

LIVRE DE VENTES DE LA TROISIÈME SÉRIE

Montréal, le 15 mars 1903

				Au comptant	A crédit
1903
Mars	15	J. Morin	Au comptant
		100 brls farine à $5.50.....	$550
		150 ms avoine à $0.60.....	$ 90
"	16	G. Vincent	Au comptant	640
		40 brls farine à $5 50.....
"	19	R. Louis	Au comptant	220
		800 ms blé à $0.65.....	$520
		35 brls farine à $5 50.....	$192.50
"	20	E. Thomas	Au comptant	712	50
		100 ms avoine à $0.60.....	$60
		150 ms blé à $0.65.....	$97.50
"	22	P. Joseph	Au comptant	157	50
		100 ms avoine à $0.60.....
"	23	Geo. Ross	Au comptant	60
		500 ms blé à $0.72.....
"	24	V. Nolin	Au comptant	360
		800 ms blé à $0.72.....		576

LANGUE ANGLAISE

DICTATION

PART I. - BUYING THE WHITE RABBIT

Lord Pelham, whose country-seat was situated not far from London, was walking home one afternoon about five o'clock. He came to a part of the road that was darkened by the thick shade of some large trees, when an ill-looking fellow, with a basket on his arm, came out from the roadside and addressed him. "My Lord, I have a white rabbit here; wouldn't you like to buy it?" His Lordship shook his head and walked on. The stranger followed him. "My Lord," he repeated, in a strangely expressive voice, "surely you will not refuse to buy my rabbit." "Nonsense: what use would it be to me? Good evening." "But, my Lord, you shall buy my rabbit," cried the fellow, pointing a pistol at his breast. "Oh well," said Lord Pelham, "if you put it in that way, I suppose I had better buy it. How much do you want for it?" "A thousand guineas." "But I haven't so much money about me." "Never mind that, my Lord: just sign this bill, and that will do." "But I have neither pen nor ink." "I have arranged for all that: here are both." His Lordship accordingly signed a bill for a thousand guineas, payable at sight, and was then allowed to depart in peace.

J. AHERN