

nothing to do with the negotiations between the two countries.

“International negotiations” — those outside the country — are not the same as international negotiations — those outside the country. — now we’re talking about something else again, so that’s not what I’m referring to here.

10 international negotiations are the kind of negotiations that take place between countries, or between different parts of a country.

(a) this society
is not part of the world.

(b) the world is not part of this society.

(c) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society.

(d) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

(e) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

(f) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

(g) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

(h) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

(i) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

(j) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

(k) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

(l) the world is not part of this society, but it is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society, and this society is part of another society.

“international negotiations” — those outside the country — are not the same as international negotiations — those outside the country.

(a) a country
is a group of people who live in the same area.

(b) a country is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(c) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(d) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(e) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(f) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(g) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(h) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(i) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(j) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(k) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(l) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(m) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(n) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(o) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(p) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(q) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(r) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(s) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(t) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.

(u) the Commonwealth of Australia is a collection of closely related people who live in the same area.