Principal Grant Discusses Modern Teaching Methods. Detroit, July 12 .- Rev. Principal Grant of Queen's University, in an address here Tartans, also in greys and in black last night on "Some of Our Mistakes," attacked the manual training fad in the Public Schools. He said technical schools of the best kind we do need, but their work should be based on sound general education given in the Common and High Schools, and, for those who are to be leaders in modern industries and professions, in the college and university.
