

Wonder of Science
 Is the tide of an article in the which treats of the "Wonder of Science" an undoubted fact? Which is the more defensible, to allow a man full privilege of getting drunk, and becoming a dangerous citizen, or to keep him sober by law even though he curses about tyranny, deprivation of personal liberty, summary laws, etc? Which is the safer citizen, a man drunk by his own free will or sober by the will of others? Since the only possible attainment of all legislation is the greatest good to the greatest number, does not almost every law more or less interfere with the legitimate rights of some persons? Is it not a duty of government to make it as difficult as possible for the people to do wrong and as easy as possible for them to do right?

EDUCATIONAL NOTES FOR TEACHERS AND TRUSTEES.
 1. Every teacher is required by law to send notice to the Inspector of schools, on the day of opening school. This must contain all the information required in the blank form given in the last April Journal. Any teacher failing to do this will receive no provincial grant for the time being before such notice has been given in full.

Individual Rights of the Man Who Sells.
 Has a man a right to make a living selling poison or propagating fever or leprosy? Should a man be allowed to make a living by selling obscene books to arouse the passions and brutalize the characters of the purchasers? Should he be allowed to sell beverages producing the same results?

Prof. Alexander Graham B. H., the inventor of the telephone, owns a whole mountain of 1000 acres in Baddeck, N. B., upon which he has expended $200,000 on roads. Upon its southern slope upward toward the summit, and overlooking a panorama of lake and mountain, he has erected a $35,000 residence, and near it a fully equipped laboratory where he conducts his experiments in electricity.

Notes of the Big Exhibition at Halifax.
 The entries for stock closed on Saturday last. There was a great rub in the closing days, as many as three hundred applications coming in in one day. It is a very large entry list, and the show of all kinds of stock will be large and fine.

COMPENSATION - HENRY GEORGE.
 Should we not compensate those who have suffered by the wrong rather than those who have profited by the wrong? Shall the state compensate for refusing to do wrong in the future? Does the state compensate for capital lost through the abolishing of protective duties? Should the state have compensated the silver-mine of Ephesus for the loss sustained through Paul's preaching? If the state for a long time has given permission to extend the sale of a certain article which the people ignorantly believed to be beneficial, but at length discovers the article to be harmful, should it compensate men for refusing to allow them to carry on the harmful business any longer?

REFOREMERS OF A PROHIBITORY LAW.
 One of the difficulties in the way of enforcement of all liquor laws is the perjury and equivocation of witnesses which result from the fact that the witnesses are themselves partners in the breaking of the law; this difficulty is found equally in the enforcement of all kinds of liquor laws and would be no greater under total prohibition.

Wedding at Aylesford.
 One of the prettiest weddings that has occurred at Aylesford was witnessed in the Baptist church Wednesday at 9.30 a. m. The contracting parties were Miss Winifred May Taylor, daughter of Stephen Taylor, Esq., of Auburn, and Mr. Ernest Warren Porter, barrister, of Boston, Mass. Long before the hour the building began to rapidly fill, and when the ceremony commenced it was crowded to the doors. The church was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. A beautiful arch of forest ferns and flowers was erected near the altar, under which the nuptial knot was tied. To the strains of a wedding march played by Miss Parsons, the groom entered the church, and immediately after the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, preceded by Miss Nellie Porter,
