EMPLOYER'S BENEFITS

A Remarkable

Preached by the Rev. Dr. Luke

At Last Year's Labor Convention in Notre Dame Church

THE English sermon, Day, 1904, was Rev. Dr. Luke's sermon on the pulpit of Notre Dame Church, Montreal.

Father Callaghan's sermon, "Labor like a good Jesus,"—Timothy chap.

and preached the following able discourse:

Jesus Christ, the Church, whose loyal sons you are, and clasp your admiration around the ideal workingman, your sole hope and comfort in death.

The Roman Catholic has been at all times and fearless champion of man in particular and classes in general. The Divine Founder, is the laborer in the field of labor is held. Had which she has always more strictly adhere heaven-inspired counsels been more scrupulous, there would be no any struggle between labor, between the employer, none of the strife, turmoil and we are called upon too often, on this and the globe.

RIGHTS OF WORKMAN

The workingman and obligations. The master, have theirs. mutual rights be recognized, the solution of the question of the Labor Question, will be, has rights, which should be respected. His capital is, in a sense, a benevolent human race. Consequently, he is entitled to gratitude, and to ample compensation for his enormous outlay of his investments and risks in trade and commerce. He necessarily treat his slaves, and pay them enable them to provide for the ordinary life for themselves and to reward them for his behalf. Nor should labor be too prolonged.

DUTY OF EMPLOYER

The employee must squarely by his employment deep interest in his even remember the "Honesty is the best policy" more economy and less more sobriety and less were practised, if the the homestead were the home of Nazareth be sufficient resources actual wants, and to provide rainy day, for the day, adversity and death. Strikes violent or peaceful be avoided at all costs. Hence teaches that for the wages derived thereby, they tend to impoverish man and his family, to debt and open up a most deplorable excess.

DEPLORES STRIKES

In a recent pastoral expressly for you my His Grace the Archbishop for the sake of God, for yourselves and your families have recourse to strikes you to employ every reconciliation, to use the influence of the best friends, impartial influence, if you wish, an amiable solution of ties and grievances, so that of other days may never You are all free men. a galling yoke which many You have many friends class to espouse your cause your battles. But when your chief pastors is that you do not be influenced by rogues who, under the friendship, are but too propagate their social
