The Regiment.

Another heavy casualty list has reached us, closing, we believe and hope, the sad tale of the losses of October 12th. It was to be expected that a number of missing would be reported, and now that we know them it is not likely we shall hear of any more casualties, unless the Regiment has been engaged subsequently. The reply of the Pay and Record Office to the Governor's telegram will be awaited anxiously. Judging from the different nature of the action and its different result, it would seem more probable that some of these men are prisoners than on the occasion of the July advance; but while hopes of this are justified, it must be remembered that the enemy are on the defensive and have not much opportunity to take prisoners.

There is one great measure of comfort to be derived from the accounts that are now reaching us of this last engagement, which was quite absent when all the tragic details of July were known. Our men lost heavily, but they gave more than they got. Possibly it is to some primitive and barbarous instinct that the satisfaction which this knowledge engenders is due, but we think many of our readers will confess to it. More than one of our brave lads, as they dashed forward, must have remembered grimly Beaumont Hamel, and the memory did not prove pleasant to the enemy when they met him.

We are pleased to note that the Daily News shares our opinion on the need of a complete record of the achievements and fortunes of our Regiment in the field. At present there is no occasion to elaborate it more fully and our observations are merely general. Doubtless the matter has not been overlooked, but there is much likelihood that the practical steps necessary have been postponed to more immediate necessities. Our purpose is simply to point out that for want of a little provision important details and facts should not, and must not, be permitted to pass into oblivion. The thing is being systematically attended to in England—letters, photographs, moving-picture films, official and unofficial accounts, everything in fact, that helps to shed a light upon past operations, great or small, are carefully collected, classified and preserved. We should do the same, and we feel sure that all who can will willingly co-operate. By one means and another all possible material should be gathered now and as time goes on, from which it may be possible for those who write the history of the Newfoundland Regiment to do justice to its deeds. For they are such as we should be proud to remember and ashamed to forget.

The U. S. Election

In a dramatic manner worthy of the times the battle of the Presidential election has been fought and is now drawing to a close. The issue is beyond doubt. Woodrow Wilson is reinstated for another term and Charles Hughes goes down to a defeat which was almost a victory. When the full returns are in and it is possible to analyze them at leisure, we shall know more of the exact influences that have brought about the result. Certain features that we know of for certain are interesting. Generally speaking, the districts that are always looked on as safe for either side have remained true to their traditions. In this respect, Wilson has had a great advantage, for the southern states from Texas to Virginia are solidly democratic in their sympathies. As to the next, while Hughes has swept the thickly populated eastern states, and in such a manner as to make his victory seem once a certainty, Wilson has proved extraordinarily strong in the west, whence he has derived enough weight to decide the balance in his favour.

Perhaps our American cousins are to be congratulated on the result; perhaps not: it is a matter of opinion. But there is little cause for Mr. Tully's exultation, for the figures he quotes show no remarkable triumph for his leader, as, indeed, it is hard to see how they could in view of the closeness of the contest. They merely show what can be done with figures when one has enough of them. To compare the totals with those of former occasions it might be relevant to take into account the female votes, since added, the number of additional male voters eligible since last election and the importance of the times and the conditions. It is to this last, certainly, that the largeness of the vote is primarily due; and if Wilson, as victor, has cause for satisfaction, no unsuccessful candidate, we fancy, has ever shown up so splendidly as Hughes. But it is all over now, barring the characteristically American battle of the courts that is to come, and for the present the chief interest of the outside world centres on Wilson's foreign policy. There are already welcome signs that, his position assured, it will take on the firmness and courage it certainly lacked before. The "Marina" case is still on the docket and Wilson is well aware of it.

Sagana and Neptune Reach Port This Morning.

The a.s. Sagana, Capt. Parsons, reached port at 8 a.m. to-day from the Labrador mail service, having gone as far north as Indian Hr. All through the trip was made under favorable weather conditions, enabling the ship to make all ports of call. Her crew report the whaling voyage at Hawke's Hr. to be discontinued. The whaler Cachalot which secured the past season 71 large fish, including several sperm whales, was to leave for home yesterday. Most of the settlers have moved back into the deep inlets and bays and are busy setting their traps for the winter hunt. The prospects so far for a successful season are very encouraging. Coming south the Sagana called at Sloop Cove near Cape Harrison and took on board the four men which remained from the last trip to salvage the 300 qts. of cod-fish on board the wrecked schr. owned by Hogan, of Carbonear. The fish was covered with the ship's canvas and will be taken away in the spring, providing it is not damaged by the melting snow in the spring. About 12.30 p.m. the a.s. Neptune, Capt. Burgess, also entered port from the same service, after not so favorable a voyage, weather conditions on leaving here were such as to detain the ship for several days at the various ports along the coast. She brought a large quantity of fish and oil and the following first class passengers: W. W. Gosse, W. T. Steman, C. Butt, Jno. Sheehan, R. J. Hiscock, H. P. Burke, S. Norman and several second class. The Sagana will sail for North Sydney early next week and will replace the Meigle on the Cabot Strait service.

Reids' Boats.

The Argyle left Placentia at 4.45 p.m. yesterday, on the Red Island route.
The Clyde left Moreton's Hr. at 7.10 p.m. yesterday.
The Dundee left Port Blandford at 6 a.m. yesterday.
The Ethel left Humbermouth.
The Glencoe left Hermitage Cove at 2 p.m. yesterday, coming east.
The Kyle left Port aux Basques at 11.30 p.m. yesterday.
The Meigle due at Port aux Basques to-day.
The Sagana and Neptune arrived at St. John's to-day.
The Wren left Heart's Content at 4.40 p.m. yesterday, outward.

Here and There.

WELL SUPPLIED.—Mr. M. Murphy, of Carbonear, who was sent by the Government to investigate the condition of the residents of the Labrador Coast, arrived back by the Sagana this morning and reports that they are all well supplied with provisions until the opening of navigation.

CITY'S WATER WASTE.—Yesterday we noted the enormous waste of water which has been existing in the city, and gave the figures of the waste. As a result we understand the Municipal Council are going to conduct a tour of rigid inspection of the city with a view to making all concerned conform with the law.

FLORIZEL LEAVES.—The S.S. Florizel sails at 5 o'clock this evening for Halifax and New York. The following saloon passengers are booked: Mrs. J. Kielly, Miss B. Harvey, Miss Turpin, Miss C. Butt, J. Butt, Miss L. Halfyard, C. M. Sprigg, Miss A. Cullen, Gordon Green and 30 second cabin.

RECRUITS FROM LABRADOR.—There arrived by the Sagana this morning three young men from Cartwright to enlist with the Mtd. Regiment. They are Jas. S. Wardle, son of the General Manager of the Hudson Bay Co., Wm. McKenzie, an employee of the Hudson Bay Co., and Austin Parry, a trapper. They are all fine specimens of young manhood.

WRECKED CREW ARRIVE.—By the Sagana this morning there arrived Capt. Jos. Hagan, Thos. Colbert, Patk. Fitzpatrick and James Rexon, all of Carbonear, members of the crew of the Cleopatra, which was lost on Oct. 12th. The men had been living under canvas for 16 days at White Point Bay and when taken off by the Cabot they were weakened out from exposure.

EXPRESS PASSENGERS.—The following Kyle's passengers are on the incoming express due here at 2.30 p.m. to-day: Sergt. F. Mercer, Sergt. J. Temple, Privates H. Green, S. Stowe, W. Mugford, T.
