The Old and the Young ARE ALIKE CURED BY THE USE OF GATES' FAMILY MEDICINES.

AVONDALE, Pictou Co., January 14, 1898. Messrs. C. Gates, Son & Co.:

Dear Sirs:—This is to certify that my father had an attack of the La Grippe, about four years ago. The doctor was called and said he would do nothing for him as he was so old, being then 84, but when there is life there is hope, and having your Bitters and Syrup in the house, we began to give them to him, when he got better, and after about three months was entirely recovered. He is now in his 90th year and is well and hearty. Your CERTAIN CHECKER speedily cured a neighbor woman of Cholera-morbus. My grandchild, about two months old, was taken with Diarrhoea and was taking doctor's medicine for some weeks, but it continued getting worse and it became chronic, so that the child got to look like an old person; it was plain to be seen its little life was fast ebbing away. Now I had your CERTAIN CHECKER in the house but not at that time being acquainted with its use I was for some days afraid to give it to a child so young and weak. I was convinced if the child did not get immediate relief it would die, so I told its mother to put 3 or 3 drops of the CERTAIN CHECKER in its bottle (as it drank from the bottle) and in about 24 hours it was noticed the child was a little better, this was continued for about a week when it was all right, and is today a healthy child. I am, Gentlemen, Yours very truly,

W. MURRAY.
Sworn before me this 15th day of January, 1898.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Strengthen the Kidneys and help to cure the declining years comfortably.

Mr. W. G. Muggford, Chestnut Street, Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes:

"For the past two years I have had much trouble with disease of the kidneys and non-retention of urine, was dropped and suffered a great deal with pain in my back. I have been greatly benefited by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

The Home

Telling a Fortune.

Even in this intelligent age of the world there are too many people who believe in the humbuggery of "fortune telling;" but if all so-called fortune tellers were as frank as the one mentioned in the following story, which may or may not be true, they would have fewer patrons than they now have. A man was having his fortune told.

"I see," said the "seventh daughter of a seventh daughter," contracting her eyebrows, "I see the name of John."

"Yes," said the sitter, indicating that he had heard the name before.

"The name seems to have given you a great deal of trouble."

"It has."

"This John is an intimate friend."

"That's so," he said wonderingly.

"And often leads you to do things you are sorry for."

"True," every word.

"His influence over you is bad."

"Right again."

"But you will soon have a serious quarrel, when you will become estranged."

"I'm glad of that. Now spell out his whole name."

The fortune teller opened one eye and carefully studied the face of the visitor. Then she wrote some cabalistic message, and handed it to him in exchange for her fee.

"Do not read it until you are at home," she said solemnly. "It is your friend's name."

When he reached home he lit the gas and gravely examined the paper. There he read in picket-fence characters, the name of his friend, "Demi John."—Ex.

Wait For The Mad to Dry.

Father Graham, as everybody in the village called him, was one of the old-fashioned gentlemen of whom there are a few left now. He was beloved by every one, and his influence in the little town was great, so good, so active was he.

A young man of the village had been badly insulted, and came to Father Graham full of angry indignation, declaring that he was going at once to demand an apology.

"My dear boy," Father Graham said, "take a word of advice from an old man who loves peace. An insult is like mud; it will brush off much better when it is dry. Wait a little till he and you are both cool, and the thing is easily mended. If you go now it will only be to quarrel."

It is pleasant to be able to add that the young man took his advice, and before the next day was done, the insulting person came to beg forgiveness.—Exchange.

Value of a Happy Home.

"Better is a dry morsel and quietness therewith, than an house full of sacrifices and strife."

A home may be crowded with good things, but with all these good things, if strife has its abode there, it is an unhappy home. On the other hand, there may be only a dry morsel, but if quietness reigns there it is a happy home.

You may live in a mansion finely furnished; your table may be furnished with the richest provisions that the markets can afford; you may have servants and all else that this world can afford, but what do all these things amount to if there be contention and strife in that home? What a luxury is a happy home!—Christian Standard.

Only a Little.

Every day a little knowledge. One fact in a day. How small is one fact? Only one ten years pass by. Three thousand six hundred and fifty facts are not a small thing.

Every day a little self-denial. The thing that is difficult to do to-day will be an easy thing to do 365 days hence, if each day it shall be repeated. What power of self-mastery shall he enjoy who seeks every day to practice the grace he prays for?

Every day a little happiness. We live for the good of others, if our living be in sense true living. It is not in great deeds of kindness only that the blessing is found. In "little deeds of kindness," repeated every day, we find true happiness. At home, at school, in the street, in the neighbor's house, in the playground, we shall find opportunity every day for usefulness.—Selected.

At the house-furnishing shops is seen a new tool for the carver, which will be especially liked by the inexperienced. This is a joint divider, and is a rather formidable looking combination of knife and scissors, which cuts the toughest joint in a fowl or bird at once. It may be added that the practice of having the joints carved in the kitchen and served in slices from a platter is a very sensible one to adopt in the average private family. It is one man out of twenty who is a good carver, and the other nineteen simply accept their ignorance in the matter, and never try to better it. If the mistress of the household superintended the carving in the kitchen for a few meals, she would find that any but a very stupid maid learns very quickly how to slice roast beef, lamb, mutton, or a fowl properly, and the relief it would be to the former carver, as well as to the other diners, cannot be appreciated until it is experienced.

Cocoa is as useful in making chocolate frosting as the plain chocolate. A confectioner's recipe for a quick soft frosting is to mix a heaping tablespoonful of cocoa with a cupful of confectioners' sugar. Enough warm water is then added to make it spread easily over the cake—perhaps four tablespoonfuls or possibly a little more. If a bit of essence is desired to tone the chocolate flavor, it may be used.

Preserved orange peel is useful for putting into cakes or pies with raisins or whatever dried fruits may be used. Wash the peel in several waters, then boil it in clear water until it can be pierced with a straw. Drain the peel, and when cold remove the white or inner skin with a spoon. Make a syrup in the proportions of half a pound of granulated sugar to half a pint of water; using sufficient liquid to cover all the peel. Put it over the fire, and when the syrup comes to boiling put in the peel and place it over the back of the fire so it will cook slowly until clear. Then place the pan where the contents will boil and the surplus syrup will be quickly absorbed. Spread the peel upon plates and stand it in a warm place over nights to dry. The peel may be cut into shreds and will keep in a tin box or closely covered jar any length of time. Candied orange peel is particularly nice in Indian pudding.

Make Old Dresses New.

Diamond Dyes the Simplest and Easiest Way of Home Dyeing.

Their Great Superiority Over All Other Ways of Home Dyeing—A Ten-Cent Package Will Color From One to Five Pounds of Goods—Colors That Will Not Wash Out in Strong Soapsuds.

Success in home dyeing depends wholly upon the kind of dyes used. With Diamond Dyes, if the simple directions on the package are followed carefully, and the special dyes for cotton are used for cotton and mixed goods, and the wool dyes used for woolen, there is absolutely no chance of failure.

Diamond Dyes are very simple and easy to use, and by using a stick to lift the goods while in the dye bath, there is no need of soiling the hands. For beauty, brilliancy, and fastness, no other dye stuffs, whether for home use or for the dye-shop, equal the Diamond. The latest scientific discoveries are used in their manufacture, they are guaranteed the strongest and fastest of all known dyes, and their solid colors will not wash out in the strongest soapsuds, nor will they fade when exposed to the sunlight.

The Diamond Dyes once, and see how easy it is to make old and faded dresses, waists, ribbons, coats, etc., look like new.
