I would not want these measures to be interpreted being taken in contemplation of an early outbreak of war rather as insurance which any prudent Government, realising possibilities, must take as safeguarding precautions.