Must Lessen Immigration To The United States

Mr. Belding, of St. John who has been in western Canada and Ontario in the interest of the Maritimes, addressed a large gathering of representative business men in the Town Hall, Chatham, on Thursday evening. Among those present were a number of members of the Newcastle Board of Trade. Mr. Belding dealt with the problems of the Maritimes and his address was heard with much interest. F.M. Tweedie, President of the local Board of Trade introduced the speaker of the evening and extended to him a cordial welcome.

At the conclusion of Mr. Belding's address, a vote of thanks was moved by Geo. Watt and seconded by J.S. Martin, M.L.A. This was tendered to Mr. Belding by President Tweedie. Mr. Belding in thanking the gathering for their appreciation of his efforts expressed the hope that both the Chatham and Newcastle boards would be well represented at the coming conference.

Mr. Belding in opening his address told his audience of his presentation of Maritime problems to the people of Upper and Western Canada, everywhere being given a most sympathetic hearing. The speaker declared that the main question to be decided was what did the Maritimes really want.

To decide this problem was the purpose of the coming conference of Maritime Boards of Trade and he said that we must decide on an economic policy that would be acceptable to the rest of Canada. Then we must ask the government for our share in its immigration policy. We must be given better opportunities of developing further and must be assisted to develop our natural resources. Some means have to be devised of lessening the emigration of the youth of the country to the United States.

DIVORCE LAWS.

The possibilities of changes in English divorce laws is suggested by a recent discussion of the subject by the Women's National Liberal Federation. Mrs. Dawson, who introduced the question, urged amendments to the existing law to include desertion for a number of years, habitual drunkenness, and permanent insanity as reasons for divorce. She said 1,000,000 separated people were living either spurned, or what some people considered immoral, lives because they had no right of divorce. The discussion which followed developed wide differences of opinion. One advocate of changes in the divorce laws said she believed Lord Birkenhead was right for once when he said perpetual separation, carrying with it law-enforced celibacy, was a hotbed for vice. In opposing the idea of change some women urged that comparatively few young people had the same respect for the marriage tie as the older generation, that there was a growing tendency among people in high places to regard the question of divorce lightly and that men were far more ready to support increased divorce facilities than women. The women answered these and other arguments by recording a substantial majority in favor of changes. Their decision must be regarded as evidence of a very strong popular opinion in favor of some amendments to existing regulations on the subject of divorce. Even as it is today the British divorce courts have become pretty busy places in recent years. Incidentally some recent trials have given rise to a considerable demand for suppression of publicity, and many of the most representative of British jurists have declared either from the bench in public addresses, or through interviews their conviction that the courts cannot and should not be closed against the public.

HENRY FORD OFFERS TO BUY 4000 SHIPS

Henry Ford will purchase the 400 vessels of the United States Shipping Board, if the United States government will fix what he considers a fair price. The announcement was made by Mr. Ford, following a conference with T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the Shipping Board. O'Connor is quoted as asking Ford to take over 200 ships. When Ford informed him he would only buy the ships to scrap them for junk, O'Connor suggested that he buy all 400. Ford agreed to this, saying that he might retain from 10 to 30 of the ships for use by Ford industries.

Amendment to Criminal Code

TORONTO, May 14--The Globe this morning says: "Imprisonment of at least one year, without the alternative of a fine, will be the penalty contained in the amendment to the Criminal Code to stop the mugging of merchandise into Canada, according to a well known manufacturer, who said last night, he has received word from Ottawa that the government proposed to take drastic steps to stop the illicit traffic in merchandise between the United States and Canada. This manufacturer, was one of a number who had spent many thousands of dollars in gathering evidence to show the extent of the traffic."

"Eczema on My Face Completely Relieved"
Miss Winifred Ernest, Box 46, Blockhouse, N. S., writes:
"Ever since I was a little child, I suffered with eczema on my face. At times my face was completely covered with large sores, and I tried nearly every kind of medicine that I heard of with no results. This lasted for over twenty years, until one day I asked the advice of my druggist, who bade me give Dr. Chase's Ointment a trial. After using the Ointment for a few days, the sores began to heal, and soon I was completely relieved of the disease."
