

Our Home Department has done good work, but ought to be more widely extended. It is a most helpful aid to intelligent, systematic Bible study ; is easily within the reach of every member of the congregation ; makes no heavy demands on any one ; and binds the Church and School more closely together. If you have not as yet inquired into it and do not understand its workings, let some officer of the School know that you would like information. To know its methods of work will almost certainly ensure your membership.

We are glad to be able to report a more prosperous condition of our finances than for many years past. The debt which has been our heavy burden for a long time has been changed into a small surplus. This, however, is not wholly a cause for rejoicing, since it has been accomplished only by such rigid economy that the work of the School has been hampered to a considerable extent.

The Library has suffered most severely ; large numbers of the books being wholly unfit for service. In order to make it even reasonably effective, at least $200 will need to be expended for new books in the immediate future. Many other needed appliances for the School work have been denied in order that our debt might be wiped out.

Very faithfully yours,

LOCKBURN B. SCOTT,

Superintendent.
