We can picture to ourselves nothing so innocent as a child uncontaminated by the world, carefully guarded from evil communications. It is during the first ten or twelve years of its life that the foundation of the child's future career is laid, and if its mother recognizes her responsibility to her offspring and the world she will lay it herself. his or her mother this little boy or girl

New York, Oct. 13—Society generally approves of the action of Miss Helena Stallo, the twenty-year old daughter of Edmund K. Stallo, and granddaughter of the late Alexander McDonald of the Standard Oil Co., who broke her engagement to Nils Florman, a good looking Swede, on discovering that his father was at one time a "rubber" in a Turkish bath establishment and his stepmother, a professional masseuse. Ever since Miss Stallo and her sister Laura inherited $30,000,000 from their grandfather they have been regarded as among the most desirable "catches" among the younger heiresses of the country.

In addition to their great wealth they are both extremely good looking and cultured a trinity of virtues and always a trunch of the stablishment and the world she will lay it herself.

The manly or womanly child, innocent and frank, respectful to its elders and brotherly or sisterly with its companions, reminds me of Eden and its tenants, before the advent of evil in the world, and I say to myself that in later years that child is likely to be regarded as a living monument to its mother's virtues and love. We may at times forget a mother's love and admonitions, but they are often disregarded.

I have a letter from a septuagenarian with whom I was intimate many years ago. He writes: "How vividly I recall the teachings of my mother as I rested against her knee, oh, so many years ago! Though they were sometimes forgotten, to

New York Babies

Former President Roosevelt's advice concerning children as a community and national asset is being heeded by New York, according to the latest statistics prepared by the sponsors of the Municipal Budget Exhibition now being held here for the education of taxpayers. By the figures shown at the exhibit a baby is born in the city every four minutes throughout the year, with a death every seven minutes and a marriage every eleven minutes, and a marriage every eleven minutes, from this it will be seen that the babies have decidedly the best of it. As dissocted into zones, the record discloses, a maximum of births among the tenements of the congested East Side of the city and a minimum in the fashionable residential sections. Fifth Avenue and the abutting streets, wherein the so called "400" reside, stand at the bottom of the list, many blocks showing no births at all during theyear as compared to 100 births in some of the blocks occupied by the poor.

The element which contributes most to the city's steadily advancing growth are those of foreign birth, with the first generation of hative daughters second and the so called "American" type last and least.

Sharpers on Board hip

In spite of the repeated warnings posted in staterooms and elsewhere on the transatlantic liners, passengers continue to fall at easy prey to professional gamblers who, it is estimated, clean up $550,090 a season in their operations. Realizing that he had been "trimmed" after he had lost $500 playing dice with two sharpers, a wealthy importer on the incoming liner Deutschland, the other day lost his temper and gave one of them a drubbing he will not soon forget. The fight occurred in the (Continued on naze 10, third column).

It has made women more intelligent companions for their husbands and better able to instruct their children. There is not the least likelihood that woman suffrage will be repealed. We know a good thing when we have it. The superiority of woman suffrage is so evident that you never hear any man except a fool or a partisan of some rascally interest who is unwise enough to question it."

AN OBJECT LESSON
There are about 75,000 more children of school age in New York City than can be accommodated in the public schools. With the reopening of the schools after the vacation has come the mortifying discovery that, instead of the increase of school accommodation keeping pace with the increase of pupils, or gaining upon it, the gap between the number of pupils and the number of seats has grown enormously. More than 75,000 children have had to be placed on "part time," i. e., they will be taught in relays, the pupils getting fewer hours' schooling than they ought to have, and the overworked teach-

Miss Margaret Haley is speaking in the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the State should have too much pride to permit the "almond-eyed sons of Confucius" to dictate in the matter of suffrage to the American women. In this connection she told how three American college girls, members of the College Equal Suffrage Association, had gone to the president of the native-born Chinese voters in San Francisco and asked him to use his influence to have the Chinese vote for the suffrage amendment.

"And what do you suppose his answer was?" queried Miss Haley, "Why, that almond-eyed son of Confucius turned to those gul's and told them that he had given the question due consideration, and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers report her as saying that the voters of the California campaign and the papers release concert in the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association will inaugurate their lecture course for the Sasociation will inaugurate.
