottie's father Charles Brandt To Lord Algy the one big thing in life is golf. He is a thorough gentleman, but when an American player beats him hands down he decides that his education is not complete, and he induces his Uncle Sir Lionel to send him to the States, and the good old tops at the club give him a rousing send-off. His lordship Pat, his valet, come to America and society gets hold of Algy. He is dragged hither and yon, which is an awful bore and though the mothers throw their daughters at him he falls for none, until he meets Lottie, who is also a golf enthusi-

ARTHUR V. JOHNSON, who appears as "Lord Algy."

Lottie's father, who is a big contractor, considers Algy a boob. Right in the midst of his growing love a telegram reaches him stating that his uncle has died, leaving him penniless. This puts a bad crimp in not only Lord Algy's financial affairs but in his romance. He, however, resolves to stay in America and Pat stands by him. Both men get em-ployment on a building operation. Algy drives a cart, and though the workmen kid him, he becomes very popular, on account of his good nature. One day he is delegated by the men to go for a bucket of beer. On his return he runs into a couple of men who have placed a bomb in front of the building. He selzes the bomb, and suggesting that it will make a nasty mess when it explodes, calls to the other mer asking what he will do with it. The fuse is spluttering and the men run. Algy resolves to throw it in the air, but in doing so is badly injured. He is taken to the hospital, and while there gets a telegram that the report of his uncle's death was a loke played. that the report of his uncle's death was a joke played upon him by his clubmates, and with Lottie's father, who is really the contractor for whom Algy and Pat have been working, changes his views and with Lottie's consent everything comes cut perfectly ripping as it were.

C. B. Edwards Hopes to Have Ten Companies for Next Year.

"Fine work They look great! We ought to have ten companies next year," was the declaration of C. B. Edwards, inspector of public schools, after watching the first inspection of the recently-formed cadet company of Talbot Street Public School by Maj. W. A. McCrimmon in the Armories yesterday afternoon.

And the little fellows did look fine. Many of them were mere midgets, yet paper. their steadiness and precision was such that the inspecting officer complimented them upon it. Company, half-company and squad drill was handled with scarcely a mistake, and when an individual member of a squad made a slight mistake, his section leader was there to zealously jerk him

the inspecting officer, the bugle band playing a spirited march. Maj. Mc. Crimmon paid high praise to the companies for their excellence in their drill, and offered his congratulation to the corps for the possession of their excellent bugle band, which is considered to be the best in the first divisional area.

Ninety Strong. Company Leader Norman Tillson acting as quartermaster, was in com-mand of the corps, with Company Leader Fred Galpin and Half-Company Leaders W. Carew and Thomas Wright acting for B Company, and Their parade state was 90, including 26 in the bugle band, under command of Bugler-Sergeant Francis Showler and Drum Major G. A. Stewart, and six men in the signal corps, under command of Signalling Lieutenant C.

Following the inspection, the girls of the Collegiate entertained the boys to ice cream and refreshments, in recognition of their excellent work during the year. Then, headed by the bugle band, the corps proceeded in a route march via Dundas, Taibot, King, Kent, through the park, back to the school, where they were dismissed Help the Preventorium by donating old

JOHN D. MUST BE GETTING VERY NERVOUS

[Canadian Press.] New York, May 19.-In addition doubling his guards from four to eight, John D. Rockefeller has had installed the grounds of his Pocahontico Hills estate a system of electric lights, which he can flash by pressing a buttom at the head of his bed. Before the demonstrations by the Industrial Workers of the World at the downtown offices of the Standard Oil Company, and the threats that they would visit his estate, Mr. Rockefeller was content with four guards. These he called to from an open window, when he wanted to feel assured that they were on duty. With the new system in operation, the flashing of the lights is answered by the guards, who press buttons sounding buzzers above their employer's Think British Officials, and Are Worried-Boat Due at Victoria Friday.

London, May 19.—Great anxiety is felt in official circles, says a dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, from Simla, over the voyage of an emigrant ship, laden with Hindus, wishing to land in British Columbia. It is felt that a deliberate challenge is being offered to Canada with the in-tention of causing trouble and forcing the issue of Asiatic immigration to the olonies to the fore.

The steamer Komagata Maru, which sailed recently from Shanghai with five hundred Hindus on board, is expected to reach Victoria on Friday of this week. The steamer was chartered specially by a wealthy Hindu, with a view to testing the Canadian laws, which have hitherto been invoked to bar out Hindus.

Recipes for Wrinkles

and Bad Complexion Of all the beauty recipes that have been ublished, here are two that have successfully stood the test of time: Wrinkle Remover—One ounce powdered saxolite, dissolved in half pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It brings instantaneous results.

Face Peeler—Pure mercolized wax, applied at night like cold cream, only not rubbed in; wash off in the morning. It causes the worn-out scarf skin to come off in the morning of the come o in tiny, almost invisible flakes, a little each day, until the fresh young under-skin is wholly in evidence. The beautiful rose-NEARLY WIPED OUT tinted complexion thus obtained is not to three complexion thus obtained is not to be compared with one made over with cos-metics.
