This is the deeper meaning of Zionism.

Every footstep Zionward, every face set "thitherward," every accent and song that repeats the name of Zion, should be a warning and an exhortation to the church, to the individual Christian, to watch, to wait and, with uplifted foot on the threshold of any circumstance, be ready, as though the Master had already said, "Come up hither."

"For ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh."—Matthew 25: 13.
