General Condition in Province Not Considered Serious at Present.

(Special to The Times.) Fredericton, N. B., July 18.—The forest fire situation has changed little since Monday, when fires were reported at Cain's River and Coal Branch, Kent county. One new fire has been reported, ten miles up Jacquet's River, Restigouche county. No detailed information is available. The department has no further information concerning the fire at Cain's River and Coal Branch. They are considered to be of no great extent. The observation towers have been manned again. As there are no reports from them, conditions are not considered bad. Showers are expected to aid in keeping down the fire hazard. Bathurst had an hour's rain this morning, and Chipman reports weather cloudy.

TALE OF ST. JOHN MAN IN FREDERICTON

(Fredericton Mail.) A smooth tongued gent from St. John who was one of our commercial travelers, put one over on some acquaintances here on Wednesday evening. He arrived on the boat and was broke when he stepped ashore. Soon afterwards he met a commercial man of his acquaintance and after explaining to him that he belonged to a youthful party and was short of funds, he touched him for a five spot. He got the money, promised to refund it by return mail and made his way up town. Later in the evening he accosted a hotel man, patted him on the back, called him by initials and hit him up for a tenner. The hotel man being favorably impressed gave him the money and took his I. O. U. in exchange. The commercial man who had loaned the $5 to the stranger is still in the city and yesterday is reported to have entered a store in Regent street where he was negotiating a loan with the proprietor on the strength of an alleged signature of name. This time he was unsuccessful. He will probably be called upon to face a charge of obtaining money under false pretences.

COURT CASE OVER HALF DAY'S PAY

C. N. R. Section Man Proceeds Against Foreman on Assault Charge.

A quarrel between a C. N. R. section foreman and one of the section men over a half day's pay had its sequel this morning in the police court when James Rossiter was charged with assaulting Joseph Walsh.

Walsh, who gave his address as 85 Gilbert's Lane, said the accused was a section foreman on the C. N. R. He said he had been a half day's pay short and had gone to the foreman about it, but the foreman told him he would get no more time from him and had called him an abusive name, had struck him on the right and left sides of the face, knocked him down and attempted to strike him with a spade and attempted to kick him. Rossiter said he had been discharged the witness followed away from the scene and attempted to strike the accused and there had been no previous trouble.

Rossiter said the witness had attempted to strike him with a spade and had used abusive language to him. O'Neill said the foreman had sent him away for a lack of the argument. The witness had taken the time had been away. When he returned he had seen Walsh with a spade in his hand. The spade had been seen in Rossiter's possession and he had taken it away from him. He had then seen Rossiter push it away, and then the plaintiff had fallen down. He had told Rossiter to leave the thing alone. Barry, appearing for Walsh, said he had not interfered but had told Rossiter: "Better let the spade stay where it is." Walsh had been struck in the face. He himself worked under Rossiter. He thought Walsh had attempted to strike Rossiter with the spade.

Albert Kelly, a C. N. R. trackman, said that Rossiter had walked down the track and that he had seen Walsh talking and saw Walsh with a spade over his shoulder as though to strike Rossiter. The latter had taken the spade away from Walsh. He had seen Walsh fall to the ground but did not know whether he had been struck or not. Walsh had been told to get up and Rossiter had said he would not give him his pay. His evidence corroborated that of James Frothing, Harvey Garnett and William Armstrong. The latter said Walsh had used indecent language to the accused.

Rossiter said he had struck the complainant in self-defence. Walsh had not worked that half day. To Mr. Barry he said he had the power to dismiss him under his charge for cause. He had not been drinking on that day and declined to say whether he drank or not. The magistrate suggested that Walsh be taken back by Rossiter and given another trial. Rossiter said that would be all right if he had a guarantee that Walsh would be "scotched." Walsh emphatically declined to return and the magistrate's effort at mediation failed. He suggested that the two get together and try to arrange a settlement. The case could be resumed on Friday morning at ten o'clock in the event of failure to agree.

EAST ST. JOHN PROBLEMS. To the Editor of The Times: Sir,—In the interest of a sanitary East St. John you kindly permit me space in your paper to publish the following. Once the question of pure water supply has been solved, the next problem is that of dairy products, which form such a selected part of our summer diet. It is not in the milk alone that typhoid can flourish, but also in its derivatives. It will stay in cream even longer than in milk, latter made from infected milk will be dangerous for several days after churning. Both these risks are now so sharply pointed out by officers in the course of their monthly inspections that milk cuts a very small figure in the typhoid rate.

The next common cause of infection that little foe of all the world, the house fly. The high crimes and misdemeanors of that rascally insect need no elaboration here nor will one more charge of murder much disturb his sinful soul. Suffice it to say that he should be slain without pity wherever and whenever found. He should be exterminated in every scope of his evil deeds by prevention at both ends of the line. Screening every case of typhoid keeps his marauding habits from the germs, and by leaving no door or window unsecured in your house gives him no chance to dump his unwelcome passengers on your floor. Cleaning up dirt piles, dumps and refuse heaps of our own making robs him of his chances of being born.

The only other way in which typhoid can travel is on a bare foot. Those who are nursing a case of it or of other persons who have had the disease, but still carry the germs of it in their gall bladders, known as typhoid carriers. Now, let East St. John rise as one man for a proper system of water and sewerage, and do it today. I have in my possession a letter in answer to my proposal to His Worship Mayor Schofield, dated in the city on a bare foot of five years free of taxes, dated Mayor's Office, August 4, 1921. I have another one from His Worship along the same lines, dated March 30, 1922, and one dated March 16, 1922, and two from our present mayor, May 11, 1922, and June 10, 1922, which prove conclusively that the committee, of which he is one, has been inactive until I put the pulpitator on them through your paper.

Yours truly, JAS. A. SHEEHAN. East St. John, N. B., July 17, 1922.

future generations. This virus prevents the tree from taking root and spreading its branches. It is indeed a breeding and sterilizer. The other poisons of procreator who, if not treated properly, shall beget children marred from birth, deformed or crippled, whose essence in the home shall bring daily grief and continual reproach. The evil is great. The harm done by the venereal diseases is unappreciated, that it is for a common interest that heroic efforts must be made to arrest and prevent them. Every woman of patients should know that the so-called quick doctors are not sufficient, it is important that the public be acquainted with the knowledge of venereal disease, so that it may combat it in the future. The clinics which were opened a year ago, reveal to us the ignorance and inexperience of the greater number of the patients attending them. The sight of so much preventable moral and physical suffering has led me to hope of seeing in the near future, in my students during the course of their studies, that the venereal diseases shall be given to high school pupils and university students by medical men specially selected for this work. I wish also to see a day, when these same lectures illustrated by slides, shall be given in our industrial centres from which a large number of our citizens are being drawn. This is done elsewhere, why would we not do likewise? An old proverb may be justly applied here: "To prevent is easier than to cure." My first dream would be to have the department of health, with the assistance of a group of physicians specially trained in this branch of medical science. Furthermore, these inspectors could play the part of medical educators to the students of the school year and to the working class during the summer. ATTEND WHOLE CONFERENCE OR IGNORE ALL

Russians Refused to Take Part at Sub-Commission Meeting at Hague.

The Hague, July 18.—The Russian delegation to the conference of experts refused to attend this morning's meeting of the joint sub-commission on private property. Instead, they are sending a letter saying they will attend at the whole conference or a meeting of the whole conference or a meeting of the chairman of the three sub-commissions, single sub-commission.

The non-Russian sub-commission on property had decided yesterday to meet the Russian delegates today and hear any proposals the Soviet representatives desired to make concerning restitution or compensation for confiscated property. A full meeting of the non-Russian delegates was called for four p.m. today. In his letter, the Russian delegation, strongly criticized the attitude taken by the European representatives in their invitation to a meeting as being in violation of equality absolutely unacceptable. He declared that failure to arrange a general meeting would mean the ruin not only of the work of The Hague conference, but of the Genoa conference as well, and would destroy the hope of millions of men in all the countries of Europe.

IT ALL DEPENDS. (Canadian Finance) The actual value of the human body is about ninety-eight cents. The man who earns $200 a month has a capital value of $80,000. The difference between the intrinsic value of ninety-eight cents and the capital value of $80,000 is the value placed by the world upon the individual's ability to do something—it fluctuates with the ability and personality of the individual. Are there any ninety-eight cent men in your community?
