MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 24 1885

If Montreal does not stamp out the smallpox, Montreal-made clothing, cigars, shoes and like factory goods, will be unsaleable in other parts of the dominion.

"Heaven has already punished that bad man," said the economical philosopher, as he stepped out of a restaurant where he had been overcharged, "for I have his silver spoons in my pocket." If one may believe the Hamilton Spectator, heaven has already punished Mr. Blake for interfering with the freedom of the press, inasmuch as he lost his valise en route to his ship. No measure of poetical justice could be more complete. Mr. Blake first sacked his Grip, and then lost his gripsack. It is an awful warning.

This is the day of fate in East Durham. Should Mr. Preston win the seat everybody, including himself, will be surprised. But in that more than unexpected event the tories would be more than surprised—they would be disgusted and discouraged. The general opinion now is that his chances of being elected are fewer than his chances of being struck by lightning. But in politics as in love audacity often wins, while a faint heart vainly thumps off its vest buttons under the most favorable circumstances.

If the man in the moon ever does hold his nose it must be while he looks down upon Garrison creek where it crosses King street. At that point the creek is rank, and it not only smells to heaven but to earth, and to the children thereof. We presume that its present aggravated stench is in a large measure due to the hollow being turned into a dumping ground, but whatever the cause of the evil an effort should be made to apply a remedy before the city is disgraced in the eyes and noses of the thousands of strangers who will cross the dirty ditch on their way to the exhibition.

Guelph is a most unhappy city. Montreal is afflicted with the smallpox, but what is pestilence compared with a baseball club that has lost confidence in umpires, and a brass band that failed to win a prize at the Waterloo lagerfest! We infer from our Guelph contemporaries that the band judges did not know enough to decide between the relative merits of a fog horn and a horn of beer. Of course the Guelph will now proceed to strengthen their band. The N. P. places no restrictions upon the importation of ball twisters and horn blowers. We wish her well. May her horn be exalted.

The capital of the Mackay-Bennett cable company represents little more than actual cost of laying down and equipment. But the capital of the Anglo-American cable combination, controlled by Messrs. Reuter Field and Gould is about four times the honest cost of the whole work, with big profits added. To earn fair interest on all this watered stock is simply impossible by fair means. And so the attempt is being made by cutting down rates to starve the new company into submission and amalgamation. But the London Truth says the latter is in too strong hands to be easily wiped out. Its shares are held by a few rich men who can stand working without profits far longer than the associated monopoly companies.

It is seldom that the repayment of a loan gives offence, but the C. P. R.'s proposal to return to the national treasury five millions of dollars because they do not need the money will be a cause of chagrin in certain quarters. Those who do not regard the ruin of the country as a necessary preliminary to our political salvation will gladly congratulate all concerned. To say nothing of the intrinsic value of the money, the bare fact that our great transcontinental road is in such an unexpected good condition that it has no use for five millions of dollars must make for the benefit of every interest in the dominion. It will create confidence at home and abroad, and we need not explain what that means. Our political pessimists had better take in their signs. The people will not do business with them, nor with any set of men who attempt to march into office through the gloomy valley of despair.

A correspondent writes to us that shorthand clerks are poorly paid in Canada, that misleading statements in this respect are made by teachers, and suggests the formation of a union for protection. He also complains that it is women who are working for low wages and overcrowding the business. That may be so; then competition will settle the status of the shorthand writer. The good shorthand writers are few in number; confined mostly to the courts, parliamentary and newspaper work; these receive fair salaries because the men who can do the work are limited and have often other strings to their bow to aid them in getting posts besides their shorthand pencil. There is no great ability or dexterity required in ordinary shorthand clerks, and as the number of boys and girls who are willing to go into this business is large the salaries will always be small. Six dollars a week will soon be considered good pay for a letter writer who has a knowledge of shorthand.

Butter and Cheese.

The high prices which retailers continue to extort for butter and cheese, while wholesale prices are down, are really outrageous. For anything like good butter 25 cents to 27 cents is charged in Toronto: but in Montreal 19 cents is the very highest paid for the best creamery for export. Creamery butter is quoted at 18½ to 19½c.; Eastern townships, 14 to 16c.; Morrisburg 13 to 15c.; Brockville, 13 to 15c.; and Western, 12 to 14c. It is this latter, western butter, which is retailed in Toronto at from 22 to 27 cents. It would pay to bring our supplies from Montreal, where the price is governed by export figures.

In both here and in England stocks of cheese are accumulating, and there will be an unusually heavy surplus ere the season closes. A recent despatch says that Liverpool is full of cheese, for which the retailers continue to charge from 6d. to 7d. (12c. to 14c.), though at present wholesale rates they would have a good profit at 5d. (10c.) At Utica, last week, the current wholesale quotations were from 6½ to 6⅞c.; while in New York the very top of the market was 7c., and in Montreal 6⅞ to 7¼c. In Toronto we have to pay 12 to 14c., retail, equal to the highest retail prices in Liverpool. Housekeepers should refuse to pay these exorbitant figures for butter and cheese.

Muskoka, the Northern Railway, Mr Barker and the Governor-General.

Editor World: I had hoped that some more competent person would voice the disappointment felt by residents and sojourners in this part of the world in connection with the recent visit of the governor-general. We who have interests up here did contribute in one way or another to his excellency's enjoyment thereof. But the Northern railway company has a larger interest in the development of the Muskoka district as a summer resort than any individual, and what did Mr. Barker do that was complimentary to his excellency, or calculated to bring this district more attractively before the public? One Toronto paper had a partial account of the visit, studiously (and, I should think, unwisely) snubbing ex-Mayor McMurrich of your city by suppressing all mention of his thoroughly well-devised entertainment of our distinguished visitor. But Mr. Barker took no step whatever to exalt the horn of the district, and to turn public attention towards us. He lost a great opportunity of which his predecessor, Col. Cumberland, would have been quick to avail himself. The present manager of the road has no policy it seems. He does nothing to make business, and does not know how to retain it. A housemaid—provided she accounted honestly for funds coming into her hands—could do as much for the railway and for the country through which it passes. Surely it was his business to wait upon the governor-general at Toronto, and to offer his guidance and escort over the road. It has been the universal custom on other railways; but Mr. Barker was content to let his excellency literally fish for himself, and but for the chance hospitality of two or three individuals in the district Lord Lansdowne might have been left to starve on the Muskoka lakes. Off the islands A. P. Cockburn was his sole guide, philosopher and friend, and Mr. Barker should have been beside him helping to defray the expenses of entertainment, decoration and transport. He must have a curious idea of the duties of a live railway manager: and if this letter awakens him from his reverie in his arm chair at Hamilton it will not have been written in vain. ENTERPRISE.
Muskoka, Aug. 20.

Extortion by Tradesmen.

Editor World: The other day I went to a leading umbrella shop to get a new rib put in instead of one that had got bent. The charge, I was told, would be 25 cents, and I let the job go undone rather than pay it. In the old country it would have cost four cents, or six cents at the very outside. But it may be said that we have a duty on steel ribs for umbrellas. Well! duty and freight together would not amount to one quarter of a cent. Both in Canada and the United States people are entirely too free with their small change. The number is legion of articles sold in England for a penny (2c.) for which 5 cents is charged here every time; and of articles for which we have to pay 12c. or 25c. here, which in England are sold for from 4 to 12 cents. The high rents of shops here are partly the cause of this, no doubt, but even high rents, and duty, and all put together, fail to account for the fact that four or five times the English prices are charged here.
AN OLD COUNTRYMAN.

Drop Down and Have a Sniff.

Editor World: Several letters have appeared regarding the drainage of the city into the Toronto harbor. As no argument could be as effective as the direct appeal to the nostrils and stomach of any one paying a visit to the Esplanade at the present time, when the water is being stirred in search of grain, etc., lost by the fire, I would suggest that all citizens interested in the matter, shall make it their business to drop around that way, and that a mass meeting be called to discuss the necessity of immediate action with a view to the removal of the cause of this horrible cesspool.
A CITIZEN.

A Dandy Reference (?) Department.

Editor World: Being an anxious searcher after truth I visited the free library of the queen city of Canada yesterday and was courteously informed by a young lady in charge of the reference department that the establishment did not contain a Webster's dictionary. Who is the worthy who buys the books? The World will probably know. RATEPAYER.

To the Young Liberals.

From the Thorold Post.

We take the liberty of reminding the young men of Canada that there is plenty of material for an independent platform, and of expressing the hope that they may not be so blinded by the force of habit and early training as to be wheedled into an unconditional party following.

Paid for Laughing.

From the Philadelphia News.

There is one girl—not exactly a fashionable belle—who is kept in town. The beer gardens of New York range in social quality from the resorts of good families, where the arrangement goes so far as to admit nobody who does not present a printed invitation, previously sent out in the neighborhood, to the unconventional places wherein everybody with absorbent attributes as to beer, and the reverse as to money, is welcome. Now, high temperature is conducive to a lassitude which represses hilarity. The gas may burn never so brightly, the beer foam briskly over the tops of the mugs, the trees in the tubs ably pretend to be healthy foliage, and the cornetist blow his jolly brains out through his horn, but the drinker may still remain too inert to empty his glass with satisfactory frequency. During a tour of inspection last evening I dropped into a garden of the worst sort. To make the confession complete, it was none other than Harry Hill's establishment turned into a summer resort. There was not much going on worth mentioning, save that one young woman's merry laughter rang out frequently and so infectiously that before long the whole assemblage was in a state of hilarity without knowing why.

"Your beer must be particularly good," said I to Hill, "if it makes that girl so jolly."

"She isn't drinking a drop of beer," was the confidential reply; "it's only colored water. That's laughing Kitty. I hire her to laugh every night. It's business with her. O, there's nothing like a good example. The fellow with her is employed to talk to her—about any earthly thing he pleases, funny or sad—but her duty is to laugh out loud as often as every five minutes. I wouldn't spare her for five times her wages.

Over the Wheat.

Over the wheat the oriole flew,
A flash of flame, and he shook the dew
From his wings, and sang in the morning so sweet,
Over the wheat, over the wheat.

Over the wheat the warm wind blew,
And flocks of swallows of dusky hue
Came in the twilight wheeling fleet
Over the wheat, over the wheat.

Over the wheat the darkness flowed,
And the twinkling lamp of the fire-fly glowed
All night long, in the hovering heat,
Over the wheat, over the wheat.

Over the wheat the soft rain fell,
The dust and the rain and the drought to quell;
Cool its murmurous pulses beat
Over the wheat, over the wheat.

Over the wheat the long hours passed
Till ripe for the harvest it stood at last;
So slow, so sure, so strange, so sweet,
Grow eth in silence the golden wheat.

Over the wheat, the silent sky
Opened out to the stars so high;
Under the wheat the silent ground
Deepened down to the dark profound.

And the birds that over the wheat field flew
Could tell of its secret as much as you;
For never a wise man lived who knew
How out of the light and the dark it grew.

$200
IN CASH
As Extra Prizes

THE LI-QUOR TEA CO. of Canada (Geo. Clarke, Proprietor) have determined to offer the following PRIZES, viz.:

1st Prize - - $100 in cash.
2nd Prize - - $50 in cash.
3rd Prize - - $25 in cash.
4th Prize - - $25 in cash.

To the person sending in before September 1st, 1885, the longest list of words made from the letters composing the following:

The Li-Quor Tea Co.

In this phrase, as it stands above, there are ELEVEN DIFFERENT letters, five of them vowels, and many words can certainly be found in such a combination with ease. The prize will, however, probably find its way to one of the enterprising readers of these lines who goes beyond the obvious words. There is a chance for every industrious mind, as mere cleverness will not go for so much in this competition as perseverance. Boys and girls may occupy themselves with this problem as well as their elders, and there is no limit to the number of lists which may be sent from one family.

Any patron of the Li-Quor Tea Co. is free to mail us his list, and it is to be hoped that many will be heard from, one having as good a chance as another in this competition. Those not already customers may become eligible to compete by sending with their lists six Half-pound Vouchers taken from our packets of tea at either 50 cents, 60 cents, 70 cents, or 80 cents per lb., for which they may select as usual the books or bonuses to which they are entitled.

Rules of the Competition.

1. The words as printed above must be used as they stand. "Co." is intended to count for but TWO letters, and may not be expanded into "Company."

2. No letter may be used in one word more frequently than it occurs in the phrase Li-quor Tea Co.," O and E, for instance, may be employed twice, but L only once.

3. Proper names are excluded, but any word found in Webster's Dictionary (not a proper name) will be allowed, the actual words of the phrase excepted.

4. Words must be neatly written in columns and numbered thus—

1 Ace	4 Queer
2 Ache	5 Other
3 Lie	6 Rat
—Total..6

The total must invariably be set down.

5. Envelopes containing lists (which should reach the office of the Li-Quor Tea Co., 295 Yonge street, not later than noon Sept. 1st), should be endorsed "Li-Quor Tea Co. Prize Competition," and directly beneath must be written the number of words on the enclosed list. The list itself must bear at the top the name and full address of the sender. No accompanying letter is unnecessary. The names and addresses of the successful competitors will be published in the Evening Telegram on Thursday, Sept. 3rd.

6. To every list must be pinned six half-pound vouchers for our tea, for which the usual bonuses may be selected.

Failure to comply with one of the three first rules will result only in the cancellation of words gained by offending against them, but we cannot promise attention to lists not made out and sent in in accordance with rules 4, 5 and 6.
