Argument in Water Case

Counsel for Contending Parties Are Summing Up the Evidence.

Argument on behalf of the city was concluded yesterday forenoon.

Mr. Justice Duff Points Out Important Phases of the Case.

THE argument on behalf of the city in the water works case, which has been going on for the last three days, was concluded yesterday forenoon. The opening argument on behalf of the water works company was then taken up by A. E. Luxton, K. C.

Mr. Luxton said that the company was the owner of the land on which the water works were situated, and that the city was the occupier of the land. He contended that the city was not entitled to the water, and that the company was entitled to it.

His Lordship wished to know if the plaintiffs contended that they could go to the source of supply and shut it off and then make themselves sole judges of the amount those below were entitled to.

Mr. Luxton contended that they could do so.

His Lordship contended that they could not do so.

Another Essential Point was that in the construction of the reservoirs there had been work done that was not for the sole purpose of supplying the power company.

His Lordship said he was satisfied that the company was entitled to the water for the purpose of supplying the power company.

Mr. Luxton stated that it had been proved that the works at Thetis Lake were not sufficient for the demand and the company had done additional work. He said that when the company carried out its works the mayor and aldermen visited Goldstream and took no exception. Under this the city forfeited all right to the water.

His Lordship said that he was of the opinion that if the company appropriated the water under power given by its act he did not think that the city, not putting in a claim for it, could now come in and deprive the company of what was appropriated by law.

His Lordship wanted to know, however, if riparian owners along a stream had not the same rights as to the decrease in the water of a lake which was the head of the stream as if the water were withdrawn from the stream itself.

On resuming the hearing in the afternoon, Mr. Luxton continued his argument. He claimed that the plaintiffs by their works had collected all the water which is there at the present time and had made it artificial water. The plaintiffs did not use the word but they contended that all the water that had been collected was artificial water. He contended that there is no act of 1892 and 1897. Mr. Luxton was of the opinion that they could open an application for any record. The grant was secured from the E. & N. Railway Company

Forecast of New Cabinet

Mr. Balfour Opens the Campaign Before His Constituents in Manchester.

The members of the Balfour cabinet will give up their seats at once at a private council meeting to be held Monday and their successors will take the seals on Monday afternoon.

His Lordship contended that the company had to have the power to go to the source of supply and shut it off and then make themselves sole judges of the amount those below were entitled to.

Constituent Assembly on Basis of Universal Suffrage a Growing Demand.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 11.—Via Bydkaube.—A meeting held in the Nemetti theatre here, which was attended by representatives of all the associations advocating a constitutional assembly on the basis of universal suffrage, was broken up by the police, who drove the audience from the theatre.

The extreme newspapers of St. Petersburg are openly defying the government and are calling for a general strike. The torpedo shipboat Philander is anchored at St. Nicholas bridge. The government has ordered the ship to be scuttled and killed for refusing to permit his workmen to hold a meeting.

It is learned on high authority that the government has finally decided against universal suffrage in the moderate Liberal form. The old project of twenty-one workmen representatives and the rest of the ballot to the small rent payers, merchants and educated classes. The government has decided to have a council of the empire and receive imperial approval. If the decision is upheld it is apt to end all question of the support of the zemstvos.

Appeal for a General Strike

The railroad men claim that they have been informed that several sections of the southwestern systems have already responded to the appeal for a general strike. They are, however, urging a postponement of action until the end of the year.

It is believed that if the attempt is made to strike the government will be forced to take drastic measures. The government has decided to have a council of the empire and receive imperial approval.

Planning an Armed Revolution

The government has attacked its credit in circulating advertising matter in the form of a pamphlet. The pamphlet is entitled "The Russian Revolution" and is a warning to the people.

Notwithstanding this, the strike is spreading. The strike is spreading to the railways, telegraphs, and other public services.
