AN ENGLISHMAN IN AMERICA.

Mr. James B. Warren. an Englishman writes to the London Shipping Gazette, from Buffalo, as follows :

"I have now made the tour of the States of North America, and think it probable I can give your readers some useful information. I landed at New York city ten months ago, and have spent my time in studying the character and customs of these people, and must confess, that if I remained ten years, the result would be the same and I know very little about them. But upon one point-national pride-men, women and children are all alike, and the idea of any nation of Euconquering this country, is perfectly absurd to them. Every body reads the papers, and a good humored urchin used to rate me soundly at Philadelphia for our failures at Sebastopol."

He says, he has conversed with intelligent merchants, and was astonished at their indifference in regard to war in England, as well as much impressed with the reasons which they gave him for not fearing the result of such a contest. He says that they told him, that 1,500,000 Minic rifles could be ready by the next spring—that fifty steamers of 4000 tonseach, could be built and launched in eight months-that 500 of the fastest privateers in the world, could be provided in less time—that 80,000 enrolled fishermen could readily be obtained, and 500, 000 men could be concentrated at any point on the coast in a few days! All this he believes not improbable. Warren has evidently judged intelli-gently of what he has seen in this country. In alluding to the consequences of a war, he says.

"Mexico, Cuba, and the whole of the Central America would be annexed in the South, and I have little doubt of Canada, in the North; millions of treasure and thousands of lives lost to England forever : our commerce crippled in every sea, and some fighting that will gladden the hearts of our tried soldiery.

Now, what can we gain? A foot of territory? We don't want it; and if we did, six feet for the majority of our brave fellows, I fear, would be the extent. Naval or military glory we don't want, and as for the sand beach of the Musquito king, it is a decided humbug. What would be the result to this context? would be the result to this country? It would put her back in prosperity for half a century; it would ruin thousands who are now in affluence, but would enrich are now in affluence, but would enrich thousands who are now poor. But the great advantage the Americans have is that they can produce and manufacture everything they want the different climates afford this. They would get accustomed to their own goods and discard ours forever. But the greatest injury to all parties, and I may say to the world would be the making of this nation of 25, 000,000 a warlike people, and, once installed with the love of war, the propagandists of Europe would have a fearful alls."

Or what is more likely, against Austria.

A dog who had lost the whole of her interesting family was seen trying to poke a piece of crape through the door-handle of one of the sausage shops in Philadelphia.

People who think there's something in a rame, remark, that the greatest Enggandists of Europe would have a fearful alls."

TORNADO IN THE PACIFIC.—The Island of Guam in the Pacific Ocean, was visited by a terrific tornado, accompanied by a slight shock of an earthquake, on the 23rd of September last. In less than twenty minutes more than eight thousand persons were left without a house or roof to protect them from the fury of the storm. Every house upon the island, with the exception of ten was scattered in water the storm. every direction. The rain fell in torrents and as it touched the lips it tasted as salt as though it came from the ocean. Thousands of cocoa-nut trees, (which is a very tough wood) laden with fruit, were crushed like so many slender reeds, torn up by the roots and thrown into all shapes. Nearly everything that carried its head above ground was destroyed.

PROPOSED SUBMARINE TUNNEL FROM LIVERPOOL TO BIRKENHEAD.— It appears that a project has been started in England for the construction of a submarine tunnel beneath the Mersey to conrine tunnel beneath the Mersey to con-nect these two important towns. It is proposed to run a treble-arched tunnel beneath the river; one arch being for a double line of railway, one arch for waggon,s carts and commercial carrages, and one arch for quick-moving vehicles, equestrians and predestrians. The plan is a modification of the tunnel proposed by Mr. W. Austin, for a passage under the sea from Dover to Calais, as already described in our paper. The Mersey tun-nel would, as at present proposed and nel would, as at present proposed and arranged, be about two miles in length of which about three quarters of a mile would be made under the river. The whole of the tunnel would be thoroughly dry, ventilated, lighted with gas, under surveillance, and easy of access at all times and seasons.

RUSSIAN IMPOTENCE AND CUNNING. In a letter, dated Warsaw, March 21, we find the following:—"Some officers of distinction believe that it is not thought in Russia, that Cronsdat can resist the new English armaments. Russia laughs in its sleeve at the foreign newspapers and speculators on the exchanges who call its weakness and impotence, gene-rosity and disinterestedness. Before Eurosity and disinterestedness. Before Eu-rope they put on the mask of magnani-mity; before their countrymen that of astuteness. They say, that they are breaking up the Anglo-French alliance for their own interests, and that they will join France, either against England or what is more likely, against Austria.
