Let the $100,000 Bylaw Be Passed Unanimously.

POSSIBLE, MAYOR THINKS

And Would Make City's Name Stand Out With Prominence, le it possible for a city of 60,000 people to poll a unanimous vote on any question?

Mayor Somerville and the city council think that it is possible, particularly when the question is to commence memorial hall for the city's soldiers by authorizing the issue of $100,000 debenevery voter who goes to the polls.

Would Belong To City.
For some time there has been an agitation for a memorial to the city's soldiers, and it has been generally agreed that this should take the form of a hall where all the returned soldiers' organizations could be accommodated. While definite plans are not made, it is likely that there would be an auditorium with a seating capacity of several thousand, which would be surrounded by smaller rooms for the accomodation of the different organizations. The building would be the property of the city, and in time would revert to it, when the generation from which the soldiers were recruited passes away. In the meantime the auditorium could be used for large conventions and gatherings of all kinds.

Taking Time

Taking Time. The city co $100,000 until definite plaus have been made. It is realized that this is not nearly a sufficient amount, but this will get the work under way, and further money will be forthcoming, both from the city and by private subscription, so that London can erset a memorial worthy of the men who represented worthy of the men who represented her in the Great War.

So certain was the city council that the people favored the plan, that it was intended to issue the debentures without taking the vote. It was decided to submit it to the people. This was not done with the belief that there would to eany people who did not favor the project, but merely give every citizen the chance to show his approval of this memoral to the fighting men.

EXPECTS HEAVY IMMIGRATION TO CANADA IN NEAR FUTURE

London, Nov. 18.—Herbert Samuel, former British postmaster-general, believes that a great immigration to Canada will take place in the near future. High prices will give an impetus to the movement towards food-producing countries. Emigration from Eastern Europe was growing steadily before the war, and a big movement from this quarter might present one of the most formidable problems for Canada in the future, he said.

DON'T LET THIS CHANCE SLIP

The Gold Centre property consists of four claims of 160 acres, entirely surrounded by some of the greatest producing gold mines in the world, such as Hollinger, McIntyre, Dome Extension and Dome. The location of the property, the record of the mines around it, and the geology of the district, all point to the possibility of Gold Centre developing into equally as great a mine as any surrounding it.

The T. & N. O. Railway passes directly through the property as well as the electric power lines of the Northern Ontario Light and Power Company.

DEVELOPMENT BEGINS AT ONCE.

All that is needed to make the mine a leader is intelligent and honest development work. Every doffar received from this offering will immediately go into the treasury for the carrying-on of such work, which first will consist of diamond drilling to cut the veins at a depth of about 500 feet at a number of different points. This work will be under the direct supervision of Mr. P. M. Walton, M.E., A.I.M.E. If you feel that you would like to join with the practical Business and Mining Men of years of experience in this field, in the development of gold properties of exceptional promise and where the funds will be expended in a conscientious and intelligent effort to make the enterprise a real success in a short time, fill in the subscription form below and mail at once.
