American Assaulted for Talking English.

Savannah, Ga., March 28.—Becaus he spoke English on a train on which stores. he was travelling from Berlin to ant engineer on the steamer City of Macon, son of Paul E. Twiggs of Savannah, was badly beaten by German passengers, according to a letter write ten by him to his father.

Young Twiggs was on a sightseeing spoke German while the City of Macon-was discharging her cargo of co ton at Bremen. After several day in Berlin they decided to return t their ship, which was due to sail i a few days on the return to the Unite Trouble began almost immediately after the two young men had boarde the train in Berlin. Twiggs unable to speak German, was conversing with his companion in English. He says he noticed hostile looks directed at him by German passengers and finally they threatened to throw him off. His companion explained to the passengers that Twiggs was an American and was speaking English because he knew no German and that he was peaceably discussing his own af-

Despite this several of the Germans attacked Twiggs and he defended himself as best he could, but the odds were too strong. Presently a number of women on the train placed themselves between Twiggs and his assailants and demanded that he be not urther molested. Some of the men, however, connued to harrass Twiggs until the train made a stop at a small town, where police officials were called in. The police frustrated an attempt to throw Twiggs off the train, but were nable to prevent frequent assaults and another attempt was made throw him from the train. It was not until the army officers had provided a special guard of soldiers to surround him that the passengers de-

Finally the train stoped at anoth
