CLEVELAND PROSPECTS VERY POOR

Fans who have quit expecting anything of the Cleveland Naps this year need not start building air castles on next season's prospects. The outlook for 1915 seems just as dismal as the chances of Birney's present team getting out of the cellar.

Nap scouts report the rookie crop to be the poorest ever. A few players have been bought to report as soon as possible and others will be purchased, but the men booked to come in are not doped as being any better than these now on hand.

The Nap farms will not harvest much of a crop this year. Portland has no players who loom up as real promising and neither has New Orleans or Waterbury.

The Dodgers finally won a game. It is now time for Owner Ebbets to stage a double bill in celebration.

ST. JOHN LOSES TO HOULTON

Special to The Standard.

Houlton, Me., Aug. 6.—Houlton's baseball team defeated the St. John team in a well played game here this afternoon. The visitors made a very good showing both in the field and at bat, while the Houlton boys held their own and pulled off some nice plays. O'Regan, McNulty and Robinson played a fast game for the St. John team while Hart and Harrigan starred for the home team. A fairly good crowd witnessed the game. The line-up:

If the umpires don't cease calling out some of the Giants when they are plainly out, King McGraw will sever all diplomatic relations. But that wouldn't be anything new for John to do.

If he formed a triple alliance with them, that would be something, but then maybe it wouldn't. Lots of other managers claim right now that theumps favor John's gang.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

If you have ever fumed and fussed, because of dirt and grime and rust, and said unto yourself, "Oh, dear! This household work will kill me!"—then it is time that you should find some other method far more kind.

Of all the woes a housewife bears, one always fills her day with cares: The kitchen after-meal-time mess, is quite enough to make one fuss. What, with the pots and pans and plates, and the knives and forks and plates and cans, no task of man, however grim, the half as mean is handed him.

Two little willing workers aim to enter in this household games their job, the lessening of work, a task that neither of them shirk. With active little hands and brains they grab the irksome household reins, till soon each kettle, pot or dish, is just as bright as you could wish.

And not until the chores are done, from sink to silver, sun to sun, could anything inspire the two, to drop the tasks they have to do.

Therefore, if you have never known, assistance such as we have shown, your troubles end, where joy begins. Now, Mrs. Drudge, the Gold Dust Twins! Henceforth, as dishes congregate, and dingy pots that cannot wait, when culinary in an array, awaits you at the close of day—"Cheer Up!" Forget the labor planned: You have two aids at your command.

Steel Wire Rope, Galvanized Wire Ripping, English and Canadian Flags, Oakum, Pitch, Tar, Paints, Oils, Stoves, Stove Fittings and Tinware.

THIS DATE IN RING ANNALS

Friday, August 7, 1914.

1818—Peter Crawley defeated Ben Butcliffe near Kingston, Eng. Crawley, who became champion of England by whipping Jem Ward in 1827, was then a butcher who followed fighting only as a side line, and the same was true of his opponent. In those days it was the custom of candidates for office to employ fighting men to look after their interests on election days; and Crawley and Butcliffe were employed by opposing candidates. This association led to a quarrel, and the ring battle was the result, both butchers having carefully bottled up their wrath until they could get a purse for looking it.

A great crowd of sports witnessed the bout, which lasted fifty minutes before Crawley triumphed over his rival. Peter won many battles in the succeeding years, and also conducted a butcher shop and a boxing school in the same building. His defeat of Jem Ward for the title came as a great surprise, but Crawley refused to fight again, and retired from the ring shortly after receiving the belt. He opened a public house in London, and as a sporting boniface enjoyed great popularity until his death, at a ripe old age, in 1865.

1818—Ned Painter defeated Tom Spring in 42 rounds at Mordeford, Eng.

1906—Harry Baker defeated Frankie Neil in 20 rounds at Los Angeles.

Cobb and Crawford got more hits for extra bases, yet a majority of the fans would choose Connie Mack's great cleanup hitters, Collins and Baker. If asked to name the best hitting combination in the major leagues.

K—Picked—Sport adds: "I can't say Joe Tinker has become so disgusted with his recent batting that he has dropped himself down to the lower half of the batting order. Joe is not batting as well in the Federal league as he did last year with the Cincinnati club."

Western papers are picking Jack Knight of the Cleveland A. A. team as being one of the players likely to go to the majors from the American association. Knight has been on the pay-roll of four minor league clubs, but, of course, that does not bar him from further trial.

BAT SEASON FOR BATSMEN IN BIG SHOW

This has been a bad season for some of the major league batmen who came to the front with fat averages last season. Some of the veterans, of many years' standing, have gone back and some of the youngsters, who look ed like swatting phenoms last year and early this season, are keeping company with them.

"Beauty" Kavanaugh of the Detroit Tigers started out like a wild man this spring, but the hurriers have tamed him considerably. His timely swats put the Tigers in the running. He is still unhooking a healthy pinch hit once in a while, but his average has shrunk to .342 and threatens to continue going down. Eddy Murphy, lead-off man for the Athletics, finished the 1913 season with a mark of .295. He started at an even faster clip this year, but his average has dropped to the .322 mark.

Ping Bodie came into the American league with the reputation of being a fence buster. He's busting the barriers at a .240 clip. Bunty Leibold looked like a coming savior last season. He's going H. H. at a .235 pace now.

Steve O'Neill of the Naps, who hit .255 last season, has a measly .201 average to show for his efforts. He's going H. H. at a .235 pace now.

Frank Schatz, former Red, now with the Red Sox, who wielded the stick for a .275 record last year, is hitting an even .200. Manager Merriman of the Naps is down to .146 and Fred Blanding and Dick Bender, who were handy with the clubs up to this year, are hitting .183 and .182, respectively.

In the National league Carey of the Pirates has fallen away to a .206 average. Sweeney, former Boston Brave, is hitting .206, and the king of home-run hitters a couple of seasons ago, boasts of the mighty mark of .218.

Dick Hobbs, former Red, now with the Red Sox, fell from .285 to .211. And we are saying very little about Hans Wagner, who has dropped to .250, and Nap Lajoie who is batting about .220.

CLIPS QUARTER OF SECOND OFF MILE RECORD

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 6.—Edward, who two weeks ago at Cleveland broke the four-year-old clip record held by Directum for twenty-one years, clipped another quarter of a second from the mark at today's Grand Circuit meet, when, driven by Geers in an exhibition mile, he covered the distance in 2:03.34.

King Couchman easily won the $3,000 Comstock stake for 2.11 pacers in a rain-soaked heat.

After finishing poorly in two heats of the 2:08 pace Omar showed surprising speed and captured the next three heats.

The handicap sweepstake was won by Grace, who started 162 feet back of the wire, the greatest handicap. The race went four heats, Grace taking the last two.

Nap Rucker, of the Brooklyn team, who up to this year was considered one of the best pitchers in the National league, underwent an examination by a physician on Friday last which showed that the muscles of his pitching arm have contracted into a sort of a bunion, which will probably prevent him pitching for some time. His detractors described him as a trouble maker, but the prospective father-in-law was a Quaker and opposed to violence in all its forms. He indignantly refused to consider Painter's suit unless he should solemnly promise to leave the ring and all its associations. Painter accepted the conditions and arranged to settle down as a tavern-keeper in Norwich. As preparations for the realization of his dream of bliss were being completed, however, the sporting papers began to be filled with accusations of cowardice and fraud directed against Painter. The Earl of Derby, who had been Ned's backer, was said to have inspired these accusations, and it was alleged that his lordship wrote some of the articles. With his honor thus impugned, Painter bade farewell to his sweetheart, and issued a challenge to Spring. They met near Kingston on August 7th, and from the first Painter was the master of the situation. At the end of an hour and four minutes Spring was stretched out senseless, and Painter was entitled to lay claim to the championship. With his honor satisfied, however, his thoughts returned to the Quaker girl, and he sped back to Norwich to beg forgiveness from the maiden and her enraged father. At first he was turned away, but persistence won, and the boxer who had thrown away his championship for the greater gift of love married his lady-love—and so we have every reason to believe—lived happily ever after.
