St. Thomas Plays In Sarnia Today With Return Game In Railroad City Tomorrow

SOUTHERN GROUP WINNERS TO MEET AS FIRST PLANNED

O. B. A. A. Orders Bring Criticism From Both Sarnia and St. Thomas.

PLAY ON SATURDAY

If there are three games necessary, it

Local fans think that the Sarnians will give a real account of themselves, and are capable of producing an upset. Allan in form is almost a sure winner against the Saints, and Moorehouse is on a par with any of the St. Thomas pitching staff. The Borderers are hitting at about the same stride as the Tom Cats and have a little edge on defensive play when the season is considered.

Orient intermediates go to Brantford today where they meet the fast Cordage team, considered by many as the coming intermediate champions of the province. Quick, who kept the St. Thomas batters in check at Chatham Monday, will hurl today's game. Russell will probably pitch the game here on Saturday.

If there are three games necessary, it is not known what action will be taken, as even games on two successive days are going to send the Southern League winners against the Kent County winners under a handicap.

The orders of the O. B. A. A. brought plenty of criticism from both Sarnia and St. Thomas. Sarnia fanse especially have been looking forward to seeing their team in action against the Group A winners and especially as they've had to wait two weeks now for them.

Competition is so even this year or appears so from the dope that the three games per play-off series on which the O. B. A. A. bases its time calculations will not be too many.

Local fans think that the Sarnians will give a real account of themselves, and are capable of producing an upset. McKenzie, manager of the Eskimo hockey team, stated today that he had completed a trade with the Ottawa Senators by which Joe Simpson, star defence man of the Edmonton team, goes to Ottawa, in exchange for Frank Nighbor, the bril-

In view of McKenzle's repeated declaration that he will not part with Keats, speculation is rife here as to what disposition he will make of the skipper of the team, who has played the center position here for years. On the Side Lines

The plight in which the London East Junior and Juvenile Clubs find themselves when they face the prospect of financing trips called for by the O. B. A. A. play-offs is not a very nice one. The youngest team, the juveniles, have to go to Windsor today, and were making a brave attempt to canvass London East for funds yesterday. There is a chance that the kids may have to watch the train puff out without them.

Fostering sport is a dangerous civic innovation, but it seems that up to Keats May Move Back To junior teams at least, small grants from the city and handled through responsible bodies, might be feasible when it comes to the teams representing London in widor competition.

It may be possible that once the idea of central control of sport is definitely and permanently sold in London, that the L. A. A. could under-trounce the league-leading Bay City take to press for civic aid to junior teams, in just such situations as con-

They insist that all leagues had plenty of warning to get finished on time.

It's reasonable enough in the case of the Southern League. Group B took the warning and arranged its schedule so that a winner would be declared, but Group A did not, and it's really the Group A teams which have worked the hardship on Sarnia, and after causing them to wait two weeks Ashley; for a series, then forced two games in successive days upon the borderers. The O. B. A. A. this year has offered to aid in financing the senior ners to tour the Nickel Belt League, and also meet several Georgian Bay League teams.

SURPRISE OF TENNIS TOURNEY Jack Millman Defeats Ted Beltz in Men's Singles

Match. ROSS WINS

Jack Millman, a young junior player entered in the men's singles in the city entered in the men's singles in the city tennis championships, sprung the surprise of yesterday's play at the London Tennis Club when he defeated Ted Beltz, member of the London tennis team, after a long and hard fought three-set match. He came from behind after dropping the third set at 6—0 to win by a score of 6—3, 0—6, 6—3.

Although Beltz was decidedly off his game, Millman displayed the best form he has shown this season. His service was hard, and his net play aggressive. Beltz at times played the net, but Millman generally gained this vantage, and Beltz was forced to resort to defensive play. Millman is only 17 years old, and in yesterday's play snowed promise of becoming one of the city's best.

Dr. Ross, last year's singles winner, easily defeated Dr. Chalk at 6—0, 6—0. Ross has been playing a more forceful game during the past two days, and is practically at his best form. R. F.
