HUSBAND IS COMPLAINANT.

Lady Lawson Summoned Under the New Licensing Act.

London, Jan. 2.—The first notable case under the new licensing act which went into effect yesterday came up in a London Police Court this afternoon, when Sir Charles Allen Lawson, the Anglo-Indian newspaper editor and writer, applied for a summons against Lady Lawson, whom he described as a habitual drunkard. The summons was granted.

The new act enables either a husband or wife to secure a separation in the case of habitual drunkenness, and allows the police to arrest an inebriate anywhere, except in a private house, whether disorderly or not. After conviction, drunkards are black-listed for the space of three years. If they attempt to obtain drink during that period they are liable to a fine, while the publican supplying them is fined $50 for a first offence, and $100 for a second offence.

Imprisonment is provided for drunkenness while in charge of a child under seven years of age.

PREMIER AT MEAFORD.

With Hon. John Dryden He Speaks in Mr. McKay's Cause.

Meaford, Jan. 2.—Two well-attended meetings were held to-day in the Opera House in the interest of Mr. McKay, the Liberal candidate in the coming by-elections. The meeting in the afternoon was well attended, being composed principally of farmers. It was presided over by Alfred Gifford, who, after a short address, introduced Hon. John Dryden and Hon. G. W. Ross, who delivered, in turn, able addresses.

The speech by Mr. Dryden, who was the principal speaker in the afternoon meeting, was well received by the large audience present.

In the evening the candidate, with Mr. Ross, addressed a very large audience of the townspeople. Mr. Ross dealt principally with the attacks of the opposition on the government's policy. He repudiated the alleged dishonesty in elections. He was well received by the audience.

$30,000 WANTED

WE want to raise thirty thousand dollars by the first of February, and if we're not very much mistaken we're going to do it easily. We intend to get this amount out of our stock of furs now on hand and estimated to be worth one hundred thousand dollars. The method of the raising will be appreciated if you glance at the list of prices below. The excuse—"We need the money." Briefly here are the reasons:

I. Our stock is exceptionally heavy, even after the big Xmas trade.

II. The new stock of skins for next winter's garments has been purchased and is now on the way. We must make room.

III. We are adding a large factory to our present building, and this means alterations to our present show rooms. So sooner than risk our stock to dust and dirt we will sacrifice it.

We manufacture everything we sell and stand behind everything we manufacture as the oldest, biggest and best fur store in Canada.

GAME WARDEN WAS THERE.

Traveler's Trunk Flew Open Exhibiting Illegally Shot Partridges.

Charles Hamilton, who hails from Spanish River, Ont., was arrested at the Union Station Friday night by Game Warden Tinsley on a charge of shooting game out of season. Hamilton was about to leave for his home, and while checking a large trunk it accidentally opened, exhibiting several partridges. Mr. Tinsley happened to be on the platform at the time and immediataely placed Hamilton under arrest. Hamilton declares that the birds were shot in season.

Dun's Trade Review.

A quiet trade in wholesale circles, is reported in Toronto during the week. Travelers who came in previous to Christmas day are still about, helping at headquarters, but most of them will start out again on Monday. The usual dullness is noted for this particular season of the year, and many merchants are taking advantage of the situation and taking stock. On the whole the year has been a prosperous one for merchants, and in some lines a good deal of money has been made. Prices continue to rule steady for the leading staples. The wool market is a little firmer, but movement here is limited. Hides should be lower in prices, but local competition keeps them unchanged. Wheat dull; a trifle weaker, with no export demands for Ontario grades. Dressed hogs and cured meats are steady with good demand. There was only one failure reported in the district for the week, with small liabilities.

STREET CRIES IN CAIRO.

Sounds Heard By Travelers in the Egyptian City.

Take a chair outside a busy cafe near the market place and tram centre and watch street life. There are no hungry men, no starving, pinched child faces, no finger-worn mothers, for this is a land of plenty, and the people's wants are few and simple. Thus, sunshine and laughter spray a welcome fragrance over the novelty and romance of the gay city's streets.

Here is a street melodist twanging a monstrous one-stringed "something," and accompanied by a nose-ringed girl, who taps deftly on a species of tambourine, while bystanders ejaculate, "Allah! Allah!"—the Arabic word for applause. If not quite in accord with your prejudices concerning music, well, maalaish (never mind), it is not nearly so distracting as a street cornet at home, and they will go away if you tell them to. The baboon, the donkey and the boy are in evidence, with a score of performing tricks that are very original and certainly funny, and you console yourself with the hope of a minimum of cruilty in the training.

A fruit seller, basket on head, with luscious grapes and figs, saunters by singing in a quaint minor, "O, grapes, O, sweet grapes, that are larger than doves' eggs and sweeter than new cream! O, angels' food, delicious figs, bursting with honey, restorers of health!

There is a drink seller, bent under the weight of the odd-shaped jar slung over his shoulder, a lump of ice projecting from its mouth, conjuring custom in a similar strain as he struts up and down, making the air resound with the rhythmical clap-trap of two brazen saucers: "O, refreshment of the weary! O, quencher of parched lips! O, blessing of heaven!"

Another street cry which may be heard in the main street of Abbas-Sieh, contains the following enticing announcement: "To-morrow, O, people, I am going to kill a camel. The doctor says it is young and healthy. Oh, its flesh will be tender as the quial and juicy as lamb. Its price is but one and a half piasters (seven cents) a pound. Do you love the sweet flesh of the camel? Then come early and be satisfied."

Not the least picturesque figures in the streets are the city police, in their neat white drill and red tarbouches in summer and blue serge in winter.

ANOTHER OIL WELL STRUCK.

All Signs Point to the Making Good of Raleigh Township.

Chatham, Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Late Wednesday evening a fourth oil well was struck by the Beringer Company of Toledo on lot 18 of concession 12, Raleigh Township. The flow was started at 420 feet. The well was shot to-day and a good, steady stream is the result.

The well is south of the original gusher, and a quarter of a mile from the Corey well. The fact that four wells have been struck, all south of the Gurd Gusher, seems to indicate that the Raleigh oil wells are destined to make good.

Woman's Age.

There's something strange, you must admit,
About a woman's age;
Up to a certain period it
Is on a hidden page.
Or, if she tells it, she'll take off
A dozen years or so,
Unless she lives to ninety-some,
And then, as sure as kingdom come,
She's a hundred and five, you know.
