

CHURCH PARADE OF OVER 1,100 SOLDIERS.

Splendid Turnout of All the Units of Garrison
For Service Yesterday Morning.

Archdeacon Forneret at All Saints' and Rev.
D. R. Drummond at St. Paul's Preachers.

Despite the threatening appearance of the sky and the few drops of rain that fell early in the morning, the garrison parade yesterday was the best on record. Seldom have the troops been seen to better advantage, the efficiency and esprit de corps drawing forth the highest commendation along the route as the soldiers marched proudly along in step with the inspiring martial music of the bands. It was by far the largest parade since the brigade was organized, there being over 1,100 men in line yesterday, their bright uniforms and fine bearing making a picturesque sight, and one well calculated to make the heart beat faster. Lieut.-Col. Logie, brigade commander, and his staff of officers were delighted with the turnout. Both churches wherein the soldiers worshipped were crowded to capacity, and there was very little room for the congregations. The Highlanders and Battery at All Saints' heard a splendid sermon by Ven. Archdeacon Forneret, while Rev. D. R. Drummond addressed the Thirteenth Army Service Corps and Army Medical Corps. The success of such a ceremonial event as a church parade must necessarily depend to a certain extent on the weather, and though conditions were not exactly ideal yesterday, there is very little cause for complaint. It takes more than a few slight clouds in the sky to scare away the sightseers, and the soldier has his reputation to uphold for scorn of all obstacles. Old Probs threatened all morning up to the time of the parade, but then became more considerate, and after that better weather could not have been desired. The orders called for the corps to parade at 10 o'clock, and promptly on time the uniformed men flocked in twos and threes to the armories, which were a scene of unusual bustle and activity until the command to march was given. An immense crowd lined both sides of James and Main streets along the route of the churches, admiring the men as they swung past in perfect line.

The parade started as follows:
Brigade Staff: Col. Logie, Brigadier; Major Roberts, Brigadier Major; Sergeant Huggins, Brigade Sergeant-Major; Major William Hendrie and Capt. R. R. Moodie, attached.

The Brigade parade was:
4th Field Battery 29
13th Regiment 484
91st Regiment 446
9th Army Service Corps 14
12th Field Ambulance Corps 59

13th Regiment—Major Ross, commanding; Capt. Denville, Adjutant; Major Herring, Paymaster; Lieut.-Col. Griffin and Capt. Carter, Surgeons; Major Lester, Quartermaster; Major Forneret, Chaplain; Staff-Sergeants 12, Buglers 45, Band 44, Bearers 8, H. C. 1, Cadets 49, A 31, B 43, C 33, D 48, E 42, F 58, G 31, H 54, total 484.

91st Regiment—Lieut.-Col. Bruce, Lieut.-Col. Moodie, Majors Roberts and McLaren, Capt. Bell, Adjutant; Captain Chisholm, Paymaster; Captain Dickson and Lieut. McDowd, Surgeons; Capt. Somerville, Quartermaster; Capt. Drummond, Chaplain; Staff-Sergeants 10, Buglers 31, Pipers 23, Band 49, Bearers 14, Signallers 11, A 40, B 32, C 37, D 40, E 32, F 42, G 35, H 40, total 446.

Colonel Rennie, commanding the 12th Field Ambulance Corps, and Capt. Lawson, commanding the Army Service Corps; Major Tidswell, commanding the 4th Field Battery.

It was the first dress parade of the season, and for that reason there was unusual interest attached to the event. The singing of the men was inspiring, and the sermon of Rev. Archdeacon Forneret on calculated to leave an indelible impression on the minds of those present. Selecting as his text Timothy ii. 3, "A good soldier," Archdeacon Forneret spoke for the course of fifteen minutes, in which he referred to the qualities necessary for the making of a good soldier. He welcomed the units to All Saints', and especially the 91st Regiment, as there had been an invitation of long standing to the regiment, but unfortunately the way had not been clear to accept it. The matter was brought up last year, and the commanding officers were quite agreeable, but it was found to be too late to accept the suggestion. The archdeacon said that he was glad to recall the suggestion for this year. What made the invitation all the more acceptable was the fact that it was customary on the first Sunday parade of the season for each regiment to go to the church of its chaplain. He was glad for another reason, that the commanding officer of the 91st Regiment was a communicant of All Saints'.

Archdeacon Forneret, in his opening remarks, spoke of the picturesque of the Highland costume as one that appeals to the imagination of every loyal son of the British Empire. The skill of the pipes and the waving plumes added much to the attractiveness of the army. He went on to refer to the wonderful deeds that had been accomplished by the Highland Regiments in the wars that England has had. It was the Highlanders that checked the career of Napoleon, the usurper of nations; that were the first to relieve Lucknow, and avenge the massacre of Cawnpore. Many other deeds had made the fame of the Highland regiments a byword in the home of the patriotic father and son. It was justly true, that war was hell, where it was war of oppression, but when the liberty and protection of a country were in danger, the speaker said it was time

LIEUT.-COL. W. A. LOGIE,
Brigadier, who was in command of the garrison parade yesterday morning.

for every loyal man to rise up in the defence of his country.

The question has often been asked, "Is it lawful for a Christian to be a soldier?" To that I give a very emphatic "yes."

The speaker went on to say that some Christians hold that war and the bearing of arms were wrong, and that was nothing short of legalized murder. That was an absolutely unrighteous view to take of the matter. That might be true where the strong oppress the weak, but there were some wars that were righteous in their cause. It has been said that self-preservation is the first law of nature, and it was true. Every man has the right to protect himself. To refuse to fight would mean the oppression of the country, and no protection given to the weak and helpless. Jesus Christ's rebuke to Peter who had cut off the ear of one of the high priest's servants was intended more to stop the use of arms in a carnal way. The general trend of the scriptures was not against the soldier or wars. When Christ was brought before the Roman soldiers He never rebuked them for being in that capacity. John the Baptist told the Roman soldiers that they must do violence to no innocent person, to accuse no one of speaking falsely, and to be satisfied with their wages.

The soldiers of Jesus Christ should let their life and influence shine on all about them. The speaker read from the articles of the Anglican Church showing that that church considered it lawful for a man to arm himself and go to war, if his country should demand it. War was regrettable, but one must take the world as it is to be found. One was too apt to idealize the world, when there was no reason for it.

There are people who object to military training of any kind at all. They object to the school boy being trained to assist in the defence of his country if the time should ever come. Every young, healthy boy should learn his drill. The speaker said he was impressed with the Swiss system of military training, where every man had to put in a short time at compulsory drill. Archdeacon Forneret did not believe in the standing army, but considered that Canadians should always be prepared to defend the country they love.

Jesus Christ had said, "Without me, ye can do nothing," and that was true in many senses. To fight against temptation it must be done with the aid of Jesus, of the fight will not be a successful one.

Archdeacon Forneret's parting words

PENURIOUS AND LAZY.

were: "Be a good soldier of the Canadian militia."

SERMON IN ST. PAUL'S.

With the exception of the galleries, every seat in St. Paul's Church was occupied by the soldiers. Rev. Mr. Drummond expressed the pleasure it afforded him to welcome them to St. Paul's Church, and he was pleased that the arrangement had been made for the Highlanders and Thirteenth to change their place of worship. Here is the speaker's well-known force and expression, was a patriotic one, and abounded in wholesome sentiment. The text was taken from II. Samuel x. 12. "Be of good courage and let us play the man for our people and for the cities of our God: and the Lord do that which seemeth Him good." The speaker referred to the insulting ultimatum that was issued in South Africa a few years ago, which meant a fight to a finish between Great Britain and that country. It was proved then that the British soldier was still capable of upholding the honor of the country. The descendants of the victors of Waterloo need never falter when marching on the field of battle. The children of the motherland stand ready to come to her aid. It is a fine thing for the motherland to rest safe in the knowledge that her colonies would rush to her side and fight her battles and valiantly and loyally as her own. "We should thank the Lord for our glorious country. It is a great thing to die for one's country, but it is infinitely greater to live consistently for one's country. It is harder to do an easy thing than it is to do a hard one, and in times of great peril and difficulty it is easier to play the man than it is in times of peace."

The speaker told of the great possibilities in this country. He did not think that we had as yet touched the fringe of our possibilities. Here is a land of magnificent extent, magnificent resource, a land that is advancing in leaps and bounds in wealth, a land capable of supporting sixty times the population now within its borders. The surveying, mining and agricultural movements are now in full swing a sign that the country is past its childhood? And yet every man must play the part of the man if we are to develop one iota of our possibilities. Living is not the end of life, but noble living is, and every man must keep this in mind. Because we are a big country we must not learn to judge things by their bigness, but by the soul. It is not from the great mansions, but from the simple homes of industry, honesty and godliness are the true strength of the nation is found. Canada needs men, not hoodlums, not sports, not speculators, not pleasure loving people, but men of truth, love, reverence, obedience, men who fear God and honor the King. We must all play the man in Canadian national life, so that when the great battle of life is finished we will individually have won a victory.

10 Years Rheumatism In Left Knee.
Treatment at Hot Springs and Years of Experiencing with Nerve Pills Failed.
"NERVINE" Cured Quickly.

Nearly every 500 person is troubled for a time with rheumatism, and few actually escape its manifold tortures. Some it deforms, others it disables, many it completely destroys. "I was born with a strong and predisposing tendency to rheumatism, my old knee has been aching for years," writes J. H. Hunter, from Saratoga. The aches, the pains, the throbbing muscles—I endured them all—but it was in my left knee that the disease had its worst hold. Pains of the most agonizing kind shot through my knee as if hot iron were piercing my flesh. Nothing did me any good till I used Nervine. I rubbed it over the sore place four to six times each day and found on warm flannel cloths. Every night I took half a teaspoonful of Nervine in hot sweetened water. My cure was completed after several months and I have never since had a single twinge. I strongly urge every sufferer from any rheumatic disease, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Toothache, or Earache to test Nervine. I know its power over pain is simply magical."

There is not an ingredient in Nervine that isn't good for pain. Young and old can use it, internally or externally. Safe, sure and 50 years in use. Beware of the dealer who offers you a substitute on which his profit is larger than on Nervine. Large bottles 25c at all dealers.

Very soon afterwards, however, she passed away, her body having been terribly burned.

LOOKS BAD.

Coat, Cap and Verse Describing Plunge Found on a Dock.

Port Huron, Mich., May 8.—"A plunge and a splash, The task is o'er. The waves will roll As they rolled before. One quick jump and all is done."

This peculiar missive, found in a coat owned by Isaac R. Ellis, 67 years old, of 1,617 River street, leads the members of his family and the police to believe that he was drowned in St. Clair River, opposite the upper Grand Trunk bridge, shortly after 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The coat, which contained nothing but the above note, was lying on the dock. On it was the man's cap.

FLEET FOR NOTHING

Britain Retains Option on New Spanish Navy.

Madrid, May 9.—The decision of the Spanish Government to rebuild the Spanish navy at a cost of $40,000,000 was taken primarily with a view to restoring Spain's dignity upon the sea, but also for the purpose of encouraging a revival of the Spanish shipbuilding industry.

The decision has a particular importance for Britain, as the contract probably will go to Vickers, the English firm, and Great Britain retains an option upon the ships until they are completed, notwithstanding the fact that they are to be built in Spanish yards by Spanish workmen. In other words, during the pending naval rivalry between Great Britain and Germany, the former, without expense, has a fleet of new ships under way which can be taken over should war clouds suddenly darken the horizon.

It is, however, understood here that Great Britain is pressing Portugal to execute an agreement entered into by the late King Carlos, whereby four large new berthing docks capable of taking 24,000-ton ships are to be constructed on the Tagus opposite the site of the present arsenal. These docks are to be available for British ships in certain contingencies.

COLD WELCOME.

Vancouver Council Refuses Money For Entertainment.

Vancouver, B.C., May 8.—"We ought to show the Japanese how well prepared we are to shoot them," declared Alderman McMillan last night at a hearing before the civic Finance Committee, which had been asked for $1,000 appropriation to aid in defraying expenses of entertainment during the visit of the Japanese cruisers Aso and Sayo on May 17.

The appropriation, which was recommended by Mayor Douglas, was turned down by a decided majority despite appeals from the Mayor, the Trades and Labor Council officially decided last night that no labor organization should take part in the celebration.

KILLED IN STRIKE RIOT.

Union Man Shot in Lively Fight at Superior, Wis.

Duluth, May 8.—A sailor named Rourke was killed to-night in a fight between union and non-union men at the Northwestern Fuel Co.'s dock at Superior. The fight started on the arrival of the Berlin, a non-union steamer, laden with coal. As the steamer drew into her berth, the crowd of union men on the wharf began throwing chunks of coal and other missiles at the captain and crew. Several of the latter were injured, and when the fight was at its height, some one it is said, aboard the boat fired a shot at the crowd and Rourke dropped dead. This ended the fighting.

YEAR'S REVENUE.

Mr. Fielding's Estimate Has Been Exceeded.

Ottawa, May 9.—Hon. Mr. Fielding's estimate in his budget speech that the revenue of the Dominion for the fiscal year closing March 31st last would be found, when all returns were in, to be about eighty-four and one-half millions, has been exceeded by over half a million. The accounts for the year will not be finally closed for a month or so yet, but up to the end of April the books of the Finance Department show a total revenue of $85,055,427. There will be a few additional returns of revenue still to be entered up, but these will be comparatively small. The total expenditure on consolidated fund account will not be definitely known until June, but if it keeps within Mr. Fielding's estimate the surplus for the year will be over two millions instead of a million and a half as estimated in the budget speech.

DYING MAN'S DIARY.

Record of How Louis Fleitas Starved to Death.

Silverton, Col., May 9.—A diary found yesterday beside the body of Louis Fleitas, in his cabin, fourteen miles east of here, told the story of his slowly starving to death, and revealed that he had lived for at least three weeks under a snowslide, through which he was unable to dig. Here is the way the diary reads:

"December 13—Taken suddenly ill; in great pain.
"December 15—Am getting worse.
"December 16—Snowslide covered cabin to-day.
"December 25—Christmas day; too weak to dig out of slide; can't get to town.
"January 1—I believe I am dying.
"January 2—Too weak to get up.
"January 3—Too weak to get up.
"January 4—I can—
"January 5—Unintelligible scratches." Absolutely no food was found in the cabin, where his body lay on a rude bed.

MORRIS WINS A SEAT.

Carbonaro Turns Over in Newfoundland Elections.

St. John's, Nfld., May 9.—Only two constituencies have so far returned the results of the polling in yesterday's general Parliamentary election in Newfoundland. One of these, Carbonaro, elected Goddison, supporter of Sir Edward Morris, the Premier, by 44 votes to the seat which he lost by 23 votes at the last election in November. In Brigus, Warren, a Morrisite, retains his seat by a majority reduced from 174 to 24.

In view of the overturn to Carbonaro, the Morrisites to-night are hopeful that the general result will favor them.

The body of Mrs. Margaret Gibson was found in her home at Toronto. She had evidently been dead several days.
