AMERICAN MARKETS. CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 24.—The markets on the boar of trade were badly mixed today. Each pit was at variance with the others. Manipulation seemed to be to blame for Each pit was at Variance with the others. Manipulation seemed to be to blame for the irregularity. The gossip that one elevator had July wheat in control, that the "Gates crowd" had July corn cornered, that July oats were being strongly advanced by manipulation, and that the packing house interests were artificially booming provisions, made the outsiders fight shy of the pits and leave most of the business to the professionals. After strained fluctuations, July wheat closed a shade higher, July corn %c higher, September corn ¼c up, and July oats 1½c higher; provisions closed 5c lower to 17½c higher. Local receipts of wheat were 38 cars, 6 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 250 cars, making a total for the three points of 288 cars, against 146 last week and 429 a year ago. Primary receipts were 422,000 bu, com-

MOST INTENSE ANXIETY IS MANIFESTED REGARDING OUTCOME OF KING'S ILLNESS

LAST NIGHT'S REP ORTS.

DOING WELL. London, June 24.-The lord mayor, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, visited the Duke of Fife (son-in-law of the King) late this afternoon. The duke said his majesty was peacefully sleeping, and that his pulse and temperature were satisfactory.

Just before the adjournment of the House of Commons, Mr. Balfour, the government leader, announced that the condition of King Edward had not changed, and that his majesty was progressing satisfactorily.

Indescribable consternation prevails throughout the country, and this consternation is re-flected in the cablegrams received from all centers of the universe.

THE KING'S DANGER.

King Edward is in a room facing he beautiful gardens of Buckingham Palace, and far from the street and the crowd. If tonight's progress is maintained, he will probably tide over the effects of his severe operation, which has successfully removed the local trouble, but should any complication occur, such as septic peritonitis or blood-poisoning, it was feared his majesty's present physical and nervous condition would prove unequal to the strain involved. There is consequently intense anxiety as to the

The King's doctors believe that his majesty would have been dead before now except for the operation. His condition became so alarming last night that at one time it was feared death might ensue before the surgeon's knife could afford him relief. tense swelling of the extremities, accompanied by alarming symptoms of mortification, constituted the emergency which demanded an imoperation. To the last the King tried to avoid this, and he was willing to be carried to the abbey for the coronation ceremony in order that it should occur as irranged. The influence of Queen Alexandra was enlisted, however, and at an early hour this morning the royal patient was prepared for the operation, which, even in the skillful hands of England's best surgeons, was fraught with grave danger.

THE OPERATION. Shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon his majesty was moved from his couch to the operating table and the anaesthetic was administered. Sir Frederick Traves made the incision near the patient's groin, and carried it upwards with an outward slant, for nearly four inches. The obstruction was removed and a tubing was placed in the affected intestine. King Edward's first words when he returned to consciousness was to ask for 'George," and the Prince of Wales, who was waiting in the next room, was immediately admitted to his father's presence. While the operation was being performed the great central court yard of Buckingham palace, so lately the scene of such brilliant gatherings, was utterely deserted and an impressive silence reigned throughout the building. The equerries talked in whispers, servants tip-toed about and the tension grew almost unbearable. Then the word was passed around: 'All had gone well."

OFFICIAL NOTICE. A brief notice has been published in the Gazette, as a result of which the entire state, social and business arrangements throughout the country are paralyzed. The order is dated from the Earl Marshal's office and reads as follows: "I have to announce that the solemnity of the coronation of Their Majesties King Ed-ward VII. and Queen Alexandra is postponed from the 26th to a date hereafter to be determined."

THE QUEEN.

Queen Alexandra has borne

26 0 strain of the past week with the bravest spirit. She was always fear-ful of what might happen. Her majesty took her part in the festivities at Ascot and elsewhere without revealing any sign of her inward anxiety, and when she was told today that an operation was imperative and that the coronation would have to be postponed, she quietly answered: "Have I not felt that this would happen?" and asked. "How does the devise means to lessen the King's grief and disappointment, although she was evidently greatly distressed. The idea was mooted in some influential quarters today that with a view

The leading business houses of London have decided to keep open June 26 and 27, although the banks will probably be closed those days.

Among the hundreds of postponements caused by the sudden iliness of the coronation honors. is perhaps the keenest sufferer among all who lose financially as a result of the postponement of the coronation. The harvest Portsmouth expected to reap from the naval review will now be lost to the city. The bonfires which were to top the hills of the United Kingdom from John O'Groat's to Land's End will not be lighted; they will be kept intact, however, in the hope of the celebration being held at a later date.

NOTABLE DISCUSSION.

andra, and afterwards an inform-al, and perhaps historic discussion occurred between the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught and Lord fully concealed. Salisbury, Mr. Balfour and several other members of the cabinet. Before representatives in London and memers of the House of Lords and the House of Commons, had inscribed their names on the visitors' book at Buckingham Palace. All the royal princes called personally on the Prince of Wales, and bade him good-bye. The majority of them will leave London tomorrow morning for their respective countries.

PRAYERS FOR THE KING.

In striking contrast to the happy anticipation with which the day opened is an order issued tonight by the Bishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, and the Archbishop of York, the Most Rev. William D. MacLagan, appointing special forms for the intercession services to be held next Thursday. "The congregation," says the archbishops, in their joint or-"would doubtless be thankful to join at this juncture in prayer to the Almighty for blessings on his ma-jesty the King and for his speedy recovery. The first two prayers in those prescribed for the visitation of the sick might be used for this occasion." The Archbishop of Canterbury also asks for "the public and private prayers of all in behalf of the King in his serious illness." A large congregation in St. Paul's Cathedral listened this afternoon to the Bishop of Stepney, who is one of King Edward's intimate friends. The bishop referred to the King's recent presence in the cathedral at the peace thanksgiving as a sad contrast to day's circumstances, and asked his congegation to pray for his majesty, the royal family, the King's physicians, and to learn to hope. Then fol-lowed a solemn pause while the vast congregation knelt reverently in silent prayer. A short service of intercession followed. Many Americans were present at St. Paul's. A service similar to the one held there was also held in St. George's Chapel by the Dean of
