

The Week At Ottawa

Debate on Autonomy Bill Reveals Dangerous Character of Legislation.

Mr. Clifton Sifton's Recantation Suggests Nigger in Wood Pile.

Grand Trunk Pacific About to Acquire Charter for North-Western Road.

From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, March 25.—Judging from the tone of some of the speeches delivered in the Commons this week, it is not surprising that the government can readily realize the dangerous character of the school legislation which it proposes to foist upon the new provinces. It is not surprising that Sir Wilfrid Laurier it must be said that he made a very moderate presentation of the bill, and that he was not reasonably asked to adopt a more drastic policy, and the cause is not an open question with the members of the party to follow such a line of action as the Conservatives would like to see. The circumstances of one province are not those of another; unquestionably, however, Mr. Borden will carry with him the bulk of the Conservatives. Liberal members from Ontario and the West although the actual number of the latter will not be large, the division bells ring. It is said that Mr. Greenway will be one. Possibly also Mr. Borden's amendment declaring in favor of "Home Rule" on Educational Matters for the new provinces may be defeated by another amendment from the ministerial benches, but anyway before the matter is finally disposed of Mr. Borden at some stage or other, will secure an explicit vote from the House on his amendment.

SETTLERS FROM NORTHWEST.

Forty Farmers from Manitoba Are Now Inspecting Okanagan Valley.

Vernon, B. C., March 25.—(Special)—Forty substantial agriculturists from Manitoba are in the Okanagan valley, inspecting the country with a view to settling in Okanagan, where, for the last series of meetings, and returning to England, will visit the provinces, concluding at Ottawa in November, after which they will return to America.

There Was Loud Dissent.

When he uttered this opinion, and the following day the Conservative realizing that he had put his foot in it, endeavored to qualify his statement, but it had gone on record and will stand against him.

Mr. Boud declares that Okanagan fruits sold in Manitoba is primarily responsible for this movement of settlers into the province, and that the splendid climate, which is generally becoming known on the outside.

THE PRINCIPLES OF A RAILWAY POLICY.

In the discussion of a railway policy we are asked to discard the consideration of "academic" principles and consider the practical side of the question. We are asked to accept the assurance that "an aggressive railway policy," whatever that may imply in its totality, will be a success for the province. The present Government strongly entrenched in power. Even if this were not the case, it would be well to beware of the Greeks when they come to the presents, popularity is no real test of the merits of the measure. It more often represents what the people are led to believe that what they ought to believe. The country was swept last general election by a policy of the Dominion Government, which was a transactional railway. We believe that a more intelligent and ruinous contract in the public interest, and one which is beginning to realize in British Columbia the full force and effect of its wisdom. Nevertheless, the electors threw up their hats for it, and even many Conservatives, who had never cast Liberal votes in the past, were carried into the saddle. The man who always walks in the procession is not always right, nor is he always entitled to our respect. Therefore, we say that the popularity of a measure may be received is not the true criterion of its merits. It may be a success in the popular eye, but it may be the indiscriminate lading out of favors to railway companies in various provinces next year, and it may be popular. It would probably carry into power any Government that proposed it, and the spending of money is always popular, and it is always good for the Governments. It would probably stimulate speculation to an unusual degree, and many would make money as a consequence. Incidentally, considerable development would be brought about.

Swallow Laurier's Amendment.

The school clause holus bolus, and this is one of the mysteries of the Dominion Government. It is not clear why it is not known whether there is any practical difference between the original clause and Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment. Mr. Sifton endeavored to meet this opinion but signally failed.

The Eastern Independent Press is a unit in stating that had Mr. Sifton advised to his original dissent, and that he would have been the biggest man in Canada, instead of which he has been won round and politicians are asking what his next move will be. Some members go so far as to say that Mr. Sifton obtained a promise from the government for further assistance to the Canadian Northern, and that interests he has been specially watching in the cabinet for some years, but of this more later.

Dr. Chase's mentioned can be

The bill concerning the sale of the E. & N. railway to the Canadian Pacific will be considered in the railway committee next week. From the Standard, finding that he had some time at his disposal, has been spending a few days in Montreal.

The general belief here among British Columbia members is that the Grand Trunk Pacific will secure the charter of the Pacific Northern Company. It is not known whether there will be any railway subsidies granted this session, but the latter company was a formal request for contribution from the federal treasury of $6,000 per mile for sixty miles, which, added to the British Columbia subsidy, would make a nice little nest egg for the Grand Trunk Pacific. Should this subsidy be granted, stipulation to be insisted upon by the British Columbia members is that the Grand Trunk Pacific must commence construction on the British Columbia end simultaneously with other sections. Some British Columbia members freely express approval of the action of the McCreid government in refusing a loan to the Grand Trunk. They are very much annoyed at the present breach of faith on the part of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and as last year they refrained from moving an amendment to the contract on receipt of a specific pledge from Mr. Hays that the interests of British Columbia would not be neglected by the company. It was on the strength of Mr. Hays' letter that the Grand Trunk Pacific, Mr. Macdonald's amendment in favor of construction, being commenced in British Columbia this year.

A BOY'S TRAGIC FATE.

Missing Lad Believed to Be Locked in Unknown Empty Freight Car.

New York, March 25.—Locked in a freight car somewhere between New York and Albany, a boy died of starvation and fright. The police fear the fate of seven-year-old John Donohy, who was missing since March 20, but it was not until today that the possibility of such an end for the little fellow occurred to the police. The boy was searching for him. It was not until today that he succeeded in finding a boy, who was locked in a freight car. Then was learned that John Donohy, with several companions, was seen playing around some empty freight cars at Eleventh avenue, and one of the boys had told the police that he saw Donohy and another boy enter one of the cars before it was attached to a train which was being made up. Since that time nothing has been heard from the missing boy. The police believe that the boy may have been locked by some trainman who did not know the lad was in the car, and that it is now somewhere far out on the line.

SAN DOMINGO'S CREDITORS.

Foreigners Take Advantage of Situation to Press Their Claims.

San Domingo, Republic of Santo Domingo, March 25.—Statements published today by the creditors of the Republic of Santo Domingo, which are creditors of Santo Domingo, have, after a conference, agreed on a temporary settlement of the financial questions involving this republic are premature. Foreign creditors and principally Italy and Belgium, are taking advantage of the situation to press their claims. In order to meet their agreement it has been proposed by the Dominican government that an American designated a commissioner for the collection of all dues at southern ports, forty-five per cent of such collections being to be paid to the government. This proposal is being considered by the government; should the money be divided in proportion to all creditors, including the Santo Domingo Improvement Co. of New York. It is also suggested that the American government take charge of the customs house at San Pedro de Macoris under the arbitration award in the Santo Domingo Improvement Co. case. It is understood that the Improvement Co. claiming prior rights, demands that fifty-five per cent of the dues at southern ports be paid to the Dominican government. It is doubtful if such a proposition will be accepted. This far-reaching has been decided. The government is desirous of an agreement being reached in order to prevent difficulties with European creditors which might lead to intervention and also precipitate a revolution. The country is quiet, although the situation is unsettled.

PORT ARTHUR ADMINISTRATION.

Local Government, Machinery Gives Promise of Success.

According to intelligence from Port Arthur the local administration machinery is working very promisingly. The staff of the naval station are engaged in investigations of the port day and night, and their business is also approaching completion, but many repeated investigations are required as to the disposal of the vessels sunk in the harbor. On the whole, the position of these ships gives prospects of their recovery, but it is impossible to obtain details under the existing circumstances. Most of the Japanese officers at Port Arthur are residing in buildings formerly occupied by Russian officers. Of the Russian operations on the main defence line that in the direction of Pantling shan is most terrible and the position of the Japanese continues there. A large number of uniforms are being discovered on the scene covering the bones of their wearers, who died bravely in the last summer. There are over 10,000 Russian wounded under Japanese and Russian medical treatment at Port Arthur. The Japanese 25th destroyers, whose names were recently announced, are expected to be all completed in August or September. Their names were, of course, given by the Japanese, but one or two of the names are said to have been specially suggested by His Majesty. It seems unlikely that the Japanese will be able to capture the Russian port before the battle of Mukden was destroyed by Chinese brigades, which has made the Japanese retreat more difficult. The Asahi war correspondent wired that on Feb. 16 and 17 parts of the railway connecting Port Arthur with Telling and Kaiyuan. About the same time the Chinese brigades, working for the Japanese, destroyed a large amount of Russian stores at Fakhin.
