Mr. John Johnston Passes Away at an Early Hour This Morning - Long Time a Resident of London.

Citizens generally will hear with regret of the death of Mr. John Johnston. in the 75th year of his age. He breathed his last at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Gardiner, William street, at an early hour this morning. Mr. Johnston was known to almost every person in the city, and his familiar figure and smiling face will be greatly missed. He had been ailing for some time, but was only taken down four days since. Death was due to a grad-ual breaking up of the system. He was about the city on New Year's Day. Mr. Johnston was born in Donaghadee. Ireland, but Canada was his home from boyhood. In early life he left for Australia, and returned after making a fortune in mining. For a great many years deceased had led a retired and quiet life. He was a director in the London Loan Company for a period; and was at one time engaged in real estate business. He was also a member of the Dundas Center Methodist Church and the Oddfellows. Deceased was married to a Miss Johnson, of this city, some 50 years ago, and leaves two children to mourn his demise, Mrs. (Dr.) J. H. Gardiner, and Mrs. J. O. Weldon, South London. The late Alexander Johnston, wholesale leather merchant, city, was a brother of the deceased. Mr. Johnston was one of London's oldest citizens, having resided here for some 50 years. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, from his daughter's residence, 393 William street.

30 CENTS FOR A STOLEN OVERCOAT

An Elginfield Farm Laborer and a Toronto Young Man in Trouble-Whisky Given as the Cause.

A couple of interesting characters appeared at the police court this morning. They were Charles Harborn and Robert Thompson. The former is a farm laborer, and was arrested near Elginfield yesterday by Detective Nickle, on a charge of stealing an overcoat from the Hodgins House, the property of John Hodgins, the driver of the Lucan stage, which he pawned for 30 cents to buy whisky. He pleaded guilty, and was sent down for two months. Thompson was arrested in Toronto and brought back here yesterday by Detective Rider. Thompson is alleged to be one of the parties who broke into Fraser & Co.'s cap factory, in Ridout street, in September, and stole therefrom $100 worth of material, which was afterwards found in a pawnshop. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, but the police claim to have positive proof that Thompson was one of those who sold the goods. After the division of the money, the police claim, he went to Chicago, where he remained until two weeks ago, when he returned to his the first appearance here of Mile. Tre- home in Toronto. ### DIED IN JAIL

Owen Gillean, a Prisoner, pleeds to Death, the Result of a Ruptured Blood Vessel in the Heart.

It is seldom that the hand of death is felt at the jail, but such was the case this morning, when Owen Gillean died very suddenly. Gillean was sent down yesterday morning to serve twenty days for drunkenness and vagrancy, and between 5 and 6 o'clock this morning he bled to death, as the result of rupture of a large blood vessel in either the heart or the lungs. Drs. Thompson and Macarthur were called, but could do nothing for him. Gillean had been a traveling tinker, at different times had claimed Woodstock, Hamilton and Toronto as his home. He was 58 years of age, and had a record of 13 times in the jail here, ranging from one day to two months. Gillean gave his religious persuasion as a Salvationist.

A CONTRACTOR HAS HARD LUCK

Costly Cave-In on the North End Sewer-Old Sewer Burstson William Street-Damage $500 or $600.

A bad cave-in occurred between 6 and o'clock this morning at the corner of Central avenue and William street, where Contractor A. J. Brown has reached with the north section of the new sewer system. The extent of the damage could not be accurately estimated today, but it is almost sure to mean a loss of $500 or $600.

The pipes had been laid on Central avenue, west of William street, and the trench dug for the pipes to be laid running south on William street. Just at the corner it was necessary to dig under an old William street sewer, crossing Central avenue. The trench at this point is about twenty feet deep, and the pipes of the old sewer, crossing it about six feet from the top, were well supported. The William street sewer is supposed to empty into Carling's Creek, but the creek had over-flown its banks and the water backed up in the sewer. This force, meeting the heavy flow of surface water, caused the pipes to "buckle up" and break where the earth was removed. In consequence the trench was rapidly filled with water and the cave-in resulted. The sides of the trench were worn away under the frozen crust, and soon the earth which had been excavated and piled near by began to tumble back into the hole. This took place for a distance of 50 or 60 feet and the roadway became dangerous. A watchman was stationed there to warn the public. and the place was fenced in. Belt line cars were unable to cross William street on Central avenue all day.

New York, Jan.14.-Wilton P. Marchbank, of Green Point, L. I., was killed at Second avenue and Thirty-fourth street, last night, in a fight with Michael McGowan, a conductor on a Thirtyfourth street car. Policeman Frank Burns, of the East Thirty-fifth street station, who witnessed the fight and arrested McGowan, says that he saw the conductor push the man off the car and deliberately kick him in the neck. This statement is corroborated by several others.

PADEREWSKI AS

After He Had Won Fame as a Virtuoso He Practiced All Day for Months.

"When Paderewski came to Leschetizky, in Vienna, some ten years ago, it was as a concert performer who had already achieved success in Russia, and mastered an extensive repertoire," writes Cleveland Moffett of "The Man Who Taught Paderewski," in the January Ladies' Home Journal. "Leschetizky heard him play for a while, and then said, 'You have some very faults, but you have talent. You have played too many things, and nothing well enough. Your wrist is hard and stiff. If you come to me you must forget for six months that you have a repertoire; you must play nothing but exercises for technique, six hours a day of exercises, and nothing else." "Paderewski thought the matter over, and decided that he had the strength of will for this severe test, and put himself entirely in Leschetizky's hands. All day long for six months this finished concert performer worked away at the mechanics of pianoplaying, at exercises specially devised for him by Leschetizky, and some de-vised by himself with reference to peculiarities of his own hands. evening he took a lesson at the professor's house, this being a mark of special favor, for with ordinary pupils all lessons ended at 5 in the afternoon, and one lesson in two weeks is the best that even the most proficient may attain. One hour, two hours, three hours, these nightly lessons lasted, for Leschetizky gives no heed to time once his serious interest is aroused. These two men were together constantly; they took long walks; they played hard-fought games of billiards, both being adepts at the game; they talk-ed incessantly, for Leschetizky has a fluent tongue, and what the older man knew of the sounding art he gave free-ly to the younger man, and that the disciple has given to the world."

CANADA'S FINE BIRDS

Silver Jubilee Exhibition of the O. P. Association.

Canadian Chickens Compete With Uncle Sam's Best-A Fine Display-Londoners Carry Away Many Prizes.

The silver jubilee exhibition of the Welland, Jan. 14 .- No. 15. M. C. R. Ontario Poultry Association, which has -birds which have been the proud win-Engineer Lowdry, fireman Currie, and ners at such shows as Boston, New York and Washington. This was the first time the big American breeders have exhibited in Canada, and they were more than surprised at the quality of the Canadian birds. It has also had the effect of making the Canadians more than ever satisfied with their birds. There were over 500 American | fectly prepared or with less impurities birds in the show, and, with the exception of Silver Wyandottes, they were the cream of their respective departments in their own country.

London showed up splendidly. Members of the local association made 500 entries, and the fact that two of the * four American association's cups were won by Forest City fanciers is an honor that every citizen should be proud of. The Americans were not slow to recognize London's position in the poultry world, and they did a graceful thing in selecting Mr. Allan Bogue, the veteran local breeder, president of the American Association. This is the first time the office has ever been given to a Canadian, and Mr. Bogue was warmly congratulated on all hands.

But while London won more than its share of prizes, while one of its fan-ciers was elected president of the Ameracan Association, the whole show would have amounted to very little if it had not been for the energy and busi-nesslike methods of Mr. Thomas A. Browne, of London. As secretary and manager, he is in the right place, and confusion was unknown. Everything moved along smoothly. He was warmly complimented, especially by the Amerbreeders.

The Toronto association did everything possible to make the stay of visiting fanciers a pleasant one, and they abundantly succeeded. The ban-EVIDENCE quet on Thursday night at St. George s Hall was a very happy affair, and the quet on Thursday night at St. George's addresses, for the most part, were eloquent and instructive.

Mr. I. K. Felch, of Natick, Mass., the retiring president of the American association, made a strong plea against allowing fancy feathers to interfere with utility, and also to sell eggs by weight. Prof. Robertson, of the Ottawa Experimental Farm, and Mr. James, deputy minister of agriculture, told what their respective departments were doing to encourage the poultry industry, which both described as being still in its infancy.

The entry list was the largest ever known in connection with the Ontario show, and in the Barred Plymouth Rock class was the largest of any show ever held on the continent, nearly doubling that of New York last winter. The fact that two of the first prizes in this class, in the face of such strong competition from the leading American breeders of this variety, were won in Canada, Mr. George Miller, of this city, winning first and special on cockerel, and McCormick & Sons, of Rockton, first on hen, proves that there is as good stock in this variety in this country as anywhere in the world. The first cock is owned by J. H. Thompson, of New York, and the first pullet by Fisher's Island Farm, New York. The Wyandotte classes were strong, the first Golden cockerel, owned by Wray Bros., of this city, being pro-nounced by the judge the best he had ever handled, and he was sold at a handsome figure to go to Boston. In Dark Brahmas the exhibit was an excellent one, Sage & Garside, of this city, winning the most of the prizes. The Black Langshans were out in large numbers, but the cream of the prizes went to Mr. R. McCurdy, of this city. The special prize won on them was a particularly rich one, consisting of a cut of the winning pair, to be published in all the leading American and be $25, and 10 cents a dog and 20 cents English poultry journals. English poultry journals. Frank Moore did well on his White Wyandottes, considering the strong op-position he met, and Charles A. Stewart got in decidedly on Buff Cochins. B. Milliard's Black Cochins won R. everything in sight, except first on cock, which went to H. R. K. Taylor, who showed up well in some of the other classes as well. NO FAITH IN ANYTHING.

If the New Year in its practical sense is influenced at all by the magazines of the day, "Table Talk" promises to do a large share towards making it a happy one. The January issue has among its many attractive articles the following: "In Bermuda with The-odora," by Helen Louise Johnson; "Old Linens Wash Whitest," by Virginia Lyndall Dunbar; "A Handful of Spices," by Martha Bockee Flint; "Cuban Recipes," by Amelie Ursules Mignerez; "A Bit of Plausible Reform," by Ellen Coit Elliot, and "California Figs," by Isabel B. Winslow. The tested recipes and menus, which are accompanied by directions for the economical method of carrying them out, must appeal strongly to every busy housewife. A sample copy will be sent free to any of our readers sending their name and address to Table Talk Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
