CAMPBELL'S QUININE WINE.—Report from Dr. J. Baker Edwards, Ph. D. D.C.L. F.C.S. Professor of Chemistry and Microscopy.

I hereby certify that I have carefully analyzed the samples of "Quinine Wine" submitted to me by Messrs. Kenneth Campbell & Co., with the following result:

No. 1.—Dark in color and turbid, deposits a muddy sediment on standing, has a sweet and acid taste, Orange Flavor and scarcely bitter, yields on evaporation a thick syrup of inverted sugar, contains only a microscopic trace of Quinine and Quinidine. Is made with Orange Wine.

Sample X.—Dark color, with dark muddy deposit on standing, has an acid and slightly bitter taste, contains Cinchonine but no Quinine. Is made with an acid wine, not sherry.

No. 3.—Campbell's.—Light color, clear, with no deposit, contains Disulphate of Quinine in the proportion of 1 grain to two fluid ounces. Is made with sound sherry wine.

N.B.—The latter (Campbell's), is the only genuine "Quinine Wine" of the three samples examined.—Signed, JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, Ph. D. D.C.L.F.C.S. Prof. of Chemistry and Microscopy, Bishop's College and College of Industry, Montreal.

LONDON, May 31, 1876.

The ninety-seventh Derby was decided today on the far-famed Epsom Downs, and was won by Mr. Alexander Baltazzi's Kisser, by Buccaneer, out of Mineral.

Fully five hundred thousand persons were present, including every rough that London produces. Among the vast crowd were several foreign princes, but there was much disappointment occasioned by the absence of the Prince of Wales, his illness preventing his attending. The Princess of Wales, Duke of Cambridge, Duke of Connaught and the Duke and Duchess of Teck were also absent.

On the course, just before the start, the odds were 2 to 1 against Petrarch, 4 to 1 against the Mineral colt, 7 to 1 against Skylark, 7 to 1 against Forerunner, 8 to 1 against All Heart, 38 to 1 against Great Tom, Wild Tommy and Julius Cæsar, while all the others were 50 to 1.

Of the 229 subscribers fifteen came to the post. These were Lord Rosebery's All Heart, Father Claret and Bay Wyndham; Mr. J. H. Houldsworth's Coltness, Mr. R. Peck's Julius Cæsar and Forerunner, Lord Falmouth's Skylark and Great Tom, Mr. John Watson's Wisdom, Duke of Hamilton's Wild Tommy, Lord Zetland's Hardrada, Mr. Gomm's Advance, Count La Grange's Braconnier, Lord Dupplin's Petrarch and Mr. Alexander Baltazzi's Mineral colt, the winner, who was subsequently named Kisser, and who, ridden by Maidment, secured the first Derby ever won by an unnamed colt or filly. Cheer after cheer greeted each candidate as he made his way out of the paddock, and when Petrarch appeared deafening huzzas rent the air.

After a preliminary canter, which was led by Skylark, the entire field got away at sixteen minutes past three o'clock, with the exception of All Heart and Julius Cæsar, this pair being slightly behind. Father Claret was the first to show in front, Coltness running second, followed by Forerunner, and then in a cluster came Great Tom, Skylark, Wisdom, Hardrada, Petrarch, the Mineral Colt and Bay Wyndham leading the remainder of the field, with Julius Cæsar and All Heart bring up in the rear. But little alteration was made in the order of the running until the mile post was passed, when Father Claret increased his lead to two lengths in advance of Coltness, Petrarch in the meantime having moved up to third place, within three or four lengths of Coltness. Then in cluster came Great Tom, Skylark, Wisdom, Hardrada and Braconnier, with All Heart beaten off. Coming into the straight the favorite, Petrarch, raised the hopes of his backers by going to the front and holding the lead for one mile and a quarter and until within two distances of home, when he gave out, and the Mineral Colt, who, under Maidment's steady riding, had been gradually drawing up, took the first place, and in an easy canter came in a winner by nearly five lengths. Forerunner and Julius Cæsar also passed Petrarch, and made a determined effort at the half distance to overhaul the Mineral Colt, but failed signally, Forerunner beating Julius Cæsar three lengths for second place. Petrarch was the same distance behind Julius Cæsar, and then came Skylark, Coltness, Wisdom, Great Tom, Wild Tommy, Braconnier, Hardrada, Advance and All Heart in the order named. Bay Wyndham and Father Claret did not pass the winning post at all. The time of the race was 2:44.

Epsom, May 31, 1876.—The ninety-seventh renewal of the Derby stakes of 50 sovs. each, half forfeit, for colts, 123 lbs, and fillies, 117 lbs, then three years old, the owner of the second horse to receive 300 sovs, and the third 150 sovs out of the stakes. Closed with 229 subscribers. About one mile and a half, starting at the new high level starting post. Value, $28,250.

Kisser is a good dark bay, with black legs, standing 16 hands 3 inches high. He has a game looking head, a strong and muscular, but not loaded neck, well joined to deep and grandly placed shoulders, and he is high enough in his withers to carry his saddle and rider in the proper place—fairly on his back—without fear of their slipping on to his shoulders and interfering with their free movement. His most extraordinary good points lie in his immensely strong back and loins, and the great muscular development in his wide-spreading quarters. His forearms and thighs are also models of muscular power, and he stands on excellently formed and very powerful legs, and well made, tough looking feet. In one of his last winter's articles upon the Derby horses "Vigilant," of the Sportsman, said of the Mineral colt:—"There is not among the whole of the Derby candidates that I have yet noticed one with more weight-carrying power than the son of Buccaneer, and I have no fault whatever to find with him except that he has not the grand length and liberty of frame that I consider necessary to quite win the Derby this season. There are not, however, more than two animals that I think will be capable of beating him at Epsom. These I have not seen since last year, and I shall reserve to myself the privilege of ranging the son of Buccaneer on my side if, on a second inspection of my favorites, I detect any weakness developed during the winter that I consider may mutilate against their efficiency for the great race at Epsom."

Kisser has engagements for the Select Stakes, one mile and seventeen yards, Newmarket second October meeting; Doncaster St. Leger, one mile, six furlongs and 182 yards, and the Grand Prix de Paris, one mile, seven furlongs.

EPSOM CUP.

LONDON, June 2, 1876.

The Epsom Cup, a handicap of one mile, was run to-day, and among the capital performers which it brought to the post was Mr. M. H. Sanford's Mate, one of the American horses now in England. Though he was beaten, Mate finished third, the race being won by the Duke of Westminster's bay horse Dalham.

The rates on the course ruled 6 to 4 against Wisdom, 8 to 1 against Dalham and 12 to 1 against Mate.

Mate got away slightly in advance, and, running in good form, held the position of honor until within a hundred yards from home. Here Dalham and Wisdom came with a rush, and, fighting for the lead, they passed Mate, who began to show signs of fatigue. Each by inch Dalham and Wisdom struggled for supremacy, but Dalham had a little more speed than the other, and landed the winner by a head. Mate was third, two lengths behind Wisdom, and, some distance in the rear, were Trappist, Controversy, Lady Mostyn, Stray Shot—all recent winners—while the balance were far away. An objection was made against Dalham's jockey for foul riding, but it was overruled.

Epsom, Eps., June 2, 1876.—The Epsom Cup (handicap), of 10 sovs each, with 500 sovs added; the second horse receives 50 sovs out of the stakes; winners extra. About one mile.

The Oaks, the great race that is more particularly under the patronage of the fair sex, was decided at Epsom to-day and resulted in a dead heat between Count La Grange's Camelia and M. Lupin's Euguerande, the latter bred in France and the former foaled in that country. There was no deciding heat, as the stakes were divided between these fillies and Euguerande walked over the course.

The fourteen competitors assembled in good time and when the flag fell went away on equitable terms. La Seine first drew out from the cluster, and going to the front, maintained the post of honor for a mile, and the excited lookers-on felt assured that she would finish in brilliant form and prove the winner. Glover, who had the mount on Camelia, at this point, of half a mile from home, called upon her, and, confirming her claims to be considered a speedy filly, she responded in capital style and soon passed La Seine and took the lead. From Tattenham Corner to the Bell, Camelia still showed in front, but here Hudson moved Euguerande out of the ruck, and closed the daylight so rapidly that she caught Camelia in the last stride, and they went dashing by the judges head and head and a dead heat was declared. The greatest excitement prevailed among the spectators, and a thousand cheers rent the air. Merry Duchess was third, four lengths behind the leaders, Filoselle fourth, Zee fifth, Liris sixth, Magarita seventh, La Seine eighth, Levant ninth, Vittoria tenth, Majesty eleventh, Catings twelfth, Twino the Plaiden thirteenth and Allumette last. The race, from start to finish, was run at a capital pace. The time of the mile and a half was 2:50, being six seconds slower than the Derby. The dead heat was not run off, the owners dividing the stakes, each receiving $10,812, and Euguerande walked over the course. Only once before in the history of the Oaks has the result been a dead heat, but on the first occasion, 1858, Mr. Gratwicke's Governess and Admiral Harcourt's Gildermire ran off the heat, which Governess won. It will be remembered that Camelia won the One Thousand Guineas, and Euguerande recently secured the French Oaks and was only beaten a head for the French Derby.

Epsom, Eps., June 3, 1876.—The ninety-eighth renewal of the Oak Stakes, of 50 sovs. each, half forfeit, for fillies then three years old, 122 lbs. each; the owner of the second filly to receive 300 sovs, and the third 150 sovs. out of the stakes. About one mile and a half, starting at the new High Level Starting Post. Closed with 163 subscribers. Value of stakes to each of the dead heaters, $10,812.
