ATTACKED BY A ST. BERNARD. About 12 o'clock today, as a woman was passing the corner of Wellington and Dundas streets, a small dog which accompanied her was attacked by a St. Bernard dog, the property of a family in the locality. The woman, to protect her pet, picked it up in her arms, when the big dog jumped at her, knocking her down. It required the efforts of three or four men to restrain the animal from further attacking her. Police court proceedings against the owners of the St. Bernard will probably follow.

It is probable that at tonight's meeting of the board of works the committee will settle the ward foremanship question by adopting Engineer Graydon's suggestion and retaining five of the present six foremen. Their districts will probably be alloted as Wards 1 and 3, Foreman Powie; ward 2, Foreman Oke; ward 4, With Trask's Magnetic Ointment. Foreman Mullhall; ward 5, Guaranteed at C. GAELIC SERVICE.

Petrolia Topic: It is probably some years since the Gospel was preached n Petrolia in the Gaelic language, and yet there are many here who are well acquainted with that ancient and beautiful tongue. In the surrounding country there are also many who would be delighted to hear a Gaelic sermon. A service in this language will be conducted in the Presbyterian Church on the afternoon of Sunday, May 19, at 4 o'clock, by Rev. Isaac Macdonald, M.A., of Burns' Church, Mosa. Mr. Macdonald is an accom-plished Gaelic scholar, and he preaches every Sunday in Gaelic and English to his own people. We are confident that his visit to Petrolia will be very much appreciated by the Highlande estate of £250,000. Miss Emma Gyde,

FORMER LONDONER'S BRAVERY A recent dispatch to The Advertiser describes an action that has since been the most-talked-of event in Nebraska, the saving of thirteen pupils by a young school teacher, Miss Lizzie Cottman, of Sioux county. Miss Cottman was born in this city, at 491 York street, where her grandmother, Mrs. N. McVean, still resides, and was edu-cated at the Waterloo and Union schools. She is a niece of Mr. R. D. McVean and a cousin of Mr. Robert McVean, of this city. The story of 9 Bathurst street, yesterday, rived at the school house she found the building, plunged into the torrent, which was by this time waist deep, waded to a barn nearby and secured a horse and rope. Returning to the building, which was afloat, she fastened one end of the rope to the doorsill and the other end around the horse's neck. Then she headed for dry land, and after a desperate struggle reached the shore, where she fastened the rope to a tree. She hailed a farmer, who came to her assist-ance, and the thirteen pupils were safely landed.
