CHARACTERISTIC

The editor of the Expositor boasts that when he was a member of the Ontario Legislature he brought in "a whole string of proposals for the benefit of labor."

When his side was in power? Not on your life.

His great activity was after the debauching cohorts of Rossiam had been licked, and then he got good and busy in the hope of embarrassing the Whitney Government, or else of forestalling something they had in mind.

This is what is known as high statesmanship.

Laurier's Fatuity

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had a big reception in Toronto last night.

He always does, but that fact has never yet been any solace to him when the Queen City returns come in at election.

This is what happened last contest with regard to the five seats there, all Tory: E. Bristol, 2162 majority; A. E. Kemp, 4630 over one man and 6301 over another; C. Macdonnell, 2363; Hon. Geo. Foster, 3317, and Sir E. B. Osler, 8007. Sir Wilfrid can have all the glory he likes at meetings there, so long as he bumps into hard, cold facts like the above, as he always does and always will.

As to his speech, it contained nothing new. His main ground is this: It is the part of Canada to come forward and take her share of the defence; that the boats shall be built, so far as it may be done, by Canadian labor, equipped and maintained by Canadian labor as well, manned by Canadian sailors under the control of the Canadian Government, of the Canadian Parliament and of the Canadian people.

He knows well enough that Canada is not at the present time able to build dreadnoughts; that a properly equipped plant would alone cost $75,000,000; that we have not the skilled artisans necessary for that class of work, and that Canadians are not a sea-going nation and do not take kindly to man-of-war discipline. Yet in face of all this he has the consummate nerve to talk as above!

The ex-premier also talked in a boastful way of forcing an election. He can't do that, and he won't. The Borden Government will go to the people just when they feel good and ready, and not a moment before.

Sir Wilfrid was accompanied by Hon. Mr. Murphy, who spoke of Premier Borden as "a weakling" and "dishonest," and that kind of thing is just about Murphy's contemptible size.

There was also one Dr. Clark, the Free Trade crank from Red Deer. In agonized tones he dwelt on the closure, while the good Grits yelled "Shame!" in staccato, fortissimo, and several other issimos.

Now this same Clark was once a member of the British House, where they also have closure, and he has more than once supported the same there.

And in this way you can get an excellent line on that worthy.

OUR CORNERED COTEM

The local Grit organ hates to be cornered, and yet, come to think of it, our cotem ought to be quite used to that experience by this time.

It started off by grossly misrepresenting the attitude of the Courier and itself with regard to municipal ownership of the waterworks, and now tries to creep out as follows:

The Expositor did not fight to hand over the waterworks to a private United States corporation, but, on the contrary, joined hands with the Liberal members of the City Council of that day in preventing Mr. Robert Henry and the Conservative members putting the deal through; in fact, as has already been stated, to the extent of making it impossible to get a quorum of the Council. All the older residents of Brantford know this to be the fact, and the Courier knows it, too.

This, at least, is one instance, and it does not stand alone, in which our contemporary has been deliberately seeking to misrepresent the position of an opponent.

You don't get out that way. The issue was not a political one in any sense, as shown by the fact that the editor of this paper was the first to fight for municipal control, and was later joined in that demand by Mr. C. B. Heyd. If there is a Tory particle in Heyd's make-up, the microscope has not yet been invented with a powerful enough lens to disclose the same.

So much for the clumsy effort of the organ to draw a party red herring across the track.

Now as to the Expositor attitude. The Courier stated, now reaffirms, and dares its cotem to deny, that the first and ardent attitude of the Expositor was that the citizens should hand the works over to a private monopoly, just as it fought for private monopoly in electric lighting, and so on. It has at last reluctantly admitted that fact itself in the following language:

It is true that the Expositor of 1887 did, for a time, advocate private ownership, but it never supported the proposals of an American corporation, and it ultimately supported municipal ownership.

The fact is that at the time there were two propositions: 1. That the city should own and develop its own supply.

2. That Moffatt, Hodgins & Clark (a U. S. concern) should be given control.

They had agents here for weeks, headed by a Mr. Freeman, about as smooth and expert a talker as ever lived, and it was during this period that the Expositor fought, and fought hard, in more than one issue, for corporation control.

Here is one sample, taken from an Expositor editorial of Oct. 29, 1887: We hope that whatever scheme may be adopted, it will be undertaken by an independent company.

As the Moffatt, Hodgins & Clark proposal was the alternative of municipal ownership, what other inference is there except that the Expositor, as stated, was at first fighting for a U. S. concern?

It was only after our cotem realized its mistake that it switched—just as the paper was first of all a Tory sheet, and then also switched because it thought there was more money to be made on the Grit side.

With regard to this waterworks controversy the organ has been completely cornered, and it ought to be frank enough to admit that undoubted fact, instead of doing the wriggle act.

And here's a word of advice: The next time our cotem thinks of writing with regard to waterworks matters, it had better consult with Mr. C. B. Heyd. He knows what occurred, and he also knows that the Courier has told the facts throughout.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Laurier seems to still think that he is the boss of Canada. The news that he was licked in 1911, and licked for good, doesn't seem to have reached him yet. Perhaps it will a few years hence.

The editor of the Expositor, in response to the Courier's oft-repeated request (1) for the organ to name even one move which it has inaugurated, or helped to inaugurate, on behalf of the people, and (2) why it has such an all-absorbing love for private corporations, makes the plea that when an M.P.P. he was the champion of the people in the House. Then why in blazes has he never taken that course locally?

The Courier, as soon as the Lake Erie & Northern Railway Company asked for the route in front of Jubilee Terrace, declared it must be given, and that commercial conditions should prevail over sentimentality. The Expositor said this route should not be conceded until some independent authority showed that there was "no other way."

Yet, in the face of such an exhibit, our contemporary declares that the Expositor is the friend of the corporations, while it stands up for "the people." The people, in this instance, need to be saved from their professed friends.—Expositor.

The Courier's attitude was that the Jubilee Terrace route seemed to be the only one feasible, and if so, and none other could be found, then the sentimental reasons of a few should not be allowed to block that important line. Why doesn't the organ try to stick to the truth at least once in a while?

HELPLESS CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Toronto Lady Took "Fruit-a-tives" And Cured Herself.

4 HOME PLACE, TORONTO, Dec. 15th, 1909. "I was a helpless cripple from Rheumatism for nearly a year. All down the right side, the pain was dreadful and I could not move for the agony. I was treated by two physicians without benefit. I saw "Fruit-a-tives" advertised and decided to try them. After taking one box, I was much better.

When I had taken three boxes, I could use my arm and the pain was almost gone. After taking five boxes, I was entirely well again. The cure of my case by "Fruit-a-tives" was indeed splendid because all the doctors failed to even relieve me. "Fruit-a-tives" cured me."

SIR WILFRID AT TORONTO

Same Old Toronto, Cheers Hard One Way and Votes the Other.

TORONTO, May 6.—If Sir Wilfrid Laurier, looking over the great audience cheering him as he stood up to speak at the Arena last night could be wiped from his mind the memory of past defeats and disappointments in "Tory Toronto," hope of the future might well have surged in his breast. As a demonstration of the fact that there are enough Liberals in Toronto sufficiently enthusiastic to fill even such an immense auditorium as the Arena, the gathering was a thorough success. The accommodation of the building was taxed to capacity and energetic policemen had to smash a few hats before some of those shut out could be induced to depart.

While not a hand-picked audience, the proportion of Conservatives in the Arena was not large enough to dampen the joy of the occasion but they made themselves known on one or two occasions when Hon Charles Murphy was speaking. The former minister offended twice, first by referring to Mr. Borden as a "weakling" in the hands of Mr Rogers, and then by describing him as "dishonest."

Both times his remarks were met by a storm of hissing that the counter cheering of the Liberals failed to swamp Mr. Murphy did not retract, but he steered his course more carefully thereafter.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier in whose hands the demonstration was chiefly staged, was given a whole hearted reception, the audience standing and cheering for some minutes. His hearers were not in a critical mood despite the fact that he had nothing but repetitions of portions from Mr. P. Graham as usual, kept the audience amused and Dr. Michael Clark ran him a close second in the race for laugh producing honors.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King presided.
