
THE PREFACE.

SEVERAL Months have past since, as to the Substance of them, I preached the two following Discourses. They might have come abroad much sooner had not my tender State of Health, and my Confluence of Work as a Minister and Tutor prevented. At length I offer them to the World after a careful Revival, and some considerable Additions, particularly in the Article of recent Intelligence concerning the State of our persecuted Brethren. If the Discourses have nothing else to