The Dairy Herd at the Ontario Experimental Farm.

Statement of President Mills Regarding the Presence of Disease.

clogist of the Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

3 The other imported cows seemed somewhat cut of health in the early part of the aummer, an Ayrshire and a Red Poll. The laties was lame; and, not knowing whether her trouble was caused by the lameness or not, we decided to keep her in a grass plot by herself and await developments. The Ayrshire, we thought, should be dealt with at once; so in July we tested nine saimals; the Ayrshire cow, our Guernsey buil, a calf dropped during the time of her sickness by one of the Guernseys which were slaughtered in April, a fine, healthy-looking grade cow, and some steers on the farm. Four showed a rise in temperature and five did not. These four were the Ayrshire cow, the calf of the slaughtered Guernsey, the healthy-looking grade cow and the Guernsey buil. The first three were slaughtered in the presence of the Hon. Mr. Dryden, and the buil was isole at the salughtered, the calf (which had been fed on its sick mother's mik) and the Ayrshire cow were evidently diseased. The case of the healthy-looking grade cow was not to clear. Mr. Dryden said he could see nothing the matter with her, but Dr. Reed states that to him there was clear evidence of tubercular disease in its incipient stage in one of the lungs.

4. We then decided to test the remainder of the herd, but could not get any tuberculine till October. On receipt of the lymph we tested eighteen animals—the Red Poiled cow, the Guernsey bull, and sixteen healthy-looking cows and heifers. Fourteen showed a rise in temperature and four did not. Of the fourteen, we slaughtered two—the Red Poil and a very healthy-looking grade cow. The former was badly diseased, but the latter was something like the other healthy-looking grade cow. Prof. Dea and Mr. James Miller, of Gueiph, said they could see little or nothing the matter with her, while Dr. Reed stated that to him there were clear indications of lacipient tubercular trouble.

A SUMMARY OF FACTS. The other imported cows seemed some memody for coughs, colds, sorothroat, hoursessed were cold as indications of him there were clear indications of the him there were clear indications of him there were clear indications of will be ready will for a moment compared with the ready will fo a series of microscopic tests of the milk.

a series of microscopic tests of the milk. When these experiments are competed, we shall slaughter the whole of them and give to the public a full statement of the facts. Upitil Nov. 27, the date of the last letter which we received from Dr. Mc. Kenie, he had not discovered any bacilli taberelois in the milk. His investigations are still in progress, and we hope to receive his official report before long.

DARY STOCK OFFERED FOR SALE.

Seven calves from the dairy department were officed for sale with the farm stock on 187 hinst. Prof. Dean made the steelon. These calves were all from the leating-looking cows which we tested in Ostober-two Ayrshires and two Helsteins from four cows in which the lymph produced a rise in temperature, and one agrainer and two Jerseys from three cows in which the lymph produced a rise in temperature. We still have all those cows, and they appear perfectly healthy. No one can raise any question about the three calves from the cows which have passed the test satisfactorily; and we (including onverting) method to the four calves for two raions; (1) Because the dams at the image of the test in October appeared perfectly healthy, and to the Dresent time have shown no signs of any kind of ailment; (2) and chiefly meaning any kind of ailment; (2) and chiefly meaning the progress of the sale, some milk. Notwithstanding these facts for one can milk the four of the calves were from conversions that four of the calves were from conversions that four of the calves were from conversions and confidency that the theory and conditions of the sale, stand during the progress of the sale, sared that four of the calves were from conversions and confidency tested and condemned, he in the buyers and inform them that they elightest sale the the day Mr. Dryden other buyers and made a full attacement of the facts and made a full attacement of the facts. which he had bought.

CORRECTIONS.

Mr. Dryden never countermanded any of Dr. Reed's orders as to the isolation of animals. It is not true that Prof. Dean or Mr. Dryden refused to make a statement at the sale. No such course was suggested, and there was no reason why they should do so. And the insinuation that we have been using or selling diseased milk or butter is a slanderous falsehood, wickedly uttered, for a wicked purpose. We never used or sold any of the milk from cows that showed signs of sickness, and ever since the October test of the healthy-locking cows we have heated their milk to a temperature sufficient to destroy all germs that might be in it.

the Presence of Disease.

The Editor of the Adventures:
As some very sensational, spiteful and regises assertions regarding our dairy caute have been published within the last treatys, I shall be obliged if you will agent the following statement and explanation of facet:
First, allow me to state that we have maken attempt to conceal the fact that we have had several cases of tuberculosis inort dairy herd this year. It has been well recome to all town to all our students and many other. We have given careful attention to the matter, and intend to publish a full stance to fit he facts when our experimentare completed.
Seendly, I may say that our dairy herd his year, and the chart four stock, including the bulls of altered as except the Guyrnsey, is at the faminal diagra, on the opposite side of the read, and nearly a quarter of a mile discast.

THE TROBELE.

AN MEROIC DOG,

The Fams of Whese Daring Deeds Lives On.

(From the London Dally News.)

The good deeds of Bob, the firemen's deg, are still fresh in the memory of his human comrades. It was at a fire in Duke street that Bob darted into a burning house, and, oblivious of the heredinary animosity between the two races, brought out—there being no other living thing to rescue—a half-suffected eat, which he carried in his mouth to a place of safety. At another fire in the Westminster bridge road the brigade thought that all lives had been saved; but Bob,
having made his usual rapid survey, began to scratch and back turiously at a little door till, in spite of their fear of fanning
the flames by creating a draught, the firemen broke in and discovered a child crouching down in a corner paic-stricken. Bob was siways in attendance at the old Southwark fire station, ready to follow an engine and to run up the ladder and jump
through the windows of a burning building even mote quickly than the iremen.
He died, it will be remembered, at the post of duty, run over by the wheels of an engine on the way—blarsted cab-driver,
