

of such owner or owners' damage of any kind to be... agreed upon or awarded under the two next preceding Sections of this Section...

XXXVII. And be it enacted, That whenever any person rated on the Assessment Roll of any Municipality or place shall object to the passage of any By-law...

XXXVIII. And be it enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for any Member of the Municipal Corporation of any Township, Town, Township or incorporated Village in Upper Canada at any time, by and with the consent of the majority of the Members of such Municipal Corporation...

XXXIX. And be it further enacted, That none of the provisions of the fourth or sixth Sections of the Upper Canada Municipal Corporations Law Amendment Act of 1851...

XL. And be it enacted, That in this Act the words 'Township' shall include any Township, Town, Township or incorporated Village in Upper Canada...

XLI. And be it enacted, That this Act shall come into force and effect upon and after the first day of July one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three...

THE NIAGARA FALLS CATASTROPHE. An extra issued from this office last evening, containing a brief telegraphic description of the terrible disaster which lately befell the beautiful city of Niagara Falls...

and fled to more healthy quarters. The Board of Health have caused the bark Mandarins, which arrived a few days since from Cienfuegos, with the fever on board, to be removed to the quarantine...

The New Orleans mail of Friday last reports the arrest of A. M. Ballou, who is charged with the murder of Eliza Lewis, a beautiful girl, with whom it is stated Ballou lived. The cause of the murder is understood to be jealousy.

There were two deaths from cholera at Hancock, in this State, on Sunday last. A valuable vein of iron ore has been discovered in the Cumberland region. Letters from Wilkesport, received this morning, mention that the cholera has entirely disappeared from that place.

Six counterfeiters were arrested last night, three miles below this city. In their House was found $40,000 in counterfeit money, all on the State bank of Ohio, except five ones on the Fairfield bank of Connecticut.

Two counterfeiters from Detroit, Michigan, were arrested here this afternoon, having in their possession $3,000 in counterfeit 'twos' on the bank of the Empire State. They had passed a large quantity in Brownsville, Pa.

A motion was made in Court this morning, by the counsel for Dr. Gardner, to continue the case; on the ground that there was no prospect of the return of the Mexican Commission at present. The court declined, because the Commission was expected.

It is understood that the squadron sent to the fishing grounds is intended to be permanent. AUSTRIA. HIGHLY IMPORTANT—AUSTRIA DECLARED AGAINST TURKEY.

A startling piece of information was published in Paris, on the 9th, in three Government journals, the Pays, Constitutionnel and Patrie, all of which announce that M. de Bruck, who was supposed to have been sent to Constantinople with confidential instructions, had returned to Vienna...

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP 'ASIA'. NEW YORK, July 29. The Asia, from Liverpool, Friday 16th, arrived at wharf at 10 o'clock last night. The weather having been rather stormy, the market had become firmer; corn being the full rates of last week, and July 27th, 6d. 2 1/2; Oats, 26s. 2 1/2; 6d. Sor. 22 1/2; 2 1/2. United States wheat, 7s. 8d. 1/2; 10; mixed and red, 7s. 4d. 1/2; 9d. Canada, 7s. 7d. 1/2. Corn white and yellow, 31s 1/2; 1/2. The future state of the market will depend entirely on the weather.

PROVISIONS.—Beef, small purchases, prices unchanged, Pork, 92. 6d. A 109s. for limes; shoulders neglected. LONDON MONEY MARKET.—English funds steady. Consols closed 1/5 higher for home trade goods.—export crippled.

ADDITIONAL NEWS BY THE 'ASIA'. PARIS, Friday 15th. The exchange was firm till near the close, when a panic arose in consequence of a rumor that Admiral Bland's squadron had been ordered to the Baltic. The income from indirect taxes and revenue, during the first quarter of 1853, exceeds that of the corresponding quarter of last year by 12,000,000 francs.

SAILING OF THE FRANKLIN. NEW YORK, 30th July. The steamer Franklin sailed to-day at noon for Southampton and Havre, with 85 passengers and 853,000 dollars in specie.

BOSTON, 30th July. The British steamship Medea arrived here this morning, it is supposed with dispatches concerning the Fishery question. A desperate encounter took place last night between the New Harbor police and the river thieves, who have been boarding and robbing vessels at the wharves, wearing masks. The robbers were seen leaving a boat, and were pursued by the police.

WASHINGTON, July 28th. The President has concluded a contract with Clark Mills for the erection in the city of the Statue of General Washington, at a cost of fifty thousand dollars.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28. Six more deaths from yellow fever occurred last evening in the vicinity of South street wharves; the victims were all buried before daylight this morning. The rapid spread of the disease has caused much excitement and fear in the neighborhood, and many have closed up their houses and stores.

which are strong enough to be patient, and great enough to desire peace without any being able to accuse them of weakness. But should new enemies rise up against us, the defence of whom is imposed on them by treaties, and the existence of whom is important for the repose and most sacred interests of Europe, no person will suppose that they would allow acts to be accomplished which, under whatever form of diplomacy, would constitute a new impression, and a manifest coalition against the Sultan's Empire.

The election at Leeds has terminated in favor of Mr. Delong, the Ministerial candidate, by an immense majority over the Conservative and Tadpole candidates. The result is taken up by the Globe as an argument in behalf of his favorite policy and he urges now, that the Conservatives should be fully aware that their cause is hopeless, that they should ponder the matter and decide whether a new organization, a new platform and new principles are not wanting.

This is very sensible no doubt in the Globe, but even should the Conservatives desist from their present course, a more open co-operation with their traitorous ally and change their tactics to deal accordingly. What strength would their party gain? Would the Reformers, who have been imposed upon and deluded by the Globe, any longer continue to swell his train after they had been sold with all their dearest rights by their betrayer into the hands of their former enemies? We decidedly think not. The Globe would lose even the stump of his shortened tail and Mr. Brown would stand out in bold relief without a single reformer supporter, fully recognized as what he has all along proved himself to be, an intolerant Conservative.

He evidently insinuated himself into the Reform camp for the purpose of creating a division in the ranks of the friends of progressive measures. By craft and misrepresentation he for a time gained some, by false and absurd claims he practiced upon the fears of others of the reform party, all the time endeavoring to preserve his real character incognito, though occasionally in spite of himself it would appear.

But the game is now up. The farce is over and he now finds that he has fallen far short of the mark he intended that the once-odious victims of his crafty policy are leaving him to reap the ignominious fruits of his toil alone, while they return to their true allegiance. This is abundantly made manifest to every ordinary observer of the signs of the times. The cordial greetings which every where attended the Ministry during their late western tour. The contentment and popularity enjoyed by the mass of the population. The gall and chagrin which have pervaded the opposition press, exhibiting the spirit of disappointment which broods over its dreams. The reception the Ministerial candidates received at the hands of the constituents during the late elections, are sufficient indications, not only that the Ministry have come through the ordeal of a most difficult session unscathed, but that the reform party is still unbroken and in excellent working order. The Leeds election appears to have awakened the Globe to the painful conviction that its tactics must be changed.

He sees that the firm phalanx of Reform is yet unbroken and is yet as effective as ever and that the independent party that has been, is not to be found, even the appellation of tadpole being too magnificent for it, although that animal is nearly all head with scarcely a vestige of a tail and no body.

The mighty head, dispossessed of this new body at length turns openly and attaches to its kindred flesh and will no doubt detach itself of the scanty relics of its traitorous covering and come out a full blown conservative leader. His own will surely not be unaided of the great services he has already rendered them, and by their affectionate assistance he may yet rise to those giddy heights of his ambition, which in vain he sought to attain by rendering Reformers traitors to their cause.

THE DINNER AT LONDON. This affair, which, according to some of our farreaching contemporaries, was to be nothing and nowhere, came off, no doubt in a satisfactory manner, about 260 being present.

Wm. Niles, Esq., Warden of the United Counties of Middlesex and Elgin, was in the Chair. John Wilson, Esq., occupied the Vice Chair. The members of the Ministry present were the Honbles. Hincks, Drummond, Rolph and Cameron.

The Pensioners' Band was in attendance. The usual preliminary toasts were given, after which the 'Hon. F. Hincks' succeeded. He replied with gratification and pride upon witnessing the manner in which the Ministry had been received by the Reformers of Middlesex and Elgin; we will give the Hon. Gentlemen's speech as condensed from the Free Press:

Those present could testify to the spontaneous character of this meeting and could fully refute the calumnies of a portion of the press, that they were 'got up' by the Government. [Much applause.] We are not here to-night, said he, as on our trial, but have come to receive the marks of your approbation and to be cheered on by your good will to put upon the statute book acts, of a more important kind, than those even which had been placed there during the last session. You have been at one time told that there was no unanimity in the government, and now you are told that that unanimity was attained at the sacrifice of principle. He had not done so nor would he ever. The question that was now before the country was not so much whether they would retain the present administration in power, but whether they would have a progressive one or not. The question for the people to ask, was, was the government a standstill one, if it was or should ever arrive at that condition it was their duty to place other and better men in power as a government. They had had much opposition particularly on the Representation Bill and every effort had been made to defeat it by those who dare not vote against it, but who obstructed it in Lower House and afterwards used their best endeavours through the means of those with whom they were in league in the Upper House, to defeat it there.

With regard to the Clergy Reserve, everything that could be said had been said in order to prejudice the public mind. It had been stated that they never meant to have the question settled and that the measure of the government had been calculated for the purpose of delaying the settlement as much as possible. But the very necessity of their measures, the best proof of their correctness and aim, and no one who had read the debates in the House of Lords, could for a moment believe that a Bill would ever have been passed by them if it had been sent. It was certain that all the Bishops would have opposed it, for they would in effect have been called upon to sanction the voluntary principle, but under the resolutions which was not the case, the matter was treated entirely as a local affair, and they now had the power to deal with them as they thought proper for themselves at that point were decided and united—they would be secularized. [Immense applause.] If they wanted further validation, they could turn to the statute book—there would be found the Railway Act—the Municipal Act—the Roads Act, and many other measures which contained themselves in the good sense of the country at large in respect of party. But in no measure had they passed, did they seek for class legislation. [Great applause.] The opponents of the government were as much benefited by them as they were themselves. On the contrary the opponents of the government did work for legislation and sought to elevate one or two sects to the disparagement of the other [renewed applause] but no part of their policy had been successful, and they were now brought down upon them so much untrammelled obliquity as the Railroad measures. It had been stated that it was a job, for the purpose of benefiting the English contractors, but what were the simple facts?—that we had granted them power to make the road, in doing which some 240,000,000 would be expended, one fourth of which only was guaranteed by the Province, and then to cover that guarantee they had the first mortgage on the road, and yet this was called a job and a bad bargain. The English Contractors who are shrewd far seeing men, are sanguine of the success of the undertaking, but before they could lay any dividends, the province was secured, and the chance of any loss accruing to the province was so small that it scarcely could arise. The contractors had to expend their own money and not ours. The Ecclesiastical corporations were next brought under notice.

In speaking of the Three Rivers Bill he showed that the Parishioners were not taxed one farthing more than previously, and that the only effect of the Bill was to facilitate an arrangement between the Bishops of the Diocese and the parishioners for the purpose of uniting their funds so as to erect a Cathedral and place a Bishop in the Chair, the parishioners being £3000 for which they were liable under the old law, and the rest coming out of the pocket of the Bishops.

They had been told time and often, that no confidence was to be placed in the Lower Canadian, but what were the facts, that on every measure for the progress of reform in Upper Canada, they had voted with us a man on the Representation Bill but one Lower Canadian vote was given against it, but if as many Lower Canadian votes had been given against it as there were Upper Canadian, the Bill would have been lost. Are not these incidents for the great measure of our brethren of Lower Canada? [Much applause.] He felt that in addressing the Reformers of Middlesex he was speaking to old friends—he had generally been retained for this night, but he had always experienced the greatest sympathy from the reformers of all classes would be united, and then they would be able to withstand all the efforts of their political enemies [Tremendous Cheers.]

The Hon. gentleman concluded by giving the WARDEN OF MIDDLESEX THE PROVINCIAL WARDEN OF ELGIN and prosperity to the TOWN OF LONDON. The Warden returned thanks.

The health of the Hon. Mr. DRUMMOND and the REFORMERS OF LOWER CANADA was given and was received with great enthusiasm.

Mr. Drummond in rising was greeted with cheers three times. He delivered a powerful address during which he alluded to the determination of the Lower Canadian Reformers to sustain the Upper Canadian Reformers.

He then said that the Clergy Reserve question would be settled by their assistance as the Reformers of Upper Canada desired.

The next toast was the Hon. JOHN ROLPH and GLORIOUS OLD NORFOLK. Dr. Rolph was received as he rose with tremendous plaudits, and replied in speech of considerable length and of eloquence, which at its conclusion was greeted with overwhelming applause.

THE HON. MALCOLM CAMERON and the BUREAU OF AGRICULTURE was next given and was received with the Free Press terms it, a perfect hurricane of applause. Mr. Cameron's seeming to be more popular than ever. He replied very appropriately. The most evident satisfaction was experienced by all present.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

Mr. H. A. Robinson, lectured in the Temperance Hall here on the evening of Tuesday and Wednesday to large and attentive audiences, upon the beautiful science of Astronomy, which he illustrated with the aid of powerful Magic Lanterns. The shortness of time allowed for the illustration of a subject of such magnitude prevented the mention of many details which would have been interesting to many eyes, but the splendid dissolving views, chronometrical were highly pleasing. As an instance of the liberality of Mr. R. we may mention that he gave one half of the proceeds of the first night's entertainment towards the fund now raising for getting a Band of Music for our Town. He deserves to be encouraged, and we wish him success.

NEW SHOONER.—Another fine new Schooner of 60 tons, named the Loran, built at Kincardine, cleared from our Harbor in the beginning of the week with nearly sixty cargo of Bar, she is an honor to her spirited proprietor and Captain, Mr. Murray, and a credit to her fast hull.

INGERSOLL DINNER.—This demonstration came off in the usual enthusiastic manner, and was well attended.

THE HARVEST is well spoken of as abundant throughout the country. The potato crops are generally improving.

BOSTON, Aug. 1. St. John's (New Brunswick) vessel of 30th ult. state that fires were raging in the woods at Shediac, and had already destroyed a large quantity of valuable timber. The day crop throughout the Province would be light.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. George M. Sanders has been appointed Consul London.

NEW ORLEANS, July 30th. Deaths during last 24 hours 124 of which 136 were from yellow fever.

The true Reformer in every section of Canada will endorse the following remarks with which the Free Press was up his account of the Dinner: "The reaction has taken place, the marks of falsehood and invecitive has passed away, and the actions of the Ministry stand forth in their true light unadorned by any diminished by late actions which call on our heartfelt gratitude and demand our warmest support."

DIED. On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties to their departed brother. Mr. Marwood will be greatly missed in our Town, he was a most useful and industrious man, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community, and his death is a great loss to our community.

On Wednesday the 27th ult., a meeting of Bilious Cholic at Detroit, Michigan, Capt. George Langdale, Master of the Town aged 38. The deceased left his wife and an affectionate bride to whom he had been united only within the last few months, at the call of business, and apparently in excellent health, but a few days afterwards he felt a slight indisposition, he was taken to the Lake from Port Stanley to the Grand and arrived at Detroit on the evening of Saturday his indisposition continued, and on Monday he was unable to leave his bed and a physician was sent for, who used every exertion but was not avail as the disease had already advanced great progress. Mr. Twomey, Esq., of Godrich was present during the last moments of the deceased. The intelligence of the dangerous illness of a gentleman so much esteemed by his fellow Townsmen, was Capt. Marwood, which arrived here by the Ruby on Wednesday evening, cast the deepest gloom over the whole Town. The deceased was accompanied by his father and mother the same night by the Ruby, but on arriving at Detroit found to his inconsolable grief that death had accomplished his fell work. They returned with the remains of the most amiable and enterprising and beloved gentleman that our Town has had the misfortune to lose by the Ruby, on Friday evening last. The afflicted wife has suffered greatly from bereavement, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to sustain a shock so sudden and unexpected. The deceased was interred in the grave by nearly all the inhabitants of the Town and were interested in the cemetery of St. George's Church, at the gate of which they were met by the Rev. E. L. Wood, who officiated on the occasion. The services were performed in the most beautiful manner, and the performance of these last rights, and it is evident that the deepest grief pervaded the breasts of every member of the community. The Freemasons, of which body the deceased was a member, were also present, and performed their solemn duties