While the Government apparently does not scruple to break its own treaties, it is determined that its citizens—or, at least, these who are not in the ring—shall keep them. Hence it is almost certain that such expeditions would be forcibly stopped. A formidable and not the least important element in the cost of the trip is the risk which small parties incur of parting with their scalps to jealous Indians. But there is very little to be gained in a world of uncertainties without incurring risk of one sort or another.

They lived happliy to gether for a number of years, when the husband died, and his widow subsequently accepted a proposal of marriage from Capt. Demming, of Baltimore. Finding that the lady was acting in good faith, the captain made her large advances—$30,000.—as he maintains, with the hope of some day liquidating the claim by seizing the object of his benefaction. Subsequently, however, the lady met a younger and handsomer man and married him, leaving the captain without either security or money. Some time having elapsed, the aggrieved captain brought suit against his intended for the sum loaned, basing his right to recover upon the fact that she had violated her marriage promise. Owing to the alleged illness of some of the witnesses and of the defendant herself the plaintiff recently moved for the appointment of a commission to take the evidence of the absentees residing in Zanesville. About 150 witnesses have been examined by the commission, which occupied six days, sitting eight hours a day. The lady is said to have great personal at tractions, is very wealthy, and is now living with her fourth husband, her second being Mr. Choate, a brother of Rufus Choate. To add to the interest of the case the defendant has just sued Capt. Demming for slander, laying damages at $50,000. The alleged libel was the remark of Capt.
