

afterwards fitted out and took part with three small gunboats in a sortie (Colonel Murray and Captain Everard) up the lake, in which was devastated the barracks, arsenals and public edifices of Plattsburgh, Burlington, Champlain, Swanton, etc., the flotilla returning in safety after spreading terror in all parts of the adjoining country.

CAMPING ON THE BANKS OF THE RICHELIEU.

Canadian Institute for Historical Microreproductions

Institut canadien de microreproductions historiques

1980