MAINTAINING THE STANDARD

Editor, Guide:—I have just read your editorial "Maintaining the Standard." Having some little knowledge of journals and journalism I can appreciate that article fully. I know what it means to a publication to see the "golden apples" go by the board in such quantities. I am pleased to know at least one editor invulnerable to their lure. But your policy of discrimination has its reward. People have faith in The Guide's advertising. Personally I am partial to the "Farmers' Market Place." I consider it the best page of its kind published. Several farmers in this vicinity purchased commodities thru its ads, and all express themselves as more than satisfied. I had occasion to write to two of this page's patrons this summer. In each case I received a prompt and courteous reply and the articles ultimately obtained were A1. Wishing your success and continued freedom from questionable advertising and party politics I am, Yours truly, J. H. GRANT.

EXPERIMENTAL FARMS EXHIBIT

One of the features of the Calgary Exhibition this year was an ingeniously devised and excellently arranged exhibit prepared and sent out under the supervision of the Director of the Dominion Experimental Farms. It is of a most attractive character and shows what the various Experimental Farms are doing to help solve many of the most difficult problems that confront the farmers of Canada.

The exhibit consists of a set of panels included in a frontage of seventy-two feet. Two of the panels are devoted to the work of the Experimental Stations at Lethbridge and Lacombe, and the remainder to the general work of agricultural experimentation and demonstration that affects the whole of Canada. One of the sections shows very graphically the great advantage of mixed farming over one-crop farming. Another panel shows with telling emphasis the advantage accruing to the soil thru mixed farming, which makes possible a careful rotation of crops.

What has been done in the way of introducing improved strains of grain is shown by a very cleverly designed panel showing the great improvement in the wheat crop thru the use of Marquis wheat, which was originated by the Experimental Farms. The Prelude wheat, a new early-ripening variety, also originated by the Experimental Farms, is also illustrated. This variety will make possible profitable wheat growing in a vastly greater area northward in Canada than can be done at present. To describe all the excellent items of this splendid exhibit would take too much space. Besides, it should be seen to be fully appreciated.

The Dominion Experimental Farms are doing a lot of useful work and have gathered a great deal of valuable information, all of which may be had free for the asking. These farms are conducted for the benefit of the farmers of Canada and it is the desire of the government that the results obtained by experiments and research and all other information gathered be freely made use of. The purpose of the exhibit is to bring the work of the farms prominently before our people; to make known where they are located, and to invite enquiry concerning all phases of agriculture. The better the farms are understood, the more valuable they will be.

In connection with this exhibit and for distribution to all who may want them, about half a million circulars have been printed upon thirty-eight different farm topics. These circulars are not the bulky, cumbersome kind but can be easily folded and carried in the pocket. They give the information they contain in a brief, practical, useful way.
