SPOILED HIS HARD HAT BY STRIKING AWNING

Editor Times-Star:—While passing along Mill street last evening on my way home from the office, I ran violently into an awning bracket which had torn away from a building and was a grave danger to the public, especially that part nearly six feet tall. I spoiled a new hard hat in my collision with the bracket, and I think it would be only fair if the awnings throughout the whole town were adjusted to the proper height, if there is a standard given in the city by-laws. INDIGNANT CITIZEN.

SUDDEN DEATH OF JAS. DILLON

Stricken in Depot Just After Returning From His Brothers Summer Home in Nauwigewauk

All who heard the sad news were shocked this morning at the sudden death of James Dillon, one of the best known residents of this city. His death occurred at 6.15 in the Union depot, after he had come from the summer home of his brother, Thos. E. Dillon, in Nauwigewauk, where he had gone on Wednesday in the hope of improving his health. Death was due to heart trouble. Mr. Dillon had just stepped off the train when it reached the depot, when he complained of feeling poorly. He was seen to stagger as he went across the track to go into the baggage room. Those about feared death death was at hand and a priest and doctor were hurriedly summoned. Rev. Wm. Duke arrived in time to administer the last rites of the church to the dying man. Soon after Mr. Dillon passed away. Coroner D. E. Berryman viewed the body and gave permission for removal.

Mr. Dillon was fifty years of age. Up to a little while ago, he was in the Maple Leaf Tea Company in Germain street, and previous to that had been in business for himself, after a partnership between him and T. Collins was dissolved six years ago. He is survived by his father, Patrick Dillon, three brothers, and three sisters. The brothers are: John, Thomas E. and Joseph, and the sisters are Mrs. T. Collins, Mrs. John McGrath, and Miss Alice Dillon, all of this city. The time of the funeral has not yet been decided upon.

TRYING TO SHIELD DYKEMAN; WOMAN REPORTED TO COURT

Mrs. Stackhouse Draws Comment From Bench in Carleton Case—Prisoner is Remanded

The case against Frank Dykeman charged with breaking glass in the store of Mrs. Stackhouse, Prince street, West Side, and also wandering about without giving a satisfactory account of himself, was dealt with this morning in the police court. The evidence of Mrs. Stackhouse was taken, and E. S. Ritchie appeared for Dykeman.

Mrs. Stackhouse said she was informed of the breaking of glass and on going to the shop found some boxes of chocolates scattered about the candy counter. Policeman Lee produced some confectionery, which he had taken from the defendant. The woman could not identify it as hers, although she said that it was similar to what had been in her store. His Honor was showing the chocolates to His Honor she seemed uncertain as to whether or not they were hers, and did not show a stick of yellow candy, which was wrapped in a paper. Policeman Lee, saw it and she said to him that it was identical with that she had in her store.

His Honor said that though she was the prosecutor in the case, she had tried hard to shield the defendant, and he commented on her being reluctant to testify.

ALBERT COUNTY WOMAN IS HEAD OF BOSTON DENTAL HOSPITAL

A recent despatch from Boston told of the founding of a dental hospital there for the free treatment of the boys and girls of the crowded west end district. The institution is in charge of Dr. Alice Steeves, a former New Brunswick girl, who has made a name for herself in the dental profession of the United States.

Dr. Steeves was born and educated in Coverdale, Albert county, and graduated as a nurse from the Massachusetts General Hospital, about twelve or fifteen years ago. She then took up the study of dentistry and was for a time clinical instructor in dentistry in the University of Chicago.

She undertook her present work in Boston about a year ago, when the free dental hospital was founded through the generosity of a philanthropic person. Her work among the 'children' has been very successful and she has been very highly commended.

Mrs. J. Grover Watts, of this city, is a sister of Dr. Steeves.

When arrested the prisoner's face was bleeding, and there was a lump on his forehead, where he had apparently been kicked. Maher told the policeman that he could remember nothing of the encounter.
