MR. CHAS. WATTS,

new a Kind-Hearted Citizen Was Threat-ened With Prescention. The wife of a citizen residing on Hayter reet recently found a pug dog near her The next morning an advertisement

The name on the collar of the dog found by the citizen's wife was F. A. Vines, Santa Barbara, California. There is no such name in the city directory, nor is there a No. 77 Grosvenor street. The citizen could not therefore restore the dog. In an evening paper on Tuesday the following advertisement was inserted:

The peremptory manner in which the advertisements were inserted caused the citizen to waver whether he would return the animal or not, as he has always been taught to use the word "please." Finally, however, he seat it np with a boy who received twenty-five cents for his trouble, but who was informed that had it not been returned that day the citizen. not been returned that day the citizen would have been prosecuted. That individual feels that he has not been rightly treated in being threatened with prosecu-tion after feeding a pug dog for three days and allowing the animal to sleep on a mat beside his self-feeder.

Underwoods Bank and Counterfeit Reporter gives in their last issue an account f an experiment which has been made at the works of a prominent safe manufacturer of Boston with dynamite burglar proof safes and time locks. A time lock was attached to the interior of the door of the safe in the usual manner, and the safe was then locked and the bolts thrown after which three ounces of No. 1 dynamite was exploded against the door of the safe. It was found that the time lock was unlocked and the safe door practically untipjured as the bolts moved as freely as before the explosion. A World reporter the works of a prominent safe manufac-

"Yes, I was present at an experiment on the time lock about a year ago. Dynamite was placed at the door of the safe opposite the time lock, and covered with sandbags. We stood outside when the explosion lock was completely blown out. Our bank now has Holmes Electric protection on and we feel perfectly safe from burglary."

As the experiments referred to demonstrate the fact that dynamite is a practical agent for the burglar to use to accomplish his purpose, it is gratifying to know that some means can be employed by which the midnight marauders can be frustrated. We understand that a large number of the lead-ing banks and jewelry houses have already adopted the protection referred to.

Verdict Against an Oarsman, At the county court yesterday the case of Grimstead v Hanlan, in which a young amateur oarsman named Grimstead sued to recover $125, the value of a boat lent by him to Edward Hanlan, was resumed Hanlan in his evidence said that he and Hanlan in his evidence said that he and Lee had spoken to Grimstead about getting the boat on July 1, but that on the day it was broken Lee had taken it out without his knowledge. Lee said that he had offered to pay a third of the value of the boat, but that Grimstead said he interest out of Hanlan the boat, but that Grimstead said he intended to get the money out of Hanlan and the ferry company. Lee had no idea that the platform, by the breaking of which the boat was destroyed, was anything but sound. Enright, the souler, Peter McIntyre of the ferry company and other witnesses were examined. The jury, after being out only a few minutes, brought in a verdict for Grimstead for $95.

Thos. Jenkins, stealing a gold ring, was committed for trial. Oliver Leeming was found guilty on two charges of larceny. He goes to the penitentiary for four years.

George Sampson, his companion in guilt, got four months in the Central. Richard Kelly, a hack driver accused of robbing Kelly, a hack driver accused of robbing his fare, was sent to a superior court, bail being fixed at two sureties of $400 each. Wm. Thompson was fined $1 and costs for calling Richard McCaffrey bad names. Charles Whittaker acknowledged having assaulted John Callem, and was fined $3 and costs or thirty days with hard

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine For January, beginning the nineteenth volume, is a brilliant holiday number, abounding in text and pictures appropriate to the season. It opens with an interesting and instructive essay on "Christmas Carols." Dr. Talmage's sermon is on "Christmas in America," and there are several Christmas and New Year's stories and poems, all finely illustrated. Pub-lished by Mrs. Frank Leslie, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York city, at 25 cents a number, or $2.50 a year, postpaid.

side of the city. One boy has died. The life of another is despaired of and a number of children are scared by partly healed wounds that may develope the malady at any moment. Many dogs that have inoculated poison from bites are under restraint, but a large number are still running wild, and there is no telling to what extent the dread infection will spread. Residents of the west side are afraid to go into the streets and an extra detail of policenen are protecting them, with orders to shoot down every dog that shows the least symptoms of madness.
