Daddy Comes Into His Own; Has His Day June Seventeen

"Give Him a Tie" Has Been Suggested—May Give Him Nightmare, But He'll Be Happy.

And now it is "Father's Day!" Don't wait until father's gone to say how much you appreciate him. A little love shown now, a little remembrance carefully chosen will do more to bring him gladness than anticipation of all the flowers you can heap around him when his eyes are tightly closed in a last long sleep, and his kindly capable hands heart-breaking still.

It isn't always so, by any means, but all too often, "good, old dad" has just been taken for granted. He has fetched and carried, got up in the nights for drinks for Sonny Boy, and provided from a mysterious "somewhere" the cash for frocks, and dainty hosiery, and treats for pretty daughter until he has come to be regarded just as a "household convenience."

Dad has spent holidays, and evenings, as well as working days, thinking up ways and means of giving the young folks better advantages than he enjoyed himself. He's the exceptional dad who doesn't go these things, all the comics in the world to the contrary.

Dad has big responsibilities, wife and family for whom to provide, and frequently the shoulders of Canadian daddies have become bowed early in life with the daily burdens carried.

Doesn't Ask Sympathy. He doesn't make a bid for sympathy. That isn't a stout-hearted Canadian man's way. But, sometimes he must feel a bit wistful, say at Christmas times, when everybody else is being helped with gifts which have fluttered in from all directions, and there's perhaps a card of greeting for "dear, old dad."

He's going far down the hill of life, and he's almost childishly proud of the achievements of sons and daughters. He tells strangers about them, his eyes aglow with fatherly love. There was a Christmas not so long ago when the successful merchant prince son sent him a fine gift.

But, Christmas comes and Christmas goes, and the light of expectancy is slowly quenched. Disappointment places its mark on the patient face. They've forgotten dad, who scrimped and toiled that "the children" might have their advantages, and be given their chance to get "a real start in the world."

Several years ago, "Mother's Day" was inaugurated throughout the continent of America, reviving the old "mothering" of the Church of England, and associated with the honoring of mothers living and mothers passed on.

"Wear a colored flower for the mother living, a white flower for the mother gone" has been the slogan. The custom caught on like wildfire of showering the living mothers with flowers and gifts, and paying each year on the second Sunday in May a wealth of tribute to motherhood.

Everybody But Dad. Since the opening of the twentieth century, movements of various descriptions in the interests of conservation of young life have steadily increased in numbers and momentum. "Baby weeks" are internationally recognized institutions. "Children's weeks" have come following after with "teen-age girls" and "teen-age boys' weeks," "Y. M. C. A." and "Y. W. C. A." drives.

At last, father, who has so frequently come out at "the small end of the horn," is coming into his own. Possibly it is because father is so necessary to bestow checks and give away brides that he has been accorded a day all his own, right in the midst of the bridal month of June.

Sunday, June 17, is to be recognized this year as "Father's Day," the season of recognition of the rights and worth of "the finest father in the world, your father and mine."

Flowers for mother, but what for "dad?"

Make It a Tie. The suggestion broadcasted is "a tie for dad, the tie which is father's patron saint."

And so, in Canada, as well as in the United States, where "Father's Day" is being simultaneously celebrated, it is anticipated that the tie, the tie of the "sabbath" with join the Sabbath parade, radiantly smiling, and proudly wearing a Saturday gift tie.

Just as florists annually make special efforts to fill their shops with enough flowers to supply everybody who would pay tribute to mother the second Sunday in May, so merchants have been busy lining up a grand array of ties, suitable for the "daddies" of all ages.

Already there has been joking about the "nightmares" by which dad will doubtless be surrounded. But, surely, the woman who dresses herself in a frill of husband or father. If son of the jazy age does choose a cravat that makes worthy church deacon dad look like a race track tout, why, dad will be happy anyway, because it is son's selection, and son thereby shows his affection. With regard to a letter of inquiry from a little girl some time ago about "Daddy's Day," "Daddy of Sir" wrote with a touch of bitterness, "Don't fret, daddy's dear little girl, Daddy has his day and heaps of flowers given to him. But it is only when his work in this vale of woe is done, and he can neither see, smell or hold those flowers. But, he gets them, just the same, and they look too well on his coffin."

Don't let that be your daddy!

FATHER'S DAY

(Written Specially For The Advertiser.)

Boys' week, girls' week, Mother's Day in May, Bride gets the month of June, And Santa Christmas Day. Children get a grand campaign, And babes a health crusade. There's a day for every dad, And he's been in the shade. But daddy's come into his own—His face is one broad smile—His seat is high up in the sun. He'll need his summer tie. Oh, daddy's day has come in June. And daddy's one glad guy: For everybody's blessing him, And buying him a tie.

DEMAND ACTION BY CONTRACTORS ERECTING SCHOOL

Board of Education Anxious To Have Trafalgar Street Building by September.

ATTACK ASSESSMENT

Members Question System of Collecting Ashes From Institutes of Learning.

The board of education will press for the completion of Trafalgar School in southeast London by the opening of the school term in the autumn, following a meeting of Number 2 committee yesterday afternoon. It was stated at the meeting that from present indications the building would not be ready for occupancy by September 1, and the members of the committee expressed the opinion that some action should be taken with the architects to see that the contractors live up to the terms of their agreement.

The question of garbage and ash collection from the city schools was the subject of considerable discussion, following the passing of an account for $2,200, payable to the assessment department, for the purpose. It was pointed out that although the board had been paying this sum for some years past, it had never received the services for which the amount was collected, no garbage or ashes ever having been collected.

Asks Co-Operation. A letter from City Clerk Baker relative to this was read, in which it was stated that if the board would have the ashes placed in receptacles that were above ground and easy of access, as well as protecting the contents, something might be done. It was suggested that the board ask for a rebate of this tax and do the carting away or disposing of ashes itself, but on further consideration the matter was laid over for a report from Captain Robinson relative to the purchase of cans for some of the schools and the disposition of the ashes at others.

Formal application will be made to the workmen's compensation board by the board of education for membership in order that some means of protection for the men employed by it may be obtained. It was pointed out that the payroll of the board for men who would benefit by this amounted to $8,000 yearly.

Increase Salary. A recommendation to the salary committee was made in connection with the request of John Hutchinson, foreman, for an increase of salary. Number 2 committee recommended that he be given an increase of $50 per annum.

A letter from the board of management of the Hamilton Road Church, where the board of education had rented the school for purposes, was received. It was stated that although the board had paid a rental of $150 a month during the school term, the church also expected it to pay $25 per month during July and August in order to defray the cost of janitor service and storage of school equipment.

The management of the church, stating that the board would pay $10 month storage during the holidays and $150 per month for such time as the basement might be needed for educational purposes.

Thomas Landon Has To Pay Doctor's Bill and Value of Lost Time.

Special to The Advertiser. Brantford, June 13.—Charged with assault causing bodily harm to Stephen Collings, a farmer residing on the Burford township, Walter and Thomas Landon, neighbors of Collings, appeared before Magistrate Blake this morning. Thomas Landon, who broke a club over the plaintiff's head, was let off on suspended sentence and ordered to hand over $30 to Collings in payment of the doctor's bill and lost time. Walter Landon was discharged.

The trial was the result of a feud between neighboring farmers which arose when Collings' cows trespassed on the Landon brothers' farm. Collings went to drive his cows home, and alterations arose. Elisha Stewart, a friend of Collings, came to his aid, but was prevented from entering the fray by four women, two of whom were sisters of the Landon.

Magistrate Blake decided to have the four men bonded over to keep the peace, as their feud was a danger to the community, he said.

PREVENTS BAD BLAZE ABOARD DREDGE PEEL

George Haney Throws Blazing Paint Bucket Into Water At Port Burwell.

Special to The Advertiser.

Port Burwell, June 14.—George Haney, mate on the tug "Peel," tender to dredge No. 117, had a painful experience on Friday of last week. While the dredge was lying moored to the east dock, Haney discovered a pile of paint ablaze in the hold. He seized the flaming bucket and rushed to the size of the dredge to throw it overboard, and was compelled to jump into the water himself, as his clothes had taken fire. Comrades heard his cries and rescued him from the creek, but he is seriously ill as a result of severe burns. Undoubtedly, Mr. Haney's brave act saved thousands of dollars worth of property, and perhaps several lives.

STOMACH TROUBLE DUE TO THIN BLOOD

It Usually Disappears When the Blood is Made Rich and Red

This blood is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble. It affects the digestion very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive fluids are diminished in their activity, the stomach muscles are weakened, and there is a loss of nerve force. In this state of health, nothing will more quickly restore the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich, and red, and this enriched blood strengthens weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles, and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. This is shown by an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood-enriching pills is evident throughout the whole system. You find that what you eat does not distress you, and that you are vigorous instead of irritable and listless. If your appetite is fickle, if you have any of the distressing pains and symptoms of indigestion, you should at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and profit by the better condition in which they will put your blood.

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.—Advt.
