BUT THE BOILER

Cause of Wabash Locomotive Minnesota Iron Mines Working Explosion a Profound Mystery.

St. Thomas, July 29.—All that is left of the once powerful locomotive No. is quiet on the range today, and ore 1894, which blew up east of Simcoe is being mined at several of the mines. Friday night killing three St. Thomas Stripping operations are also precede railwaymen, was brought back to the ing. city and placed on the back track in the Wabash yards. Her location was soon ferreted out and all day Sunday was visited by crowds of people.

The shattered boiler, for that is all that is left of the locomotive, was strong trucks, used on the auxiliary train. The tender, upside down as it amined by all who visited the yards done it, among these being the weakening of the sheet by burning, due to low water at times, the presence of scale or defective workmanship in putting in the stays. The burning of the sheet need not necessarily have been done on the engine's fatal run, but might have occurred several days before. Engineer Patterson, his com-FOR SALE — VACANT LOT.
