

EVERYTHING READY FOR BIG EXHIBITION

Every Available Inch of Space Taken by the Exhibitors.

SPECIAL FEATURES

Munitions and Patriotic Displays Will Be Big Attractions.

All that is now required by the Canadian National Exhibition is good weather. Everything is in the way of the opening of the big fair. Exhibitors have taken every available inch of space, and the large tent has been erected to take care of the overflow of the automobile exhibits, the directors have had to refuse space to many motor concerns.

Yesterday a party of newspaper men, personally conducted by Dr. Orr, made a tour of the grounds and buildings. Everywhere men were busy making final arrangements, and it was difficult to realize that these were the same grounds and buildings that were vacated in July. Great credit is due to the parks department for the condition which the grounds and flower beds are now in. Despite the hot, hot weather, wonders have been accomplished and the grounds now look even better than ever.

Munitions Exhibit a Feature. The munitions exhibit is going to be a big attraction this year. In this display may be seen all the processes of the manufacture of munitions, from the ingot and harmless material, step by step the manufacture of high explosive and shrapnel shells may be observed. Yesterday men were unloading a 3½ ton ingot of iron and an 18-inch torpedo was being unpacked under the supervision of Thomas Miller, instructor at Haultain in the torpedo sub-depot. Mr. Miller has been in the navy for 36 years, and will explain the workings of the torpedo to visitors during the fair.

Yesterday he stopped unpacking operations long enough to give a brief explanation of the torpedo. It is a long cigar-shaped steel-cased young submarine that will look like a brown cow after being started from the torpedo tube. Despite weather conditions a gyroscopic device keeps it from deviating from the course it is given. At the depth for which it is set it will travel to the object intended at the rate of 28 knots, and on striking the object a firing pistol or war-head explodes 220 pounds of gun cotton, a charge sufficient to penetrate 29 inches of solid iron.

It is an 18-inch royal gun factory, brackets for submerged fire, and Mr. Woolwich, Mark 1 Torpedo, with side Miller will be on hand to thoroughly explain its complicated mechanism. A miniature powder mill will also be a feature of the munitions exhibit, and motion pictures will be shown of the manufacture of war materials in any Canadian plant.

Exhibition of Toys. In the government building there is a very large exhibit of some 30,000 toys. With the exception of five booths, all of these have been made in Canada. Hon. Geo. Foster has a collection of toys bought in London, representing the class of toys in greatest demand in the English market in these five booths.

These toys are not all of allied manufacture but were bought in London to be exhibited in order that Canadian manufacturers might see the class of toys required for the export trade to England, and the government will be glad to furnish Canadian manufacturers with the prices at which it is necessary to lay these toys down in England in order to obtain business.

are represented in the standing grain competitions, the grain of the winners in the various sections being on exhibit in the government building.

The vegetable growers are also represented and there is a splendid exhibit of wool. Large ventilating fans have been installed in the dome of the manufacturing building and a high efficiency system of lighting has been installed both in the buildings and throughout the grounds. A new style of standard has been adopted to carry the outside lights and strings of colored bulbs will also add to the effect.

The grand stand spectacle will be lit up by the flood system from the top of the grand stand. About thirty huge candle power lamps, using sufficient power to supply forty of the big search lights used on the battlefield are being used.

Patriotic Exhibitions. Another interesting feature will be the official flags from different parts of the empire. One was received yesterday from Robert J. Smith, lord mayor of Cardiff, Wales, being the Welsh standard, and another arrived from Hongkong.

On the water front the engineers are busy erecting their observation tower and promise to give an elaborate display of naval operations. This morning the advance party of the 169th Battalion arrived to prepare their model camp. Trenches will be constructed on the same specifications as they are at the front and the dugouts will be 16 feet underground, giving an exact representation of those occupied at the front.

CANADIAN DRAGOONS OUT AFTER RECRUITS

The Royal Canadian Dragoons have opened an office for recruiting at 47 King street. This unit is the only regular cavalry regiment in eastern Canada, now recruited and trained at Stanbury, Ontario, and sent overseas every two or three months. The men are comfortably housed in a regular barracks amidst all the surroundings and traditions of a regular soldier's quarters.

There are now vacancies for several men, horsemen, saddlers, blacksmiths, who are not particularly anxious for being overseas right away, men who would be willing to assist in the regular routine work and instruction of others. Conditions of enlistment are the same as for all C.M.R. units.

OIL IS ASSURED AT PEACE RIVER

New Well Running Over With Crude Petroleum of Good Quality.

ENTHUSIASM AROUSED

Many Prospectors Securing Leaseholds on Property in Vicinity.

(From Peace River Record)

While little work has been done at the oil well of the Peace River Oil Company since the first appearance of oil in the well more than a week ago, indications at the well are that the strike will prove to be a genuine one. Mr. Slack, manager of the company, has returned from a trip to Edmonton, where he was procuring necessary materials for the further drilling of the hole, and on Monday commenced operations at a point on the Smoky River not many miles from Peace River. Others who have secured leaseholds on property which has strong indications of oil hope to have drilling outfits here within a few weeks, and it will be surprising if many outfits are not at work in the immediate vicinity of Peace River during the present season.

showed that the hole, which is 860 feet deep and will average eight inches in diameter, is full to the top with crude petroleum. A pump was run into the hole by gas pressure, which is steadily maintained forcing the oil to flow from two to four barrels per day, and a quantity estimated at from two to four barrels per day is flowing from the top of the well and escaping by flowing into the river.

When asked as to his opinion of the hole, Mr. Slack expressed an optimistic than ever. He was merely awaiting the capping for the pipe, he stated, when drilling would be resumed on Thursday. He believes that a real body of oil has been touched at either the surface or at the side, and the great pressure of the oil or gas, or of both, is forcing this oil and a seive of oil sand or porous rock. This may make possible the locating of the actual body of oil by further drilling, provided they are now at the top of the oil bed. Should they be at one side, however, further drilling cannot be expected to bring anything more than is now being obtained from the hole. In this event, the drill will make a short test of the hole, and should satisfactory results not be obtained it will be raised and a new well begun in another place, probably in close proximity to the first hole.

Already the strike has aroused the interest of other oil men, and it is reported on good authority that another drilling outfit is being shipped over the E. D. & B. C. railway to commence operations at a point on the Smoky River not many miles from Peace River. Others who have secured
